13 Americans Believed Killed In S. Viet Nam

Four Dead, 9 Missing In Plane Crashes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Four U.S. servicemen were found dead Wednesday night in a wrecked helicopter, one of two that crashed with 12 Americans aboard while looking for the Texas pilot of a downed Vietnamese fighter-bomber.

All three crafts went down Tuesday in Communist guerrilla country in the central highlands. It was not known whether guerrillas shot them down.

Darkness hid the fate of the other eight helicopter men and the U.S. captain of the fighter-bomber. Planes earlier spotted the second helicopter and reported no sign of life. The fighter-bomber was seen to crash. A military spokesman said the pilot and a Vietnamese with him were believed to have been killed.

If all the Americans were killed it would be the heaviest loss of life in a single incident involving U.S. servicemen since the United States began pouring in men and money to fight the guerrillas.

While the two downed helicopters had been spotted from the air early in the day, fierce guerrilla ground fire throughout most of Wednesday balked attempts to land rescue parties at the scene.

A U.S. military spokesman reported searchers finally reached the wreckage of one crashed helicopter at dark. He said the aircraft was broken in two pieces and four bodies were found.

Although there was no official word, it was believed six Americans had been aboard each helicopter.

The spokesman said searchers had been unable to reach the wreckage of the second helicopter before nightfall. It was across a ridge about 1,000 yards from the scene of the other crash. Rescue work was ordered resumed at daylight Thursday.

The fighter-bomber pilot was identified in Washington as Capt. Dean A. Wadsworth. His wife lives in Cotulla, Tex. His mother is Fay A. Wadsworth of Ballinger, Tex.

Names of others were withheld pending notification of relatives.

Flora Racing To Her Death In Open Sea

Offer Of U.S. Aid To Cuba Rejected As 'Hypocritical'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Flora left at least 200 dead in Cuba before darting into the North Atlantic and probably self-destruction, radio messages intercepted here indicated Wednesday.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Flora on Wednesday raced toward her own destruction in the North Atlantic. In her wake in the Caribbean, the gruesome task of counting the dead went on in the mud and lingering rain.

In Haiti, the president of the Red Cross said the estimate of 3,500 dead was not based on a count, but on the fact that "you just don't see any people" where towns and villages stood.

"You can't find the bodies," Dr. Jacques Fourcand told the Miami News. "They are buried in the mud and debris, or washed away by the sea."

A greater disaster still could be in store for Haiti because of the ruin of her crops.

Cuba Rationing Tightened

"Nobody suffers too much from hunger the first week because there is food in the market places," Dr. Fourcand said. "But two weeks later, if there is no more produce coming in from the fields we feel our disaster all the more."

Sketchy reports from the Cuban radio mentioned 25 deaths and Cuba, too, faced hunger. The people, already on tight food rations, were told that their beef and vegetable allowances would be cut in half.

An offer by the American Red Cross to aid the Cuban victims was rejected as "hypocritical," but the meaning was not clear.

The radio quoted the Cuban Red Cross as calling the offer "hypocritical." But Carlos Lechuga, Cuban delegate to the United Nations, said that it would be "a hypocritical policy" for Cuba to accept aid from this country.

Bahamas Buffeted

Flora made probably her last landfall Wednesday when she hit a few thinly populated islands in the southeastern Bahamas.

Then she sped toward the North Atlantic where cold air and water will rob her of tropical character. Her course could bring fringe gales to Bermuda on Thursday.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro, who was reported to have had a narrow escape when a truck in which he was riding Tuesday was caught up in flood waters, personally commanded rescue operations in eastern Cuba.

Sales Given Green Light By Kennedy

Deals With Cuba, Peking Ruled Out By Chief Executive

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy approved Wednesday night the sale of US.. wheat to Russia and Communist nations of Eastern Europe. He spoke in terms of transactions ranging from $200 million to $250 million.

This could mean unloading upwards of 200-million bushels of surplus U.S. wheat — at world prices, through private channels.

Kennedy said the nation obviously would benefit.

He ruled out any sales to Cuba or Red China.

In anticlimactic fashion, the President made the long-expected announcement of a shift in U.S. policy toward trade with the Communists at a news conference.

He said the sale to Russia and other Communist nations will be in the interest of this nation and that the transaction will be made through private dealers, for American dollars or gold, "cash on delivery" or under "normal commercial" terms.

Members of Congress, who had conferred with Kennedy shortly before he met with reporters, already had beaten him to the punch in disclosing a decision the President said "will be beneficial to us all."

Cash Or Gold

Kennedy opened the news conference by saying the Soviet Union and Eastern European countries wanted to buy several million tons of surplus American wheat for shipment during the next several months.

He said they may also want surplus feed grain.

Kennedy said he concluded that such sales by private dealers for cash or gold "should not be prohibited by the government."

He said the Commodity Credit Corp. would sell from government stocks enough to replace the amount that would be sold to the Russians.

Kennedy said the Commerce Department would make necessary arrangements to see to it that no one dealer got an excessive share of the sales.

He said the sale of the wheat for about $250 million and the additional income for American shipping will reduce the balance of trade deficit and provide income for Americans.

Conditions To Be Fulfilled

The United States, he went on, has always responded for appeals for food from those needing it, if it was assured the food went where intended and that the recipient knew about its origin. He said these conditions would be fulfilled.

Kennedy said it would be foolish to halt direct sales of U. S. wheat when friendly countries can buy American grain, turn it into flour and sell it to the Communist bloc.

At the world market price of about $1.30 a bushel, the sale of $250 million of wheat to Russia would translate into more than 192-million bushels.

This would eat up more than a fifth of the U.S. surplus, which now stands at a little more than 900-million bushels.

The cost to the U.S. taxpayer would be in excess of $115 million, since this country has been subsidizing wheat exports at axx rate of about 60 cents a bushel. That 60-cent differential takes no account of a rise in the price of wheat in anticipation of the President's action.

Kennedy noted that in recent weeks U.S. allies have agreed to sell 10 to 15 million tons of wheat

Italian Dam Breaks; Many Feared Dead

BELLUNO, Italy (AP) — The 873-foot high Vaiont dam collapsed under the weight of torrential rain and mountain landslides Wednesday night and loosed millions of tons of water on sleeping Piave River Valley communities, authorities reported.

The Italian news agency Ansa said first information was that at least several scores of people were killed.

It was described immediately as a major disaster.

Longarone, a community of 2,000 people close to the dam, was reported completely submerged. At least half a dozen other communities were hit by the gigantic gush of water crashing down into the Piave.

Communications in the dam area 10 miles north of here were completely wiped out and officials said they feared the casualty toll must be much higher than the Ansa report indicated.

Hospitals in communities surrounding the stricken area reported receiving a growing stream of injured rising into the hundreds.

In Rome, Interior Minister Mariano Rumor ordered all public security forces in the stricken area, in Italy's northeast Alps between Venice and the Austrian border, on emergency duty to rush aid to the victims.

Calls went out to American military bases at Verona and Vicenza, both south of the danger zone, for helicopters for the rescue operations.

The Vaiont dam, finished in 1960, was the third highest concrete dam in the world. A high tapered structure narrowing down to a thin base, it was situated about 10 miles north of Belluno. The dam was not on the Piave River itself but held back water in a side reservoir.

The Piave River Valley, scene of the Italian army's stand against the Austrians after the Caporetto defeat of World War I, was familiar to millions as the setting of Ernest Hemingway's "Farewell to Arms."

Mrs. Nhu Says USIA Assisting Viet Nam Plot

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu launched her American speaking tour on a pugnacious note Wednesday, charging that the U.S. Information Agency is aiding in a plot to overthrow the South Viet Nam government.

"The people are absolutely fidgety about that plot," said Mrs. Nhu, who serves as first lady to her bachelor brother-in-law, Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem.

"The USIA seems to be working feverishly, helping that plot," she declared. "How much they have helped I don't know. I can assure you it will not succeed. It will only harm the prestige of your country."

Mrs. Nhu's first appearance since her arrival here Monday was at the taping of an interview for broadcast over WOR-TV.

Mrs. Nhu canceled two other television shows from her schedule, saying she wished to space such appearances for greater effect.

After the television interview, Mrs. Nhu went to the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel for her first public speaking engagement, before the Overseas Press Club.

She is spending three weeks in this country trying to rally support for the Diem regime in Viet Nam.

Outside the hotel, a group of pickets demonstrated against Mrs. Nhu, but were kept at a distance and were unaware of her actual arrival. They claimed to represent an organization called "Youth Against War and Fascism."

In her WOR-TV interview, Mrs. Nhu was asked about Buddhists who have burned themselves to death in Viet Nam in protest against what they described as religious persecution by the Roman Catholic Diem family. She has referred to the suicides as "monk barbecues."

"Those who burned themselves are real Buddhists, sincere Buddhists," Mrs. Nhu replied, "but unfortunately they trusted too much the people who incited them to make those sacrifices."

Negroes In Church Routed By Tear Gas

School Boycotters Chased By Police

PLAQUEMINE, La. (UPI) — Police bombarded Freedom Rock Baptist Church with eight tear gas grenades Wednesday to rout 75 Negro students who had gathered there to plan racial protest demonstrations.

It was not immediately known if any of the teen-agers were injured in a mad scramble to escape from the stinging gas. The administrator of Plaquemine Hospital refused to say if any of the students were treated for injuries.

The students had returned to the church after being chased from the streets with tear gas during an attempt to march on the white high school.

Approximately 500 Negro students have boycotted their own Iverville (Negro) High School for four days in protest against segregation and the dismissal of 35 students last week for demonstrating.

Police Chief Dennis Songy warned the marching students to stay away from the church.

"If that group goes back to the church, I'm going to take it over," Songy said.

Minutes after the students reassembled, Songy sent his men into the building.

The students fled through church doors and jumped out of windows to escape the gas.

Wednesday morning the students marched from the church toward the white Plaquemine High School in groups of 10. Police tossed three or four tear gas grenades at each group.

Attendance at the Negro high school jumped from 71 Tuesday to 160 Wednesday, but most of the 650 registered students supported the boycott.

The students have been using the Freedom Rock Baptist Church as their rallying point. The church was the scene of a near riot Aug. 31 at the climax of a series of Negro demonstrations led by the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

Police flushed some 700 Negro demonstrators from the church with tear gas and fire hoses. Negroes threw stones at state troopers and a number of persons were injured by flying glass as demonstrators leaped through church windows.

Negro parents met with school officials Tuesday in an attempt to settle the racial problem. They said the meeting was "unsatisfactory."

Set Up Murder Of Informer, Valachi Says

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mobster turncoat Joseph Valachi testified Wednesday that he personally set up the 1952 murder of another underworld informer, Eugene Giannini, on orders of his angry Cosa Nostra bosses.

Valachi, reputed to have a $100,000 gangland price tag on his head, told senators it cost the operators of a dice game where Giannini worked $10,000 to have his body removed from the gambling site where he was slain.

"Isn't it worth $10,000 to get rid of a guy like that?" Valachi said he asked the complaining gamblers.

The convicted killer and dope peddler shed new light on shadowy Cosa Nostra murders in his fifth appearance before the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee.

He told how New Jersey underworld boss Willie Moretti was given a flossy gangland funeral in 1951, with "lots and lots of flowers." He said that among the mourners were the very crime syndicate leaders who had ordered the execution.

Valachi said Giannini's demise was approved by Vito Genovese, head of Valachi's 450 - member Cosa Nostra "family," and by his lieutenant Anthony (Tony Bender) Strollo.

The brothers Pasquale (Pat) and Joe Pagano and Fiore Siano did the shooting, Valachi said, and he drove the getaway car.

Curtis and Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., the subcommittee chairman, asked Valachi whether he was not trying to assign more guilt to others in discussing his role in gangland murders.

"By no means," he replied.

"You say we did the killing—we killed?" McClellan asked.

"Right. I didn't think I had to explain that," Valachi said.

Giannini, whose job was to steer prospective dice players to the secen of action, was known to have been informing for federal narcotics agents.

GOP To Ignore Ike Plea, Join Aid Cut Effort

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — An appeal by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower for GOP support of a $4-billion foreign aid program failed to alter prospects that Republicans will join in efforts to cut it far below that figure.

At Gettysburg, Pa., Eisenhower said in an interview with Associated Press reporters that he does not believe Republicans should be in the forefront of those seeking to reduce in the Senate a $3.5-billion authorization bill already passed by the House.

"I happen to be one of those people that believes we ought to spend for the mutual security program what we need to spend," the former president said.

He advocated a five - year authorization under which the annual outlay would be around $4 billion. He said with that amount "I believe we could do a job that would be very good for the world and, above all, for ourselves."

However, Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in a separate interview Wednesday it appears to him a majority of GOP members will vote to cut the authorization below the House-approved level.

"The number of countries receiving assistance is receding," Dirksen said. "There has been a rather formidable case made against the waste, extravagance and the pointlessness of some of our aid. I think the majority of Republicans will vote for some cuts."

On the other hand, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Senate Democratic leader, said he thought Eisenhower's support of the foreign aid program would be really helpful.

"Gen. Eisenhower's record in the field of foreign aid was very good," Humphrey said. "I think his opinion will carry some weight with the Republicans in Congress."

DETROIT (UPI) — Alfred J. Fisher, 70, one of seven sons of an Ohio blacksmith who joined forces to build an automotive empire, died Wednesday following a long illness.

His death left only two of the Fisher brothers as survivors.

Blast Set Off At W. Va. Pen

MOUNDSVILLE, W.VA. (AP)—Prisoners touched off an explosion at the east wall of the West Virginia Penitentiary Wednesday in an escape attempt, but their blast only made a dent.

No one was injured and nobody got out.

Deputy Warden Ira Coiner said the explosion made an indentation about the size of a washtub in the masonry wall. The wall is about 12 feet thick but the resulting hole was only about one foot deep.

Prison authorities were questioning inmates suspected of taking part in the incident.

One stone was dislodged slightly on the outside of the massive wall, and several others shifted slightly. The damage will be repaired Thursday, Coiner said.

Three Sentenced On Dynamite Charge

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Misdemeanor convictions were handed out in rapid fire order Wednesday against the remaining two of three white men found with dynamite the night a Negro lawyer's home was bombed for the second time.

The City Recorder's Court action brought 180-day jail sentences and $100 fines for R. E. Chambliss, 59; John Hall, 36, and Charles Cagle, 22. Cagle was tried Tuesday.

None of the defendants spoke and all were released on appeal bonds of $300. The convictions were the maximum penalty for violating the dynamite act.

In an alleged confession read into the Hall trial, the man was quoted by Capt. Willie B. Painter, a state investigator, as saying he and Cagle took a case of dynamite from Chambliss' car the night of Sept. 4, the same evening that Negro attorney Arthur Shores home was hit by a blast.

Rebel Berbers Ready To Battle Algeria Forces

ALGIERS (AP)—Mutinous Berber troops received orders Wednesday to defend the Kabylie Mountains against a possible attack by government forces.

Dissident Col. Mohand Ou El Hadj ordered his men to stand fast in the mountain passes at the entrance to the natural fortress east of the Algerian capital.

In an atmosphere of grim expectation, Berbers manned their positions and peered through binoculars at the lowlands.

Their motto was "No to dictatorship, no to fascism."

Their leaders have vowed to resist President Ahmed Ben Bella until the collapse of his government.

Ben Bella has warned he will not tolerate any sedition. He has begun concentrating army units around the mountain bastion, though he once said he would not use troops against it.

Tension persisted between Algeria and neighboring Morocco.

Abdel Hafid Boutaleb, Moroccan information minister, landed in Algiers with a message for Ben Bella from King Hassan II. The trip followed an armed clash in the western Sahara area of Colomb-Bechar in which Ben Bella said 10 persons were killed.

Storms Apparently Delay Jackie Yacht

LEVKAS ISLAND, Greece (AP) — The whereabouts of the luxury yacht Christina, carrying Mrs. John F. Kennedy on a vacation cruise, became a mystery Wednesday night.

There had been reports the vessel would come to this Ionian Sea Island, but it did not appear.

Authorities on various islands between Levkas and Crete, where Mrs. Kennedy spent Tuesday, said they had not sighted the vessel.

Rainstorms and heavy seas plagued the Greek islands during the day. It was possible the Christina had put into one of the smaller islands to wait out the storm.

The 400-mile voyage from Crete to Levkas should take about 24 hours on the yacht, which Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis has put at Mrs. Kennedy's disposal.

Statuette Given JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Wednesday was presented a bronze statuette of a discus thrower for his efforts in behalf of physical fitness.

The sculpture was given to Kennedy by officials of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation in appreciation of his "expressed interest in the health and physical vigor of boys and girls and adults in America."

Rare, New Serum Used To Fight Fish Poisoning

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—A rare, new anti-toxin was flown here Wednesday to fight an outbreak of botulism, a deadly form of food poisoning believed responsible for six deaths in Tennessee and Michigan.

Another supply of the anti-toxin was en route here from Denmark as a precautionary measure in case more of the serum was needed.

"The supply is now adequate for the present case," said Dr. Robert Lash of University Hospital.

Doctors here and in Nashville rushed to comp'etc tests to determine what caused the deaths which were linked to the eating of plastic-packaged smoked fish.

The latest apparent victim of the outbreak was 5-year old Eric Charles Dalton, son of a flight physicist at the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala. The child, in critical condition, was placed in a "tank respirator" at Vanderbilt Hospital in Nashville, Tenn.

Mrs. Rudolph Paluzelle, one of seven patients in Knoxville hospitals, had been listed in satisfactory condition at University Hospital but slipped to "poor" condition Wednesday.

The suspected killer was type "E" botulism, generally associated with fish products. Only six outbreaks of this type of the disease are known in U.S. history, and the anti-toxin is rare, perishable and costly.

The special new anti-toxin capable of combating four forms of botulism, including type "E", was flown here from Connaught Laboratories in Toronto, Canada. Some was sent immediately to Nashville.

French Reported Arming Planes With Atom Bombs

PARIS (AP)—France's controversial nuclear strike force has come into being and supersonic French planes are being armed with atomic bombs, authoritative sources said Wednesday.

The informants said a concrete beginning has been made with Mirage IV planes rolling off assembly lines and receiving atomic bombs.

This was described as phase No. 1 of France's nuclear program. Later, France is aiming to develop hydrogen bombs and missiles to carry them.

An obscure line in a communique issued following a Cabinet meeting indicated for the first time officially that France had made its historic shift in armament.

The communique spoke of the withdrawal of French military men from the naval air base at Bizerte, Tunisia, and said this was now possible because of "the creation of new means which the armed forces are beginning to have at their disposal."

Because of this development, French defenses in the Mediterranean area will not be compromised by withdrawal of conventional forces from the Bizerte base, the communique went on.

There was no indication of how many operational planes and bombs the French now have. The bombs are believed to be somewhat more powerful than those dropped by the United States on Japan in World War II, which packed the equivalent of 20,000 tons of TNT.

The Mirage IV, built especially to carry atomic bombs, is of medium range. It probably would not be able to reach into Soviet territory without tanker planes for refueling.

June Allyson, Hair Stylist Get License

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—Actress June Allyson and California hair stylist Glenn Maxwell took out a marriage license here Wednesday for a wedding planned Saturday at Miami Beach.

"Oh, I'm so excited," the beaming motion picture star told reporters.

The two planned originally to take out the license Tuesday in Miami, but there was a hitch when Dade County officials said Maxwell would have to have the final decree of his divorce from his first wife. He said he hadn't brought it.

With the wedding scheduled for 5 p. m. Saturday at the All Souls Episcopal Church at Miami Beach, and a four-day waiting period required by Florida law, the wedding seemed off a second time for the pair. They had planned marriage in August, but Miss Allyson was adivsed by lawyers to await the settling of the estate of her late husband, actor Dick Powell.

"I happen to be one of those people that believes we ought to spend for the mutual security program what we need to spend," the former president said.

He advocated a five - year authorization under which the annual outlay would be around $4 billion. He said with that amount "I believe we could do a job that would be very good for the world and, above all, for ourselves."

However, Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in a separate interview Wednesday it appears to him a majority of GOP members will vote to cut the authorization below the House-approved level.

"The number of countries receiving assistance is receding," Dirksen said. "There has been a rather formidable case made against the waste, extravagance and the pointlessness of some of our aid. I think the majority of Republicans will vote for some cuts."

On the other hand, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Senate Democratic leader, said he thought Eisenhower's support of the foreign aid program would be really helpful.

"Gen. Eisenhower's record in the field of foreign aid was very good," Humphrey said. "I think his opinion will carry some weight with the Republicans in Congress."

Auto Pioneer Dies

DETROIT (UPI) — Alfred J. Fisher, 70, one of seven sons of an Ohio blacksmith who joined forces to build an automotive empire, died Wednesday following a long illness.

His death left only two of the Fisher brothers as survivors.

Rare, New Serum Used To Fight Fish Poisoning

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—A rare, new anti-toxin was flown here Wednesday to fight an outbreak of botulism, a deadly form of food poisoning believed responsible for six deaths in Tennessee and Michigan.

Another supply of the anti-toxin was en route here from Denmark as a precautionary measure in case more of the serum was needed.

"The supply is now adequate for the present case," said Dr. Robert Lash of University Hospital.

Doctors here and in Nashville rushed to comp'etc tests to determine what caused the deaths which were linked to the eating of plastic-packaged smoked fish.

The latest apparent victim of the outbreak was 5-year old Eric Charles Dalton, son of a flight physicist at the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala. The child, in critical condition, was placed in a "tank respirator" at Vanderbilt Hospital in Nashville, Tenn.

Mrs. Rudolph Paluzelle, one of seven patients in Knoxville hospitals, had been listed in satisfactory condition at University Hospital but slipped to "poor" condition Wednesday.

The suspected killer was type "E" botulism, generally associated with fish products. Only six outbreaks of this type of the disease are known in U.S. history, and the anti-toxin is rare, perishable and costly.

The special new anti-toxin capable of combating four forms of botulism, including type "E", was flown here from Connaught Laboratories in Toronto, Canada. Some was sent immediately to Nashville.

Mrs. Nhu Says USIA Assisting Viet Nam Plot

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu launched her American speaking tour on a pugnacious note Wednesday, charging that the U.S. Information Agency is aiding in a plot to overthrow the South Viet Nam government.

"The people are absolutely fidgety about that plot," said Mrs. Nhu, who serves as first lady to her bachelor brother-in-law, Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem.

"The USIA seems to be working feverishly, helping that plot," she declared. "How much they have helped I don't know. I can assure you it will not succeed. It will only harm the prestige of your country."

Mrs. Nhu's first appearance since her arrival here Monday was at the taping of an interview for broadcast over WOR-TV.

Mrs. Nhu canceled two other television shows from her schedule, saying she wished to space such appearances for greater effect.

After the television interview, Mrs. Nhu went to the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel for her first public speaking engagement, before the Overseas Press Club.

She is spending three weeks in this country trying to rally support for the Diem regime in Viet Nam.

Outside the hotel, a group of pickets demonstrated against Mrs. Nhu, but were kept at a distance and were unaware of her actual arrival. They claimed to represent an organization called "Youth Against War and Fascism."

In her WOR-TV interview, Mrs. Nhu was asked about Buddhists who have burned themselves to death in Viet Nam in protest against what they described as religious persecution by the Roman Catholic Diem family. She has referred to the suicides as "monk barbecues."

"Those who burned themselves are real Buddhists, sincere Buddhists," Mrs. Nhu replied, "but unfortunately they trusted too much the people who incited them to make those sacrifices."

Blast Set Off At W. Va. Pen

MOUNDSVILLE, W.VA. (AP)—Prisoners touched off an explosion at the east wall of the West Virginia Penitentiary Wednesday in an escape attempt, but their blast only made a dent.

No one was injured and nobody got out.

Deputy Warden Ira Coiner said the explosion made an indentation about the size of a washtub in the masonry wall. The wall is about 12 feet thick but the resulting hole was only about one foot deep.

Prison authorities were questioning inmates suspected of taking part in the incident.

One stone was dislodged slightly on the outside of the massive wall, and several others shifted slightly. The damage will be repaired Thursday, Coiner said.

Three Sentenced On Dynamite Charge

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Misdemeanor convictions were handed out in rapid fire order Wednesday against the remaining two of three white men found with dynamite the night a Negro lawyer's home was bombed for the second time.

The City Recorder's Court action brought 180-day jail sentences and $100 fines for R. E. Chambliss, 59; John Hall, 36, and Charles Cagle, 22. Cagle was tried Tuesday.

None of the defendants spoke and all were released on appeal bonds of $300. The convictions were the maximum penalty for violating the dynamite act.

In an alleged confession read into the Hall trial, the man was quoted by Capt. Willie B. Painter, a state investigator, as saying he and Cagle took a case of dynamite from Chambliss' car the night of Sept. 4, the same evening that Negro attorney Arthur Shores home was hit by a blast.

Negroes In Church Routed By Tear Gas

School Boycotters Chased By Police

PLAQUEMINE, La. (UPI) — Police bombarded Freedom Rock Baptist Church with eight tear gas grenades Wednesday to rout 75 Negro students who had gathered there to plan racial protest demonstrations.

It was not immediately known if any of the teen-agers were injured in a mad scramble to escape from the stinging gas. The administrator of Plaquemine Hospital refused to say if any of the students were treated for injuries.

The students had returned to the church after being chased from the streets with tear gas during an attempt to march on the white high school.

Approximately 500 Negro students have boycotted their own Iverville (Negro) High School for four days in protest against segregation and the dismissal of 35 students last week for demonstrating.

Police Chief Dennis Songy warned the marching students to stay away from the church.

"If that group goes back to the church, I'm going to take it over," Songy said.

Minutes after the students reassembled, Songy sent his men into the building.

The students fled through church doors and jumped out of windows to escape the gas.

Wednesday morning the students marched from the church toward the white Plaquemine High School in groups of 10. Police tossed three or four tear gas grenades at each group.

Attendance at the Negro high school jumped from 71 Tuesday to 160 Wednesday, but most of the 650 registered students supported the boycott.

The students have been using the Freedom Rock Baptist Church as their rallying point. The church was the scene of a near riot Aug. 31 at the climax of a series of Negro demonstrations led by the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

Police flushed some 700 Negro demonstrators from the church with tear gas and fire hoses. Negroes threw stones at state troopers and a number of persons were injured by flying glass as demonstrators leaped through church windows.

Negro parents met with school officials Tuesday in an attempt to settle the racial problem. They said the meeting was "unsatisfactory."

Storms Apparently Delay Jackie Yacht

LEVKAS ISLAND, Greece (AP) — The whereabouts of the luxury yacht Christina, carrying Mrs. John F. Kennedy on a vacation cruise, became a mystery Wednesday night.

There had been reports the vessel would come to this Ionian Sea Island, but it did not appear.

Authorities on various islands between Levkas and Crete, where Mrs. Kennedy spent Tuesday, said they had not sighted the vessel.

Rainstorms and heavy seas plagued the Greek islands during the day. It was possible the Christina had put into one of the smaller islands to wait out the storm.

The 400-mile voyage from Crete to Levkas should take about 24 hours on the yacht, which Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis has put at Mrs. Kennedy's disposal.

Statuette Given JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Wednesday was presented a bronze statuette of a discus thrower for his efforts in behalf of physical fitness.

The sculpture was given to Kennedy by officials of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation in appreciation of his "expressed interest in the health and physical vigor of boys and girls and adults in America."

Rebel Berbers Ready To Battle Algeria Forces

ALGIERS (AP)—Mutinous Berber troops received orders Wednesday to defend the Kabylie Mountains against a possible attack by government forces.

Dissident Col. Mohand Ou El Hadj ordered his men to stand fast in the mountain passes at the entrance to the natural fortress east of the Algerian capital.

In an atmosphere of grim expectation, Berbers manned their positions and peered through binoculars at the lowlands.

Their motto was "No to dictatorship, no to fascism."

Their leaders have vowed to resist President Ahmed Ben Bella until the collapse of his government.

Ben Bella has warned he will not tolerate any sedition. He has begun concentrating army units around the mountain bastion, though he once said he would not use troops against it.

Tension persisted between Algeria and neighboring Morocco.

Abdel Hafid Boutaleb, Moroccan information minister, landed in Algiers with a message for Ben Bella from King Hassan II. The trip followed an armed clash in the western Sahara area of Colomb-Bechar in which Ben Bella said 10 persons were killed.

Set Up Murder Of Informer, Valachi Says

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mobster turncoat Joseph Valachi testified Wednesday that he personally set up the 1952 murder of another underworld informer, Eugene Giannini, on orders of his angry Cosa Nostra bosses.

Valachi, reputed to have a $100,000 gangland price tag on his head, told senators it cost the operators of a dice game where Giannini worked $10,000 to have his body removed from the gambling site where he was slain.

"Isn't it worth $10,000 to get rid of a guy like that?" Valachi said he asked the complaining gamblers.

The convicted killer and dope peddler shed new light on shadowy Cosa Nostra murders in his fifth appearance before the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee.

He told how New Jersey underworld boss Willie Moretti was given a flossy gangland funeral in 1951, with "lots and lots of flowers." He said that among the mourners were the very crime syndicate leaders who had ordered the execution.

Valachi said Giannini's demise was approved by Vito Genovese, head of Valachi's 450 - member Cosa Nostra "family," and by his lieutenant Anthony (Tony Bender) Strollo.

The brothers Pasquale (Pat) and Joe Pagano and Fiore Siano did the shooting, Valachi said, and he drove the getaway car.

Curtis and Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., the subcommittee chairman, asked Valachi whether he was not trying to assign more guilt to others in discussing his role in gangland murders.

"By no means," he replied.

"You say we did the killing—we killed?" McClellan asked.

"Right. I didn't think I had to explain that," Valachi said.

Giannini, whose job was to steer prospective dice players to the secen of action, was known to have been informing for federal narcotics agents.

French Reported Arming Planes With Atom Bombs

PARIS (AP)—France's controversial nuclear strike force has come into being and supersonic French planes are being armed with atomic bombs, authoritative sources said Wednesday.

The informants said a concrete beginning has been made with Mirage IV planes rolling off assembly lines and receiving atomic bombs.

This was described as phase No. 1 of France's nuclear program. Later, France is aiming to develop hydrogen bombs and missiles to carry them.

An obscure line in a communique issued following a Cabinet meeting indicated for the first time officially that France had made its historic shift in armament.

The communique spoke of the withdrawal of French military men from the naval air base at Bizerte, Tunisia, and said this was now possible because of "the creation of new means which the armed forces are beginning to have at their disposal."

Because of this development, French defenses in the Mediterranean area will not be compromised by withdrawal of conventional forces from the Bizerte base, the communique went on.

There was no indication of how many operational planes and bombs the French now have. The bombs are believed to be somewhat more powerful than those dropped by the United States on Japan in World War II, which packed the equivalent of 20,000 tons of TNT.

The Mirage IV, built especially to carry atomic bombs, is of medium range. It probably would not be able to reach into Soviet territory without tanker planes for refueling.

June Allyson, Hair Stylist Get License

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—Actress June Allyson and California hair stylist Glenn Maxwell took out a marriage license here Wednesday for a wedding planned Saturday at Miami Beach.

"Oh, I'm so excited," the beaming motion picture star told reporters.

The two planned originally to take out the license Tuesday in Miami, but there was a hitch when Dade County officials said Maxwell would have to have the final decree of his divorce from his first wife. He said he hadn't brought it.

With the wedding scheduled for 5 p. m. Saturday at the All Souls Episcopal Church at Miami Beach, and a four-day waiting period required by Florida law, the wedding seemed off a second time for the pair. They had planned marriage in August, but Miss Allyson was adivsed by lawyers to await the settling of the estate of her late husband, actor Dick Powell.

Appalachian Region Aid Bills Introduced

Sickles, Dent Offer $500 Million Plan For Development

WASHINGTON (AP)-Reps. John H. Dent, D-Pa., and Carlton R. Sickles, D-Md., proposed Wednesday a $500 million program they said would promote full employment in the 11-state Appalachian region.

Dent said the special needs of the area justify special federal spending there.

He suggested, in view of the limited nuclear test ban treaty, using money already budgeted for nuclear testing in the atmosphere to accelerate economic growth in the Appalachians.

Dent said bills he and Sickles introduced would provide $500 million to accelerate existing federal programs in the area, especially highway and airport construction.

Other parts of the bills would:

1. Establish an Appalachian Institute to contract with state universities for research on basic natural resources in the area, especially coal and wood. The institute could spend up to $5 million.

2. Create a 20-member federal-state commission to draw up a comprehensive economic development plan for the region. It would report its recommendations to Congress and the President within two years.

3. Permit compacts among the 11 states to implement any plans recommended by the commission.

4. Create a federal coordinator for the region who would also act as chairman of the joint commission.

"This region," Dent said, "has provided funds through federal taxes for vast developments in the Far West, Middle West and the South with the result that the national economy has become unbalanced to the detriment of the peoples of this area."

to the Communists. For this government to tell U.S. grain traders they cannot accept Communist offers would accomplish little or nothing, he said, since the Russians would get the wheat from other countries.

In short, he said, this particular decision does not represent a new Soviet-American trade policy. He said it does represent hope that a more peaceful world may be possible.

Following his announcement, the first question was about possible political repercussions from the wheat transaction.

Kennedy said that, as usual, there will be some who disagree.

He said the matter was carefully considered and he decided the transaction is in the U.S. interest — reducing storage costs and bringing in gold to help correct the payments imbalance.

Other subjects which came up:

VIET NAM — The President was asked about recent accounts of CIA activities in South Viet Nam to the effect they were in conflict with other U.S. policies in the area.

He said the accounts were "wholly untrue," noting that he saw CIA chief John McCone at least twice a day. Kennedy stressed that the CIA supported U.S. policy in every areal operating under close control along with other U.S. missions.

SOVIET TALKS — Asked about the objective of his talk Thursday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, Kennedy replied it would be a general discussion of issues. Recalling that he told the United Nations he hoped these differences would not lead to war, he repeated that hope.

MOON VENTURE — Kennedy said he has received no reponse to his proposal for a joint moon expedition with the Soviets. The whole U.S. program, he went on, has been oriented toward peaceful exploration of space. The objective requires breakdown of many barriers of hostility, secrecy and suspicion, Kennedy said, and there is no indication that the Soviets are now ready to enter into the kind of relation that would make such a joint expedition possible.

SPACE WEAPONS — Kennedy said there is no secure method to determine whether the Soviet Union had any intention of putting nuclear weapons into space.

LATIN AMERICA — There has been no reversal in U.S. policy in Latin America, Kennedy said, and this country still feels that dictatorships are the seed beds of revolutions.

"We are opposed to coups because we think they are defeating, self defeating, defeating to the hemisphere," Kennedy said.

POLITICS — Asked whether he regards Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., to be the probably Republican presidential nominee in 1964, Kennedy said, "I think he can do it. But he has a long way to go.

"He was a trying seven or eight months, which will test his endurance, his perseverance and his agility," Kennedy added.

CRIME HEARINGS — Kennedy declined comment on whether the Joseph Valachi crime hearings are serving a useful purpose, except to say that the country shouldn't get a distorted idea.

QUIZZED IN SHOOTING — George Allenback, 34-year-old bachelor and operator of a fuel oil delivery business, enters a police station at Philadelphia where he was questioned in the fatal shooting of an attractive red-haired secretary who had worked for him only two days. Police quoted Allenback as saying Mrs. Joan Wetton, 23, was shot and killed when a .45 calibre pistol he was showing her accidentally discharged. Police said they were told that Allenback had the pistol at his office for use in event of a holdup. (AP Photofax)

Senator Calls For More Use Of U.S. Ships

BALTIMORE (AP)—Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, urged this nation's government and industry Wednesday to demand that more American-owned ships be used for cargo into and out of the country.

She suggested at least 50 per cent of this trade should be required to use United States flagships.

This, the senator told maritime leaders, would be the "simplest and most logical" approach to reducing federal maritime subsidies exceeding $300 million annually in recent years.

About 500 delegates to the annual convention of the Propellor Club heard her suggest it would be "wishful thinking" to expect an end to the subsidies. U.S. maritime interests could not compete against foreign fleets without them, she said.

But "we should use every means in our power to minimize subsidy payments" and diversion of more business to U.S. vessels would help, she said.

Gov. Tawes told the delegates the problems of the maritime industry are important to the economy of Maryland and the nation.

There are "no easy solutions to problems in the fields of labor, federal control and subsidy, shipbuilding, competition by foreign flag ships and rate and tariff regulations," the governor said.

"But to adopt the position that there are no solutions at all is to jeopardize the well-being of millions of Americans," he said. "It is our feeling that through meetings such as this one, solutions to the problems of the industry can be worked out."

Two More Sign Pact

MOSCOW (AP) — Senegal and Dahomey signed the partial nuclear test ban treaty here Wednesday. The Soviet news agency Tass said the Moscow signatories now total 90.

Butler Favored To Take Over If "Mac" Quits

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Grass roots leaders of the Conservative party strongly indicated Wednesday night they favor Richard A. Butler to take over as prime minister if the stricken Harold Macmillan is forced to quit.

Macmillan is scheduled to be operated on Thursday for removal of an enlarged prostate gland. His doctor said the operation means the British leader will not be fully active for two or three months.

Butler, deputy prime minister, was invited to address a mass rally of party workers Saturday as a substitute for Macmillan. The move apparently puts him in front of other contenders for the leadership of the party if Macmillan bows out.

The rally is slated to follow the formal windup of the party's annual conference. Macmillan had planned to tell the rally he intended to lead the tories into next year's general election.

Lord Chelmer, chairman of the National Union of Conservative and Unionist Associations, announced that Butler had accepted the invitation to make the speech.

The union represents the constituency groups of Conservative party members and, as such, speaks for the grass roots of the party.

Macmillan Tuesday named Butler to act as prime minister during the period of his illness. But Macmillan had failed to suggest that Butler should replace him at the Saturday rally. This was widely interpreted by Conservative delegates as a sign that Macmillan himself was not over keen for Butler to assume the role of heir-apparent.

Another candidate, Lord Hailsham, told a party rally the Cabinet will carry on the work of government until Macmillan returns to his "tremendous responsibilities" of office. In a speech prepared for delivery Wednesday night, Hailsham expressed confidence Macmillan would be cured.

Trade Barrier Study Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — A long-range study of barriers to U.S. trade in nonstrategic products with Iron Curtain countries will be undertaken by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The committee's chairman, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., announced the plan Wednesday after the senators met at some length behind closed doors with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and David E. Bell, head of the Agency for International Development.

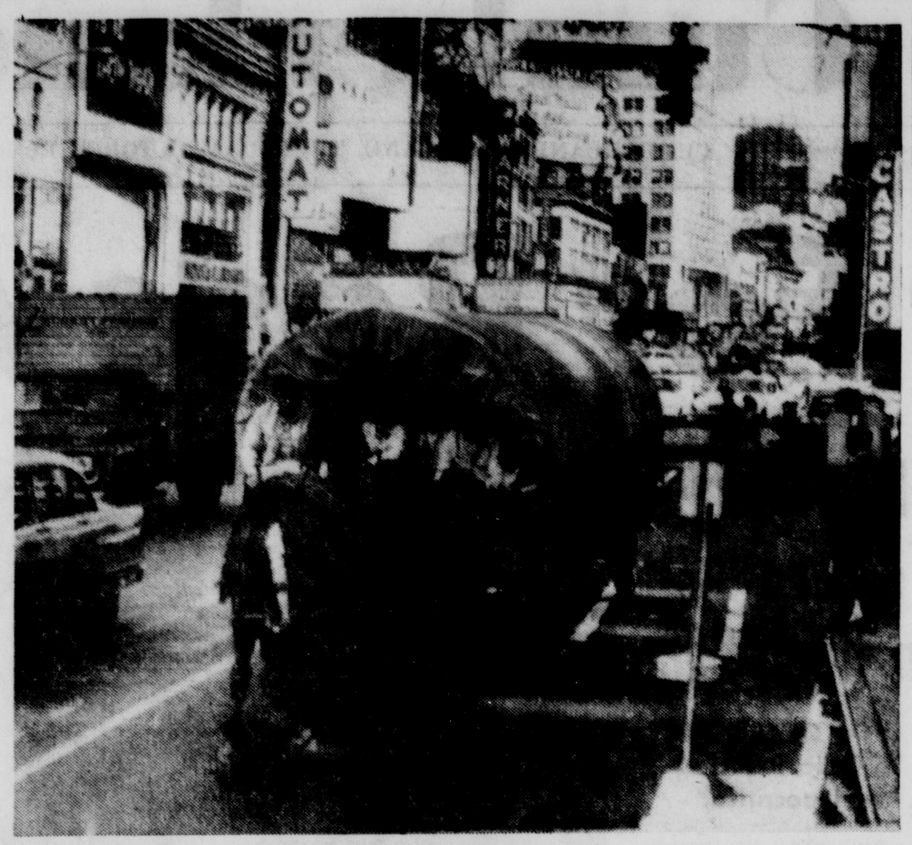
The two appeared before the committee with the announced aim of urging that it restore some of the $1 billion the House cut from President Kennedy's $4.5-billion foreign aid request.

The discussion turned to trade restrictions in light of demands that the United States be permitted to share in wheat sales to the grain-short Soviet Union and satellite Communist countries.

No formal committee vote was taken on the question, Fulbright told reporters afterward. But he said there was general agreement that the committee "should pursue the subject of international trade review with the State Department" after the group finishes work on the foreign aid bill.

Tornado Kills 19

DACCA, Pakistan (UPI) — At least 19 persons were feared dead Wednesday in the wake of tornadoes which struck east Pakistan and bordering areas of India Sunday and Monday.



SEEING THE WORLD BY COVERED WAGON — Leon Gillis, 42-year-old Virginian, his wife, Iyone, 40, and their six children ride down New York's Broadway at 46th Street in a covered wagon in which they plan to see the world. Gillis sold his sporting goods business and he and his family set out from their Providence Forge and Richmond, Va., home in September, 1961, to see the world. First the wagon rolled westward 4,000 miles and 10½ months to California. On this current trip, they are awaiting passage to Europe, then Moscow, by wagon. (AP Photofax)

Unsuccessful Strike Canceled At Singapore

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — The powerful pro-Communist labor bloc in Singapore, the infant Malaysia's chief trade center, called off its widespread but rapidly tottering strike in defeat Wednesday night.

The central Malaysian government, busy with security issues raised by Indonesia's hostile posture, appeared to have won a major victory on the home front.

The strike was canceled by the Singapore Association of Trade Unions, after hundreds of workers affiliated with member unions broke orders and returned to their jobs.

The association launched the strike Tuesday after the Singapore state government threatened to outlaw seven of its biggest affiliate unions on charges that they conspired in Communist united front activities.

Advertised as a general strike, it was never fully effective. About 60,000 workers struck Tuesday. Buses halted. Some factories, business houses, hotels and movies were affected.

Wednesday the government declared the walkout illegal under Singapore labor statues which outlaw strikes for political purposes.

A back-to-work movement developed quickly. Riot police and pickets clashed in a series of incidents. About 70 pickets were arrested.

Central government authorities had charged earlier that the association was taking mass action in an effort to provoke violence and take over the island state by force.

Six hundred miles east of Kuala Lumpur, in Sarawak's capital of Kuching, someone heaved a grenade at a Malaysian riot policeman on routine duty. The officer suffered serious injuries. It was Kuching's second grenade attack in a month.

No arrests were made. It was presumed the grenade thrower came from the ranks of youthful anti-Malaysia Chinese who look to Peking for guidance.

About 1,000 of the young Chinese are reported to have slipped over Sarawak's 500-mile jungle frontier into Indonesian Borneo to get military training for an eventual armed rebellion.

Council Votes To Permit Modern Language Mass

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Ecumenical Council voted overwhelmingly Wednesday to permit Roman Catholics to worship God in their mother tongues.

Approved by tremendous majorities at Wednesday's council session were a series of proposals defining conditions under modern languages may be substituted for Latin in celebration of the Mass.

The liturgical reforms were aimed at bringing Roman Catholic laymen out of their traditional role of silent spectators at the Mass, and making them active, comprehending participants in the worship services.

Of eight proposals adopted by the council, two were of particular significance. They would:

—Empower national conferences of bishops to introduce use of modern languages at their discretion in all parts of the Mass which call for participation of the congregation, or which are intended primarily for the instruction of the faithful. These include the reading of the Gospel and Epistle, the saying of the Creed, and certain congregational chants and responses such as the Kyrie and Gloria.

—Open the door to eventual use of the vernacular — the everyday language of the people in a given area — even in the "Canon" of the Mass, the most sacred part in which the priest re-enacts the sacrifice of Christ on Calvary. National conferences of bishops under the rule approved may propose such an extension of the vernacular to the Pope, but the pontiff's explicit approval would be required before it could be carried out.

Other proposals approved by the prelates strongly commend the reception of the Holy Communion by the faithful each time they attend Mass rather than only on special occasions.

The largest negative vote on any of the proposals was 96 out of 2,227 votes cast by the delegates assembled in St. Peter's.

Man Convicted On Gambling Charge

BALTIMORE (AP) — Louis H. Comi, operator of a vending machine business, was convicted in federal court Wednesday on charges of gambling without the required $50 tax stamp.

Judge Edward S. Northrop deferred sentencing and Comi was released in $2,000 bail.

Convicted on four counts by a jury, the 58-year-old Comi faces a possible maximum of two years in prison and fines totaling $25,050.

The national average for milk production for a cow is about 5,500 pounds annually.

The objective requires breakdown of many barriers of hostility, secrecy and suspicion, Kennedy said, and there is no indication that the Soviets are now ready to enter into the kind of relation that would make such a joint expedition possible.

SPACE WEAPONS — Kennedy said there is no secure method to determine whether the Soviet Union had any intention of putting nuclear weapons into space.

LATIN AMERICA — There has been no reversal in U.S. policy in Latin America, Kennedy said, and this country still feels that dictatorships are the seed beds of revolutions.

"We are opposed to coups because we think they are defeating, self defeating, defeating to the hemisphere," Kennedy said.

POLITICS — Asked whether he regards Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., to be the probably Republican presidential nominee in 1964, Kennedy said, "I think he can do it. But he has a long way to go.

"He was a trying seven or eight months, which will test his endurance, his perseverance and his agility," Kennedy added.

CRIME HEARINGS — Kennedy declined comment on whether the Joseph Valachi crime hearings are serving a useful purpose, except to say that the country shouldn't get a distorted idea.

Senator Calls For More Use Of U.S. Ships

BALTIMORE (AP)—Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, urged this nation's government and industry Wednesday to demand that more American-owned ships be used for cargo into and out of the country.

She suggested at least 50 per cent of this trade should be required to use United States flagships.

This, the senator told maritime leaders, would be the "simplest and most logical" approach to reducing federal maritime subsidies exceeding $300 million annually in recent years.

About 500 delegates to the annual convention of the Propellor Club heard her suggest it would be "wishful thinking" to expect an end to the subsidies. U.S. maritime interests could not compete against foreign fleets without them, she said.

But "we should use every means in our power to minimize subsidy payments" and diversion of more business to U.S. vessels would help, she said.

Gov. Tawes told the delegates the problems of the maritime industry are important to the economy of Maryland and the nation.

There are "no easy solutions to problems in the fields of labor, federal control and subsidy, shipbuilding, competition by foreign flag ships and rate and tariff regulations," the governor said.

"But to adopt the position that there are no solutions at all is to jeopardize the well-being of millions of Americans," he said. "It is our feeling that through meetings such as this one, solutions to the problems of the industry can be worked out."

Two More Sign Pact

MOSCOW (AP) — Senegal and Dahomey signed the partial nuclear test ban treaty here Wednesday. The Soviet news agency Tass said the Moscow signatories now total 90.

Butler Favored To Take Over If "Mac" Quits

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Grass roots leaders of the Conservative party strongly indicated Wednesday night they favor Richard A. Butler to take over as prime minister if the stricken Harold Macmillan is forced to quit.

Macmillan is scheduled to be operated on Thursday for removal of an enlarged prostate gland. His doctor said the operation means the British leader will not be fully active for two or three months.

Butler, deputy prime minister, was invited to address a mass rally of party workers Saturday as a substitute for Macmillan. The move apparently puts him in front of other contenders for the leadership of the party if Macmillan bows out.

The rally is slated to follow the formal windup of the party's annual conference. Macmillan had planned to tell the rally he intended to lead the tories into next year's general election.

Lord Chelmer, chairman of the National Union of Conservative and Unionist Associations, announced that Butler had accepted the invitation to make the speech.

The union represents the constituency groups of Conservative party members and, as such, speaks for the grass roots of the party.

Macmillan Tuesday named Butler to act as prime minister during the period of his illness. But Macmillan had failed to suggest that Butler should replace him at the Saturday rally. This was widely interpreted by Conservative delegates as a sign that Macmillan himself was not over keen for Butler to assume the role of heir-apparent.

Another candidate, Lord Hailsham, told a party rally the Cabinet will carry on the work of government until Macmillan returns to his "tremendous responsibilities" of office. In a speech prepared for delivery Wednesday night, Hailsham expressed confidence Macmillan would be cured.

Trade Barrier Study Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — A long-range study of barriers to U.S. trade in nonstrategic products with Iron Curtain countries will be undertaken by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The committee's chairman, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., announced the plan Wednesday after the senators met at some length behind closed doors with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and David E. Bell, head of the Agency for International Development.

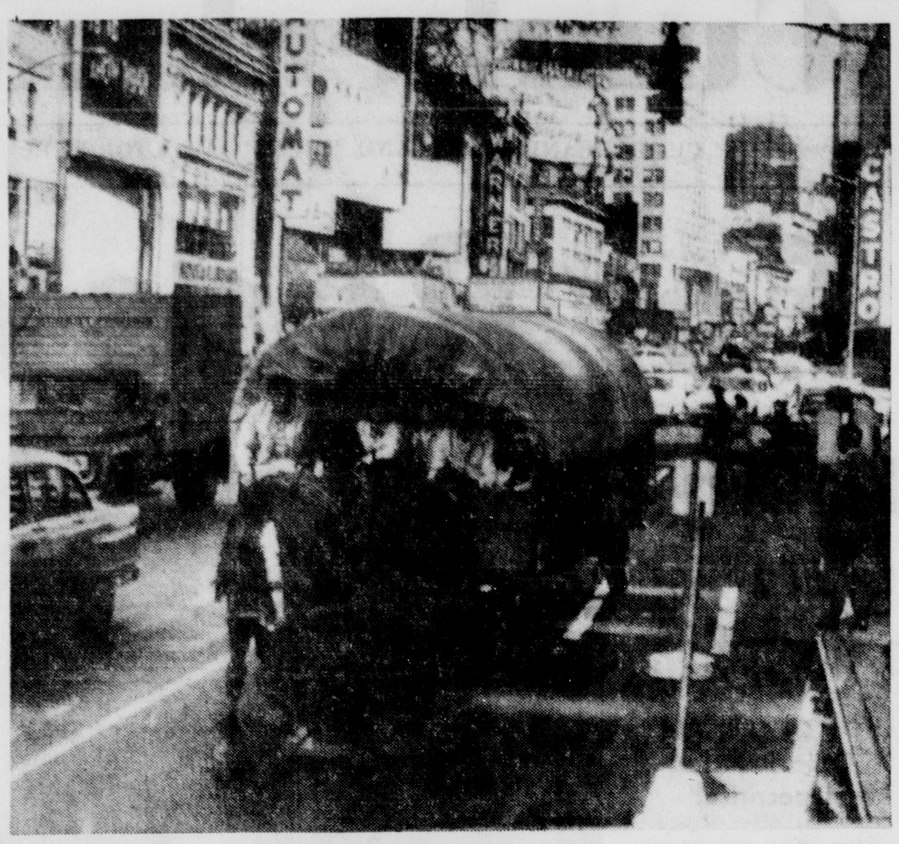
The two appeared before the committee with the announced aim of urging that it restore some of the $1 billion the House cut from President Kennedy's $4.5-billion foreign aid request.

The discussion turned to trade restrictions in light of demands that the United States be permitted to share in wheat sales to the grain-short Soviet Union and satellite Communist countries.

No formal committee vote was taken on the question, Fulbright told reporters afterward. But he said there was general agreement that the committee "should pursue the subject of international trade review with the State Department" after the group finishes work on the foreign aid bill.

Tornado Kills 19

DACCA, Pakistan (UPI) — At least 19 persons were feared dead Wednesday in the wake of tornadoes which struck east Pakistan and bordering areas of India Sunday and Monday.



SEEING THE WORLD BY COVERED WAGON — Leon Gillis, 42-year-old Virginian, his wife, Iyone, 40, and their six children ride down New York's Broadway at 46th Street in a covered wagon in which they plan to see the world. Gillis sold his sporting goods business and he and his family set out from their Providence Forge and Richmond, Va., home in September, 1961, to see the world. First the wagon rolled westward 4,000 miles and 10½ months to California. On this current trip, they are awaiting passage to Europe, then Moscow, by wagon. (AP Photofax)

Unsuccessful Strike Canceled At Singapore

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — The powerful pro-Communist labor bloc in Singapore, the infant Malaysia's chief trade center, called off its widespread but rapidly tottering strike in defeat Wednesday night.

The central Malaysian government, busy with security issues raised by Indonesia's hostile posture, appeared to have won a major victory on the home front.

The strike was canceled by the Singapore Association of Trade Unions, after hundreds of workers affiliated with member unions broke orders and returned to their jobs.

The association launched the strike Tuesday after the Singapore state government threatened to outlaw seven of its biggest affiliate unions on charges that they conspired in Communist united front activities.

Advertised as a general strike, it was never fully effective. About 60,000 workers struck Tuesday. Buses halted. Some factories, business houses, hotels and movies were affected.

Wednesday the government declared the walkout illegal under Singapore labor statues which outlaw strikes for political purposes.

A back-to-work movement developed quickly. Riot police and pickets clashed in a series of incidents. About 70 pickets were arrested.

Central government authorities had charged earlier that the association was taking mass action in an effort to provoke violence and take over the island state by force.

Six hundred miles east of Kuala Lumpur, in Sarawak's capital of Kuching, someone heaved a grenade at a Malaysian riot policeman on routine duty. The officer suffered serious injuries. It was Kuching's second grenade attack in a month.

No arrests were made. It was presumed the grenade thrower came from the ranks of youthful anti-Malaysia Chinese who look to Peking for guidance.

About 1,000 of the young Chinese are reported to have slipped over Sarawak's 500-mile jungle frontier into Indonesian Borneo to get military training for an eventual armed rebellion.

Council Votes To Permit Modern Language Mass

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Ecumenical Council voted overwhelmingly Wednesday to permit Roman Catholics to worship God in their mother tongues.

Approved by tremendous majorities at Wednesday's council session were a series of proposals defining conditions under modern languages may be substituted for Latin in celebration of the Mass.

The liturgical reforms were aimed at bringing Roman Catholic laymen out of their traditional role of silent spectators at the Mass, and making them active, comprehending participants in the worship services.

Of eight proposals adopted by the council, two were of particular significance. They would:

—Empower national conferences of bishops to introduce use of modern languages at their discretion in all parts of the Mass which call for participation of the congregation, or which are intended primarily for the instruction of the faithful. These include the reading of the Gospel and Epistle, the saying of the Creed, and certain congregational chants and responses such as the Kyrie and Gloria.

—Open the door to eventual use of the vernacular — the everyday language of the people in a given area — even in the "Canon" of the Mass, the most sacred part in which the priest re-enacts the sacrifice of Christ on Calvary. National conferences of bishops under the rule approved may propose such an extension of the vernacular to the Pope, but the pontiff's explicit approval would be required before it could be carried out.

Other proposals approved by the prelates strongly commend the reception of the Holy Communion by the faithful each time they attend Mass rather than only on special occasions.

The largest negative vote on any of the proposals was 96 out of 2,227 votes cast by the delegates assembled in St. Peter's.

Man Convicted On Gambling Charge

BALTIMORE (AP) — Louis H. Comi, operator of a vending machine business, was convicted in federal court Wednesday on charges of gambling without the required $50 tax stamp.

Judge Edward S. Northrop deferred sentencing and Comi was released in $2,000 bail.

Convicted on four counts by a jury, the 58-year-old Comi faces a possible maximum of two years in prison and fines totaling $25,050.

The national average for milk production for a cow is about 5,500 pounds annually.

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) Nineteen years ago Oswaldo Lopez Arellano was an air force mechanic. Today a colonel, he bosses Honduras after unseating President Ramon Villeda Morales.

As a result of last Thursday's coup, it seems certain Lopez, 42, will be calling administrative signals for some time in this poorest Central American countries.

This does not mean the short, trim, career officer already has set himself up as a new tyrant.

It means that Honduras will join a growing list of Latin-American countries that have installed or will install civilian governments through elections supervised by the military — Argentina, Peru, Ecuador, Nicaragua and El Salvador for example.

There are signs that Lopez's provisional regime has a difficult task ahead. Its enemies showed muscle Saturday when sharpshooters fought the army for four hours in a rooftop battle in Tegucigalpa.

The situation on the political front depends upon how far the diehards of Villeda Morales' Liberal party want to go with their bitterness over being deprived of victory in the presidential elections that had been set for Oct. 13.

The Liberals elected Villeda Morales in 1957 although the rival Nationalist party was then in power. The Liberal candidate, Modesto Rodas Alvarado, was running well ahead last week when the army struck. He went into exile with Villeda Morales in Costa Rica.

If the Liberals choose to fight, Lopez is a tough adversary. The army chief is an experienced hand at this sort of thing. As commander of an air force infantry battalion, he was prominent in the army's overthrow of Julio Lozano, nationalist party president, in 1956. Lopez served as defense secretary in the provisional regime that took over.

In overthrowing Villeda Morales, the Honduran army followed a what has become almost a pattern for increasing military intervention in Latin-American governments.

The army said unrest had been created by Liberal party activities and government policies, among which was "tolerance of Communist infiltration."

Easily discernible as one factor was the army's fear of its future. The army knew that Rodas Alvarado long had fought its almost independent status.

A distant but influential factor in the army's reasoning, here and in other Latin-Ameaican countries, is the memory that Fidel Castro destroyed the Cuban army after his revolution succeeded in 1959.

Space Budget Boost Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — German-born rocket expert Wernher Von Braun said Tuesday that a space budget as low as $5.1 billion this year would mean "we as a nation will have to back out of our publicly stated commitment and admit defeat."

The $5.1-billion figure is what is before Congress this week.

Von Braun said the $5.35-billion ceiling authorized earlier by Congress would require cutting "quite a few engineering corners" to meet the goal of placing a man on the moon in this decade. Any further cut would mean abandoning the "this decade" deadline, he said.

Von Braun, who runs the Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala., gave his reasons for a bigger space budget in a letter to Rep. George W. Andrews, D-Ala., a member of the House Appropriations Committee.

Andrews said he would read the letter to the House Thursday when the NASA appropriations bill for the current fiscal year comes up.

Word came from the White House, however, that President Kennedy is ready to accept the $5.1 billion.

Mrs. Richardson's Vote Stand Hit By Rep. Morton

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Maryland congressman said Wednesday the position of Mrs. Gloria Richardson on the civil rights referendum in Cambridge last week suggests a need to "examine thoroughly the motives of the Negro leadership."

"The fact that a large number of Negroes didn't vote and were discouraged from doing so by some of the Negro leadership is disturbing," Rep. Rogers Morton said in a letter to constituents.

The Eastern Shore Republican analyzed the referendum in which an equal accommodations amendment to the city charter was rejected by less than 300 votes. Nearly 5,000 votes were cast, and only about 40 per cent of the town's eligible Negro voters went to the polls.

While he didn't mention Mrs. Richardson by name, there was no doubt to whom Morton was referring. Mrs. Richardson had urged Negroes to boycott the referendum, taking the position that they should not have to vote for rights they already have under the U.S. Constitution.

"If Negroes, after violent demonstrations and ardent petitions to local governments in which they gained specific recognition and new opportunities, then are unwilling to defend these gains at the polls, something is basically unrealistic in the whole civil rights movement," Morton said.

"This indicates we must reevaluate the civil rights question and examine thoroughly the motives of the Negro leadership."

House Unit Inspects Virginia Coal Mines

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Labor subcommittee headed by Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., inspected coal mines Wednesday in Buchanan County, Va.

A committee aide said the inspection might also include some nearby mines in West Virginia.

The group is considering several proposals to amend the federal coal mine safety act including bills to extend coverage of the federal law to mines employing fewer than 15 men.

Hearings were held by the committee in August and September. Members have inspected small mines in eastern Pennsylvania.

Montgomery School Policy Under Attack

BALTIMORE (AP) — The president of the Montgomery Council of Parent-Teachers Associations (MCCPTA) accused Montgomery County officials Wednesday of bad judgment and inadequacy in handling local schools.

Millard Cass made the charges before a hearing of the State Board of Education, which the MCCPTA requested in an effort to show that state public school laws had been violated.

The parent-teachers group had been denied a hearing on a lower level by the County School Board.

Cass said the violations stem from a cut of $1.7 million made to the county school budget for 1963-1964 by the Montgomery County Council and in which the county school board had acquiesced. The cut involved dropping 200 of the 222 additional teachers requested by county schools to handle the 5,600-pupil increase in enrollment this fall.

Charles W. Prettyman, counsel for the county board, and Dr. C. Taylor Whittier, county superintendent of schools, told the state board that a suit is pending against the county council charging that the council exceeded its authority in making the cuts.

Whittier also said the county's physical education program, which had drawn criticism from the MCCPTA, was adequate.

Specifically, Cass accused the county school board on these points:

1. Allowing the ratio of supervisors to teachers to fall below a 1 to 50 ratio as provided by state law.

2. Allowing the amount of physical education provided to pupils to fall below the required 15 minutes per day.

3. Failing to "demand proper performance" by filing suit when the county council slashed the budget.

Cass said the supervisor-teacher ratio now stands at 1 to 69.3 and that a suit was not filed by the school board until after the State Board of Education agreed to hear the MCCPTA's complaints.

Wife, 16, Delivers Her Own Infant

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mrs. Edward Gower Jr. and her new-born daughter were doing fine Wednesday in Mercy Hospital. The mother could be truly proud. She delivered the baby by herself.

Mrs. Gower is only 16 years old.

She told her husband Tuesday morning before he went to work she wasn't feeling well. He promised to ask her parents to drop over to their trailer home.

By the time they arrived, Mrs. Gower had calmly delivered the baby. The seven-month old girl weighed 4 pounds, 2 ounces.

Fifth Man Held In Check Racket

BALTIMORE (AP) — The FBI announced Wednesday the arrest of the fifth member of a gang it said worked a fast, forged check deal on banks in five states.

Arrested Wednesday and held under bail of $2,500 was Joseph D. Patterson, 39, of Baltimore. The FBI previously arrested as part of the ring, James A. Boyce, 34, Britt S. Logan, 35, and Earl A. Hill, 23, in Charlotte, N.C., and James O. Ellis, in Burlington, N.J.

All five are from Baltimore.

Edwin R. Tulley, special FBI agent in charge of the Baltimore office, said the defendants opened bank accounts in Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, New Jersey and Pennsylvania last summer.

Then they deposited forged checks on out-of-state banks. Before the checks could be cleared, other checks wers cashed on the accounts.

Tully said six Baltimore banks alone suffered a loss of $10,000.

Thirteen American women pilots have passed requirements for space flights.

Maryland Briefs

ESSEX, Md. (AP) — Timothy J. Harris, 16, went over Tuesday night to see a buddy to whom he had loaned a rifle. He opened the kitchen door and there lay dead 17-year-old Billy Mahaffey, clutching a telephone receiver.

A 14-year-old girl told police she had been talking to Mahaffey on the telephone and he had threatened to shoot himself. Mahaffey was killed by a bullet from the borrowed rifle.

"He was having girl trouble," said his friend, Timothy.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — The University of Maryland announced Wednesday it is establishing one of the few courses in chemical physics on a graduate level in the nation.

Dr. Joseph Vanderslice, who will administer the new curriculum, said the borderline between physics and chemistry has been expanding so rapidly it is difficult for a student to prepare adequately for research.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clarence D. Long, D-Md., has arranged a Carroll County industrial development conference Oct. 18 at Westminster in an effort to attract more business to that area.

Federal economic development experts will attend the meeting.

"Lovely scenery, low taxes and reasonable labor costs make Carroll County an excellent place for indusry to locate new plants," Long said.

He listed other attractions as Western Maryland College and a fine system of public and parochial schools in the county.

Last year 4,411 companies were required to file annual reports with the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

Judges Rap High Court For Unclear Decisions

TWSON, Md. (AP) — The second Maryland judge within a week decried Tuesday what he said was confusion caused by failure of the Supreme Court to spell out recent rulings.

The point causing trouble is whether the decisions in specific cases apply retroactively, to other persons convicted of crimes before the one before the court.

Circuit Judge W. Albert Menchine on Tuesday and Judge Joseph L. Carter of Baltimore last week pointed to conflicting interpretations by U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Both called upon the Supreme Court to answer the question itself. Until then, they both refused to give prisoners new trials although under a Supreme Court ruling others had been granted them on the same ground.

The ruling in the cases before the Maryland judges was that a defendant was entitled to counsel at every judicial step.

The 4th Circuit Court of Appeals, which includes Maryland, has held this applies to all those now in prison. But Judge Menchine said another court of appeals in the southwest has held the Supreme Court ruling is not retroactive.

"In this state of the record with two U.S. Courts of Appeal of equal status reaching opposite results, I do not choose to follow a course so necessarily productive of added burdens on the already crowded dockets of the courts by requiring re-evaluation of once-tried issues," Judge Menchine said.

"The state courts are in a legal quandary," Judge Carter had said, "mainly because of uncertainties in the Supreme Court opinions and the conflicting federal appellate court decisions.

"That condition will continue until the Supreme Court in a definitive manners tells us whether or not its decisions, changing or reversing prior decisions, . . . are retroactive."

Judge Carter said trial courts will follow the "law of the land as enunciated by the Supreme Court (even if in disagreement with it, . . . but we must first know — what is the law?"

Death Toll Mounts

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — The death toll reached 58 in Korea's cholera epidemic Tuesday and 18 new cases were reported. A total of 828 persons have been stricken since the disease broke out in Pusan several weeks ago.

One of the earliest congressional investigations by a select committee was made into the defeat of General St. Clair by the Indians in 1792, according to the official History of the House of Representatives.

POWDER AND PAINT NAB A SUSPECT — Patrolman Roger Peachey (right), still in a wig and women's clothes, holds a knife and razor which he reported taking from Benjamin Bowles (left), 30. Bowles sat beside the disguised policeman on a bench in New York and allegedly attempted to take three dollars from Peachey's purse. A .38 revolver discouraged him.

Tremor Hits Skopje

BELGRADE (UPI) — A sharp tremor Tuesday rocked Skopje where an estimated 2,000 persons died in an earthquake last July, the Yugoslav news agency reported. It said no casualties were reported.

Eleven per cent of the war veterans now living in the United States took part in World War I.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

HOMEFRONT, U.S.A. (UPI)— Every good volunteer who knocks door to door for a good cause needs survival techniques.

Otherwise, she won't be able to outwit the personality types encountered during her trek through the neighborhood for charity.

Types she's likely to meet include the following:

— Expert at Vanishing. This type tries to pretend no one's at home. Drapes are drawn. Doors are closed. But the expert forgot to turn off the television. Defeat this character by finding an open window. Yell pleasant greetings through it until the door opens.

— Old Foot-In-The-Door. This type opens the door, puts her foot in the crack and encourages you to go away. If you cough and ask for a drink of water you'll stand a chance of getting inside long enough to state the case for your charity.

— Madame Lonesome. She invites you in to listen to an account of what's happened to her while she's been living alone. She talks so rapidly all about herself you can't make the sales talk for your charity. Leave the form and suggest she mail the check to the address on the packet. Hope she remembers.

—The Doggy Type. She opens the door but stands behind a snarling canine, held on a leash. Reach into your tote bag for a few dog biscuits. Every well-prepared volunteer carries a supply for such occasions. Once the dog's calmed, admire him. The owner will be pleased. During that magic instant, ask for the contribution.

— Reluctant Donor. This type bawls you out about so many collections, suggests that all the eggs be in one basket, and then writes a check. Be a good listener. Don't try to engage this type in an argument. Just wait for the check. Say thanks and depart.

—Poor Little Me Too. This poor thing meets you at the door with several moppets at her heels. She invites you in to explain why someone ought to collect door-to-and become convinced. Express sympathy, thank her for her interest in your cause. Don't make her feel like a penny waiting for change because she can't give.

If the drive's well organized, the campaign captain in your block supplied you beforehand with a list of no-shows — the persons who have a history of giving nothing.

Three Are Indicted On Numbers Charges

BALTIMORE (AP) — Three Washington area residents were indicted by a federal grand jury Tuesday on charges of crossing state lines to set up a number game.

J. Marion Hardin, assistant U.S. attorney, said the indictment was the first in Maryland under a new federal law banning interstate travel to aid racketeering or prostitution.

Charged on 19 counts were Howared R. Seal, 56, of McLean, Va.; Murray Cohen, 61, of Alexandria, Va. and Mrs. Bette Louis Renner, 39, of Adelphi, Md.

The three were accused of traveling from Virginia to Bladensburg, Md. from January to September this year to set up a lottery.

In addition, the jury returned bookmaking indictments against Earl Fish, 70, and Ralph L. Sapia, 45, both of Baltimore. Fish and Sapia were charged with gambling without a $50 federal tax stamp.

Three Are Indicted On Numbers Charges

BALTIMORE (AP) — Three Washington area residents were indicted by a federal grand jury Tuesday on charges of crossing state lines to set up a number game.

J. Marion Hardin, assistant U.S. attorney, said the indictment was the first in Maryland under a new federal law banning interstate travel to aid racketeering or prostitution.

Charged on 19 counts were Howared R. Seal, 56, of McLean, Va.; Murray Cohen, 61, of Alexandria, Va. and Mrs. Bette Louis Renner, 39, of Adelphi, Md.

The three were accused of traveling from Virginia to Bladensburg, Md. from January to September this year to set up a lottery.

In addition, the jury returned bookmaking indictments against Earl Fish, 70, and Ralph L. Sapia, 45, both of Baltimore. Fish and Sapia were charged with gambling without a $50 federal tax stamp.

Miss Susie Jolley Frazier, Washington, chairman of approved schools, was guest speaker. She told of her visit to the two DAR-owned schools, the Kate Duncan Smith day school in Alabama and Tamassee boarding school in South Carolina. Urging continued support, she read a schedule of the multi-purpose use of the school auditorium for both school and community. Miss Frazier urged the chapter to continue sending used clothing to the schools. The speaker also told of Lincoln Memorial University and Hillside School for boys.

The fall theme was carried out in the floral centerpiece of yellow and bronze mums and ivy. Mrs. Arch Hutcheson and Mrs. Leslie Randall were in charge of arrangements.

The petition will be circulated for the signature of interested parents.

Use Of School Buses Is Growing In County

The modern school system, comprising consolidated schools serving suburban and rural areas, has brought forth the growth of school bus transportation.

In Allegany County's public school system over half of all children attending school are transported by bus. The exact figure as of last week was 8,475 with 4,409 being high school students, 3,913 in the elementary grades and 153 in special categories such as the physically handicapped.

Total cost of transportation of school children for the current term is budgeted at $444,826. Part of the expense is paid by the county and part by the state.

Hubert Radcliffe, supervisor of school transportation, said that there has not been a fatal or serious injury to any child in a school bus as far as he can remember. Last year a child slipped on the snow and ice in the Bowman's Addition area and the tire chains on the bus caused abrasions and slight lacerations of one of her legs and another child struck her chin while getting on a bus and suffered tooth damage.

The school buses are given thorough safety checks at intervals and every precaution is taken to safeguard the children, Radcliffe stated. It is state law that all vehicles must stop in both directions while a school bus is loading or unloading children.

There are 108 privately and two public-owned buses and eight cars used in the daily transportation of school children. A total of 4,200 miles per day are registered by the school buses.

The total mileage last year was 772,800 and based on an average of five miles per gallon of gasoline the buses 'burn' 154,560 gallons of gasoline annually.

The approximate payroll for the 110 regular and 18 substitute drivers is $125,000 annually. There are also eight regular drivers for the cars used in the transportation.

The trend to suburban living and elimination of the old-time 'little white school house' has been responsible for the present-day school bus program.

Firemen Get Two Calls In LaVale

Two separate fires, reported about an hour apart, were extinguished Tuesday by the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company.

The first alarm was turned in at 2:45 p.m. when construction supplies on the rear of an S. T. Brotemarkle Company Truck caught fire.

A container of cement hardener, apparently combustible, was ignited and caused flames to climb as high as 20 feet, according to James H. Loar, fire chief.

The truck engine caught fire while traveling National Highway near Bruner's Do-Nut shop. Firemen estimated the damage at "several hundred dollars."

At 3:55 p.m., firemen were called to Piney Mountain where woodland on the property of James Tate was ablaze. About a half acre was burned, Loar said.

Two pieces of equipment were used by six men at the first blaze, and 19 men and three pieces of equipment were at the woods fire.

Developed Ski-Kiting

LAKE WALES, Fla. (AP) — When Ken Tibado says, "Go fly a kite," he means a ski-kite. A professional water-skier, he began using a sail to lengthen his jumping distance in 1954. Ski-kiting became popular—and so he began making kites for the sport in 1955. His full-scale factory operation got under way in 1957.

Commission To Discuss Sewage Plan

A meeting has been scheduled by the Allegany County Sanitary Commission for Friday, October 18, at 8 p. m. at the Court House with the Frostburg Mayor and Council to discuss plans for a sewage program.

The Frostburg officials requested the session after hearing a feasibility report by Albert S. Paye, county engineer, on a plan to tie-in with the LaVale sewage interceptor and thence with the City of Cumberland sewage disposal plant.

A sanitary district, known as the Braddock Run Sanitary District, would be set up by the county agency under which Frostburg and adjacent areas would operate.

It was brought out by Paye in his report that the expansion of Frostburg State College has made it imperative that some system for handling the community's sewage be provided.

Following the session between Frostburg officials and the county agency another meeting will be arranged bringing the LaVale Sanitary Commission into the overall situation. Some method of handling the program will have to be devised by Frostburg in cooperation with LaVale.

The City of Cumberland has agreed to handle the sewage at its disposal plant. LaVale has agreed to enter into such an agreement.

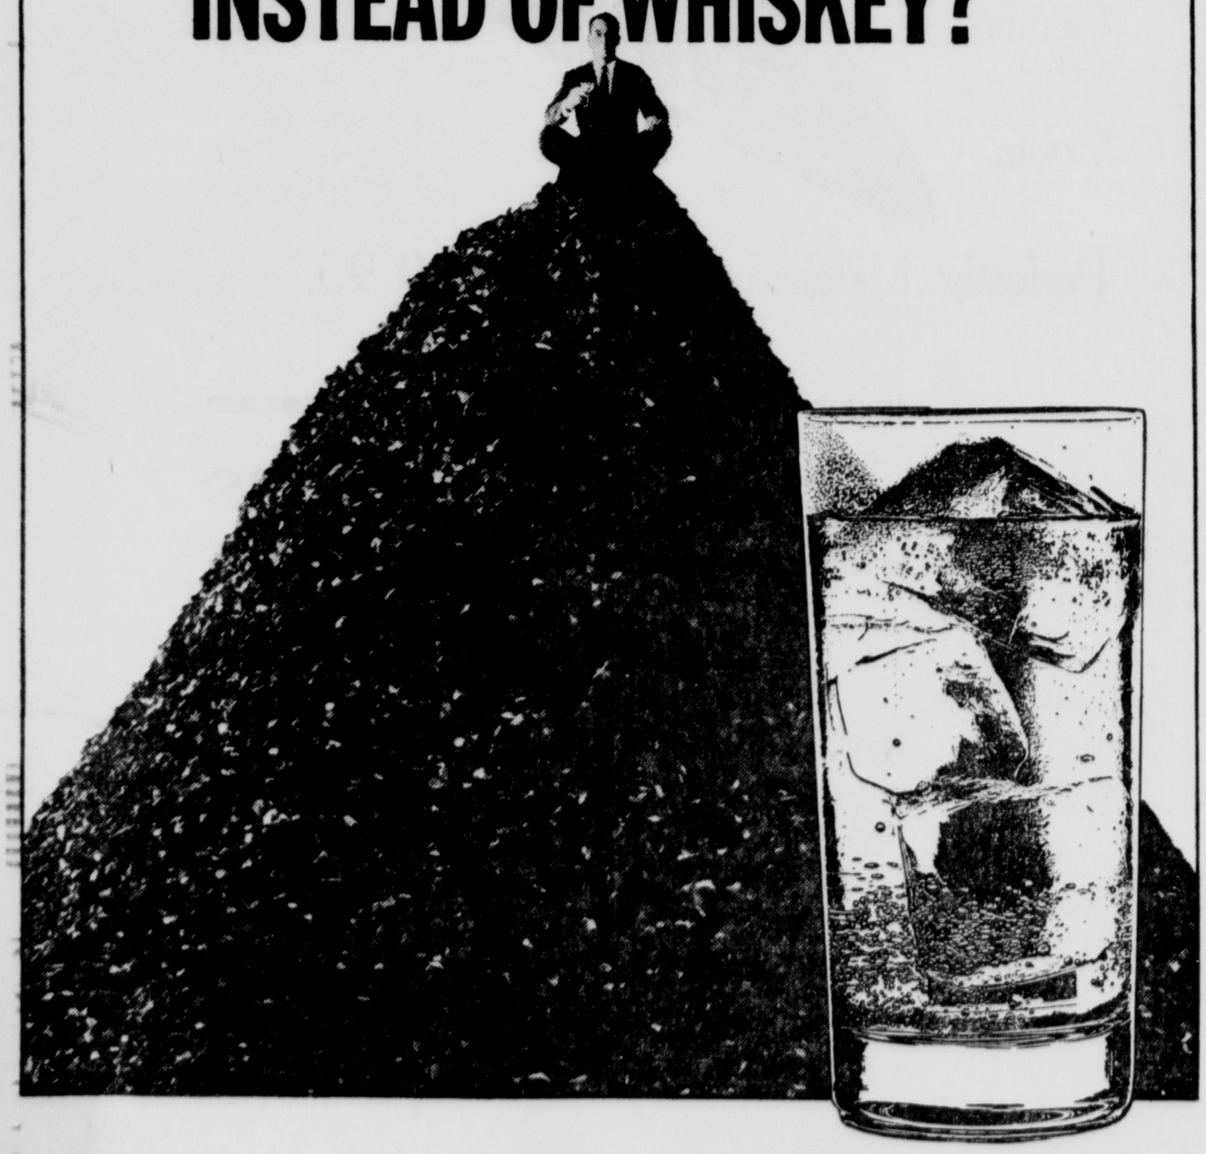
WHY SMIRNOFF INSTEAD OF WHISKEY?



It's filtered through a "mountain" of charcoal

Bourbon or blend, Scotch or Canadian, they all taste like whiskey. And even some people who drink whiskey don't care for the taste.

Now, with Smirnoff, you can enjoy delicious liquor drinks that don't taste like liquor. Here's the reason.

Every drop of Smirnoff is filtered and refined through 7 tons of activated charcoal—14,000 lbs. This "black magic" removes most of the congeners. No wonder Smirnoff is the world's finest liquor. Crystal-clear and smooth, with no noticeable liquor taste or odor, it blends perfectly with the flavor of fruit juices or soft drinks.

And when you first try Smirnoff, you're in for a further surprise. It's actually lighter than whiskey!

Use Of School Buses Is Growing In County

The modern school system, comprising consolidated schools serving suburban and rural areas, has brought forth the growth of school bus transportation.

In Allegany County's public school system over half of all children attending school are transported by bus. The exact figure as of last week was 8,475 with 4,409 being high school students, 3,913 in the elementary grades and 153 in special categories such as the physically handicapped.

Total cost of transportation of school children for the current term is budgeted at $444,826. Part of the expense is paid by the county and part by the state.

Hubert Radcliffe, supervisor of school transportation, said that there has not been a fatal or serious injury to any child in a school bus as far as he can remember. Last year a child slipped on the snow and ice in the Bowman's Addition area and the tire chains on the bus caused abrasions and slight lacerations of one of her legs and another child struck her chin while getting on a bus and suffered tooth damage.

The school buses are given thorough safety checks at intervals and every precaution is taken to safeguard the children, Radcliffe stated. It is state law that all vehicles must stop in both directions while a school bus is loading or unloading children.

There are 108 privately and two public-owned buses and eight cars used in the daily transportation of school children. A total of 4,200 miles per day are registered by the school buses.

The total mileage last year was 772,800 and based on an average of five miles per gallon of gasoline the buses 'burn' 154,560 gallons of gasoline annually.

The approximate payroll for the 110 regular and 18 substitute drivers is $125,000 annually. There are also eight regular drivers for the cars used in the transportation.

The trend to suburban living and elimination of the old-time 'little white school house' has been responsible for the present-day school bus program.

Firemen Get Two Calls In LaVale

Two separate fires, reported about an hour apart, were extinguished Tuesday by the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company.

The first alarm was turned in at 2:45 p.m. when construction supplies on the rear of an S. T. Brotemarkle Company Truck caught fire.

A container of cement hardener, apparently combustible, was ignited and caused flames to climb as high as 20 feet, according to James H. Loar, fire chief.

The truck engine caught fire while traveling National Highway near Bruner's Do-Nut shop. Firemen estimated the damage at "several hundred dollars."

At 3:55 p.m., firemen were called to Piney Mountain where woodland on the property of James Tate was ablaze. About a half acre was burned, Loar said.

Two pieces of equipment were used by six men at the first blaze, and 19 men and three pieces of equipment were at the woods fire.

LaVale Firemen Plan Auction

An auction will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at the LaVale Fire Hall under the sponsorship of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company.

Bradye Dolly will serve as auctioneer.

George Boch, chairman for the affair, said the auction will be held "rain or shine" and that many articles for it have already been donated.

He added that persons desiring to contribute items, regardless of their residence, may do so by telephoning 722-0871 or 724-6806.

Developed Ski-Kiting

LAKE WALES, Fla. (AP) — When Ken Tibado says, "Go fly a kite," he means a ski-kite. A professional water-skier, he began using a sail to lengthen his jumping distance in 1954. Ski-kiting became popular—and so he began making kites for the sport in 1955. His full-scale factory operation got under way in 1957.

Indians used petroleum as medicine for oiling their bodies before the coming of the white man to America.

Girl Scout Leaders Will Attend Course

A refresher course for Girl Scout leaders of the West Side Neighborhood will be held today at Girl Scout headquarters.

Brownie leaders will meet from 10 a. m. to noon, junior leaders from 1 to 2:30 p. m., and cadet and senior leaders from 7 to 10 p. m.

Plans for the course were completed at a meeting Tuesday night at which Mrs. Lester Boden presided. It was announced that a Heritage Hike will be held Saturday, October 26, and the troops can obtain information on the project from their leaders.

West Side Girl Scouts plan to participate in the Halloween parade being sponsored by the South Cumberland Business and Civic Association. Girls will march in uniform or costume.

Mrs. Boden said a leader weekend will be held November 2 at White Rock, Berkeley Springs. Persons interested in attending should contact Girl Scout headquarters.

The next neighborhood meeting will be held November 12 at headquarters, starting at 10 a. m. Hostesses will be from Troops 7 and 143.

Local Rotary Club Indoctrination Held

The Cumberland Rotary Club held an indoctrination meeting for new members at the Deep Creek Lake cottage of Dr. William Fridinger.

The meeting was conducted by Robert Garner, president, and Theodore W. Foote, of the board of directors. Guests were members who had joined the club during the past year.

Michigan's upper peninsula once produced half the world's supply of copper. Now, it furnishes only four per cent of the domestic supply.

Commission To Discuss Sewage Plan

A meeting has been scheduled by the Allegany County Sanitary Commission for Friday, October 18, at 8 p. m. at the Court House with the Frostburg Mayor and Council to discuss plans for a sewage program.

The Frostburg officials requested the session after hearing a feasibility report by Albert S. Paye, county engineer, on a plan to tie-in with the LaVale sewage interceptor and thence with the City of Cumberland sewage disposal plant.

A sanitary district, known as the Braddock Run Sanitary District, would be set up by the county agency under which Frostburg and adjacent areas would operate.

It was brought out by Paye in his report that the expansion of Frostburg State College has made it imperative that some system for handling the community's sewage be provided.

Following the session between Frostburg officials and the county agency another meeting will be arranged bringing the LaVale Sanitary Commission into the overall situation. Some method of handling the program will have to be devised by Frostburg in cooperation with LaVale.

The City of Cumberland has agreed to handle the sewage at its disposal plant. LaVale has agreed to enter into such an agreement.

Absentee Voting Cited In Talk By Mullaney

Qualifications for casting absentee ballots by college students and physically-disabled persons in next year's elections were explained Monday night by Matthew J. Mullaney, a member of the Democratic State Central Committee, to the Allegany County Democratic Coordinating Council.

Holding its first meeting with the State Central Committee, party workers and other interested Democrats, the council heard talks by Mullaney and John Tucker Mason, president, who explained the party's organizational chart.

Mullaney reminded the approximately 90 persons attending the Algonquin Hotel meeting of the 1962 amendment to the absentee voting law.

He said that students enrolled fulltime in a bona fide college, school or hospital who are unavoidably absent from the county in which they are registered are eligible to vote by absentee ballot.

This amendment was made in March of 1962, but next year will mark the first time for its application in a national election.

Mullaney also reminded that physically-disabled and bed-confined persons can vote by absentee ballot if their application is made to the Board of Election Supervisors is accompanied by a certificate of disability from a licensed physician.

Their certification must be obtained by April 29 and submitted to the board by May 9.

The 1964 primary will be held May 19 with the deadline for registration set at April 18. It was brought out at the meeting that a touring registrar will conduct registration from March 27 on.

Mullaney said that registered voters can change their party affiliations up to six months prior to the primary.

Mullaney also discussed the change made in the precinct line in LaVale and the fact that two polling places—LaVale fire hall and Parkside School—will be used.

It was announced that officers of the council are planning to hold a Jackson Day dinner in January.

New Lobster Lure

ROCKLAND, Maine (AP) — A new type of lobster bait now being used by Maine coast fishermen looks like an oversized tea bag, but its dehydrated six-ounce package is equal to two pounds of the red fish or herring usually used for lobster bait. The lure may be stored for six months or more as long as it is kept dry.

Each state in the United States has jurisdiction over the holidays it will observe.

Absentee Voting Cited In Talk By Mullaney

Qualifications for casting absentee ballots by college students and physically-disabled persons in next year's elections were explained Monday night by Matthew J. Mullaney, a member of the Democratic State Central Committee, to the Allegany County Democratic Coordinating Council.

Holding its first meeting with the State Central Committee, party workers and other interested Democrats, the council heard talks by Mullaney and John Tucker Mason, president, who explained the party's organizational chart.

Mullaney reminded the approximately 90 persons attending the Algonquin Hotel meeting of the 1962 amendment to the absentee voting law.

He said that students enrolled fulltime in a bona fide college, school or hospital who are unavoidably absent from the county in which they are registered are eligible to vote by absentee ballot.

This amendment was made in March of 1962, but next year will mark the first time for its application in a national election.

Mullaney also reminded that physically-disabled and bed-confined persons can vote by absentee ballot if their application is made to the Board of Election Supervisors is accompanied by a certificate of disability from a licensed physician.

Their certification must be obtained by April 29 and submitted to the board by May 9.

The 1964 primary will be held May 19 with the deadline for registration set at April 18. It was brought out at the meeting that a touring registrar will conduct registration from March 27 on.

Mullaney said that registered voters can change their party affiliations up to six months prior to the primary.

Mullaney also discussed the change made in the precinct line in LaVale and the fact that two polling places—LaVale fire hall and Parkside School—will be used.

It was announced that officers of the council are planning to hold a Jackson Day dinner in January.

New Lobster Lure

ROCKLAND, Maine (AP) — A new type of lobster bait now being used by Maine coast fishermen looks like an oversized tea bag, but its dehydrated six-ounce package is equal to two pounds of the red fish or herring usually used for lobster bait. The lure may be stored for six months or more as long as it is kept dry.

Each state in the United States has jurisdiction over the holidays it will observe.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

Rise And Fall Of The Empire

Not all figures can wear the Empire. Not all could wear the fitted silhouettes of other seasons.

Most figures can wear the arched waistline, which is up in front, molded high from just under the bosom, and down in back. It can be called the rise and fall of the Empire.

For late day there's great elegance in a high-born bodice that falls into a deep back cowl. Many Empire dresses have loose backs.

Here is another way to keep from sacrificing flattery. Choose a dress with the front bearing the Empire demarcation through ribbon, seaming or banding placed under the back and the back hanging straight or in loose folds. Or, flat bows can indicate the Empire and not be too extreme.

Daytime tailored styles can follow the same idea.

The high fashion Empire line clothes require a slim Waistline—even if the normal one is by-passed. For a slim waistline, here is a twister exercise that does the trick. Stand straight and steady with hips facing forward. Now, twist the upper part at the waistline far to the right side. S-t-r-etch and then stretch some more. Now move back to the forward position and turn left—as far around as you can go. You'll find you can go farther each week.

"FIGURED FOR YOU", give expert detailed instructions and illustrates how to select foundation garments that provide comeliness, control and healthful comfort for your individual type of figure. Send 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope to me, John Robert Powers, in care of this newspaper for "Figured for You."

Cranes Whooping More Quiety

The rare and almost extinct whooping crane, 38 of which are known to exist, make a round-trip flight of 5,000 miles annually from their summer nesting ground in Canada's Wood Buffalo National Park to their winter home in the Aransas Wild Game Refuge in southern Texas. In 1941, when the birds first received protection and publicity, they were at the dangerously low number of only 14. In addition to the 38 wild cranes noted in the last count, seven others now are in bird sanctuaries.

Former Boxer Pleads Guilty To Burglary

Two of four men accused of breaking and entering the Cresaptown Junior High School and taking articles valued at $647 were arraigned yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Michael D. Leslie, formerly of this city and an amateur boxer here shortly after World War II, entered a guilty plea after being arraigned. Leslie has been living in the Baltimore area in recent years.

Donald W. Mason, deputy state's attorney, told the court that Leslie has been in trouble on various occasions, including jail break in Howard County. He has served about 10 years in prison, Mason said.

Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Leslie, told the court that Leslie's big trouble was the drinking habit. He asked the court to send Leslie to the State Hospital at Sykesville so he could take the cure before passing sentence.

Judge Harris ordered Leslie remanded to the county jail pending a pre-sentence investigation of his background by James Lewis, state probation officer.

Also arraigned was Robert B. Portmess, city, who entered a not guilty plea. Through his attorney, Ryan, he asked for a jury trial.

One of the other two men implicated in the case, Joseph F. Schultz, Jr., Baltimore, told the court he had an attorney to represent him and Judge Harris held up arraignment until the attorney can come here for the proceedings. The second man, also from Baltimore, is Thomas T. Wyborski, who said he did not have counsel. Judge Harris appointed Jack I. Mullen, to be his defense attorney.

The breaking and entering and theft took place last May 12 about 1 or 2 a. m. with a $250 accordion, $150 tape recorder, $125 record player, $6 in cash and other articles taken by the accused quartet.

They were arrested by city police a short time after the incident and the stolen articles found in the trunk of the car in which they were riding.

Napoleon, at one time during his career, controlled France, parts of Italy, Russia, Prussia, the Netherlands, Spain and Portugal.

Zoning Talk To Feature Land Week

One program scheduled in connection with the observance of Land Week in Allegany County will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. at the Baltimore Pike Fire Hall.

Wilbert Paul, chairman of the Allegany Soil Conservation District Supervisors, has arranged a program including a talk on county zoning regulations and a movie. Refreshments will be served by the fire unit auxiliary.

C. Lee Renaud, director of the Allegany County Planning and Zoning Commission, will discuss the zoning ordinances as they pertain to farming areas as well as other sections.

Harry J. Barton, manager of the Cumberland Fair and veteran outdoorsman, will show colored movies of his hunting trip to Africa some months ago. Barton killed a number of big game animals on his hunting safari. The movies will also show parts of the African hunting grounds which Barton visited.

Drives Rats Batty

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A newly-developed rodent control unit known as the Untrasonic Rodent Sentry generates a high frequency of sound well above the range of human hearing which drives rats from buildings and other areas by literally driving them crazy. Tests have proven that the unit's noise has no effect on anything except rodents, bats, and pigeons.

The Edison Hotel in Sunbury, Pa., was believed to be the first building in the world to be electrically lighted.

Police Investigating Entry Of Cottages

West Virginia State Police at Romney are investigating the breaking and entering of a number of cottages along the South Branch of the Potomac River.

Trooper James I. Plybon reports that three cottages have been entered and that articles have been stolen in each case.

Mrs. Ada Reinhard, this city, told police that an intruder entered her cottage and made off with a television set, radio and a number of weapons, including one antique.

A revolver was stolen from the cottage owned by William Doman, Fabius, W. Va., and another weapon was taken from the cottage of William Doolan, Frostburg.

Trooper Plybon said the stolen articles are valued at several hundred dollars.

State Police also report that James G. Swisher, 19, of Springfield, is being held in the county lockup at Romney after he was picked up in a car that had been reported stolen by his mother, Mrs. G. D. Swisher, Springfield.

The youth had been listed as absent without leave from his Naval base at Norfolk, Va., police state. County authorities state it has not been determined whether Swisher will be turned over to the Navy since there is a theft charge pending against him. The youth was picked up in Cumberland several months ago and charged with stealing several hundred dollars from his mother.

Police at Romney also reported that a car, owned by Jackie Simmons of Augusta, W. Va., and which had been stolen Monday, has been recovered by Maryland State Police.

The auto was found wrecked on Irons Mountain here by Tfc. G. C. Wachter.

The first successful airplane flight over the Alps was made in 1910 by George Chavez.

Former Boxer Pleads Guilty To Burglary

Two of four men accused of breaking and entering the Cresaptown Junior High School and taking articles valued at $647 were arraigned yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Michael D. Leslie, formerly of this city and an amateur boxer here shortly after World War II, entered a guilty plea after being arraigned. Leslie has been living in the Baltimore area in recent years.

Donald W. Mason, deputy state's attorney, told the court that Leslie has been in trouble on various occasions, including jail break in Howard County. He has served about 10 years in prison, Mason said.

Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Leslie, told the court that Leslie's big trouble was the drinking habit. He asked the court to send Leslie to the State Hospital at Sykesville so he could take the cure before passing sentence.

Judge Harris ordered Leslie remanded to the county jail pending a pre-sentence investigation of his background by James Lewis, state probation officer.

Also arraigned was Robert B. Portmess, city, who entered a not guilty plea. Through his attorney, Ryan, he asked for a jury trial.

One of the other two men implicated in the case, Joseph F. Schultz, Jr., Baltimore, told the court he had an attorney to represent him and Judge Harris held up arraignment until the attorney can come here for the proceedings. The second man, also from Baltimore, is Thomas T. Wyborski, who said he did not have counsel. Judge Harris appointed Jack I. Mullen, to be his defense attorney.

The breaking and entering and theft took place last May 12 about 1 or 2 a. m. with a $250 accordion, $150 tape recorder, $125 record player, $6 in cash and other articles taken by the accused quartet.

They were arrested by city police a short time after the incident and the stolen articles found in the trunk of the car in which they were riding.

Zoning Talk To Feature Land Week

One program scheduled in connection with the observance of Land Week in Allegany County will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. at the Baltimore Pike Fire Hall.

Wilbert Paul, chairman of the Allegany Soil Conservation District Supervisors, has arranged a program including a talk on county zoning regulations and a movie. Refreshments will be served by the fire unit auxiliary.

C. Lee Renaud, director of the Allegany County Planning and Zoning Commission, will discuss the zoning ordinances as they pertain to farming areas as well as other sections.

Harry J. Barton, manager of the Cumberland Fair and veteran outdoorsman, will show colored movies of his hunting trip to Africa some months ago. Barton killed a number of big game animals on his hunting safari. The movies will also show parts of the African hunting grounds which Barton visited.

Drives Rats Batty

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A newly-developed rodent control unit known as the Untrasonic Rodent Sentry generates a high frequency of sound well above the range of human hearing which drives rats from buildings and other areas by literally driving them crazy. Tests have proven that the unit's noise has no effect on anything except rodents, bats, and pigeons.

The Edison Hotel in Sunbury, Pa., was believed to be the first building in the world to be electrically lighted.

An Appeal To Vigilance

The public needs periodically to be reminded of the necessity of fire prevention, so—despite the redundance of special weeks of dubious significance—Fire Prevention Week commends itself to serious consideration by everyone interested in conservation of life and property and avoidance of human distress.

Fire Prevention Week serves to direct popular attention to the devastation caused by fire and to promote cooperation in reducing it. To those who have been through such an ordeal, the experience is unforgettable.

Those who may have yet to face it because of their own failure of responsible precaution appear strangely indifferent to demands of self-interest.

Householders and others in charge of establishments and institutions wherein human life is much at stake should be imbued with timely awareness of the danger of fire and intensive determination to cope with it.

Special attention should be given to individual smoking habits, the reliability of electrical installations, the use and placement of inflammables, and a prearranged pattern of action to deal with the exigency of fire.

Otherwise fire insurance coverage and the summoning of fire apparatus may prove inadequate to limit resultant loss. Everyone should consider what provision has been made to safeguard himself and others around him from fire, and how they might be enabled to cope with such a possible emergency.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Do We Really Have 'Overkill'?

It would be nice if the experts on nuclear strategy would only tie up the loose ends in their arguments. I say this after having spent a good deal of effort trying to get to the bottom of the theory that insists that we have enough "overkill" to put the Russians out of business many times over.

Here we have Senator Randolph of West Virginia insisting that we have enough atomic warheads in stock and enough delivery strength to obliterate the 140 largest cities in the Soviet Union some 1,250 times, and this assuming that thirty per cent of our rockets and bombing plane power fails to arrive on target. If this is true, it must seem that the U. S. taxpayer is being played for a sucker every time another penny is taken from him to add to the atomic stockpile.

The Senator apparently obtained his figures from Seymour Melman of Columbia University, who breaks down our delivery strength into impressive details. We have, so Dr. Melman tells us, 1,300 strategic bombers, 1,150 navy bombers, and 940 strategic missiles ready to drop 22,000 megatons of explosives on the enemy—or enough to knock out all the cities in the world of 100,000 population 125 times. We could, so the Melman argument runs, take on everybody from the Russians to the Chinese and back to the Cubans and win. Of course, we might have considerable of our own dead to count, and the atomic dust blowing about the world might make the survivors mighty sick, but at least we would not have to truckle to a rapacious victor.

The Senator Randolph-Melman figures, and the others that are comparable to them, have always impressed me. But now comes Dr. Stefan Possony, who has worked with Naval Intelligence and the National War College, to cast the whole theory of "overkill" in doubt. In a report written for the American Security Council, Dr. Possony argues that our 3,350 "delivery vehicles" (planes and missiles added together) would not be utilized primarily to the end of pulverizing Soviet cities. They would have to be turned loose in the first instance against the launching sites and the airfields of the enemy in order to knock out the primary dangers.

Since the Soviets have their own "overkill," it would be a question of one nation's "overkill" being used to hunt down and destroy the "overkill" of the other. This means that big cities on both sides would be ignored for the simple reason that they are not military objectives. The question becomes one of having enough bombs and vehicles around to take care of the enemy's "hardened delivery sites," which are spotted all over, presumably often far away from cities.

According to Dr. Possony's calculations, the Soviet Union has 200 long-range and 1,400 medium-range bombers, eighty-five intercontinental ballistic missiles, 700 medium-range ballistic missiles, and 100 to 200 missiles available for launching from submarines. Dr. Possony doesn't think the Russians would go to war with the U. S. with fewer than 300 intercontinental missiles ready to fire at us.

But when the Russians do reach the point of possessing 300 long-distance atomic killers, the U. S. might be hard put to it to assemble enough delivery strength of its own to negate the enemy's power.

Instead of "overkilling" civilians in cities, our bombers and rocket delivery men would have to turn their attention to such details as suppressing the enemy's anti-craft defenses in order to get our own bombs in. Just suppose, says Dr. Possony, that the Soviet Union has 750 ground-to-air and anti-missile rocket sites. Add to these his 100 airbases, his launching sites for 300 intercontinental missiles and 700 medium-range missiles, and figure out the number of targets our own atomic force would have to pulverize before it could even turn its attention to cities. There would be 1,850 targets before a single city or munitions plant could be touched—and with two warheads allowed per target, the figure needed for almost certain "kill," a total of 3,700 "delivery vehicles" would be engaged merely to keep the enemy from continuing to retaliate.

Well, what does this sort of analysis do to the Senator Randolph-Seymour Melman theory that our 3,350 existing "delivery vehicles," many of which are becoming obsolescent, are enough to "overkill" the enemy 1,250 times? I'm sure that Dr. Possony hasn't disposed of the theory of "overkill," for people will be uselessly poisoned in any kind of atomic war, but he will require some answering.

Red China's Troubles: Much More To Come

By Joseph Alsop

HONG KONG

The first question to ask about any government which is frustrated and boxed-in is how the particular men who lead this particular government are likely to respond to their predicament. The possible responses range from morose resignation to hysterical rebellion.

The Chinese Communist leaders have been passing the word that their response will verge on morose resignation. They have now faced the fact, they tell all and sundry, that another quarter-century will be needed to realize their ambitions for China. But the paranoiac record of the last five years hardly suggests that Mao Tse-tung and his aging, angry colleagues will find it easy to be as patient as they swear they are going to be.

Paranoiac is a hard word to use of any great nation's government. But consider the phases of the bitter Sino-Soviet quarrel. The symptoms of something very close to paranoia in Peking all but leap to the eye.

In the first phase, the quarrel centered on Chinese internal policy. The Chinese decided on their "great leap forward." The Soviets warned that it would be disastrous, and even sought to secure a policy reversal through Marshal Peng Teh-huai. The intervention failed. The disaster ensued, as forecast.

Whereupon the Chinese leaders reacted to this disaster of their own making by beginning to press the Soviet leaders to take the kind of risks that would have led to a thermonuclear war. If one can trust the Moscow documents, the Chinese all but argued that it should not matter much if the whole world were reduced to heaps of rubble since the Chinese heap would then be as high as any other, if not higher; and so China would find her rightful place again. This led on to the present rupture.

Both in the "great leap" program itself and in the second-phase response to its dreadful failure, there was obviously something not quite sane or normal. And now these same men who tried one hideously drastic remedy, and then pressed for another remedy even more hideous and drastic, are not merely frustrated and boxed-in. They are in some danger.

They are in danger abroad because the Soviets have it in their power to exercise an almost uncontainable pressure on China's northwestern frontiers. This pressure on Sinkiang province already seems to have begun. Troop movements on both sides are reported. Yet, if worse comes to worse, China in her present plight can hardly sustain a serious effort in the remote Sinkiang border — where the Soviets will hardly offer Indian-style opposition.

At home, meanwhile, the quarrel with the Soviets is a plus, since it appeals to the deep Chinese dislike of foreigners. But at home, the Peking leaders have also had their warning, from the strange episode which caused a temporary flood of refugees to pour over this city's border last year.

The course of this episode has at last been reliably traced. It began when the Canton provincial authorities announced a slight relaxation of the rules governing exit permits to Hong Kong, apparently to get rid of potential trouble-makers. It swelled into major trouble when the rigid bureaucracy could not cope with the resulting applications for permits.

There was a riot. The mayor of Canton was attacked in his car; and troops were called out. This alarmed the provincial party secretary, T'ao Chu, so greatly that he ordered the border thrown open, evidently on his own responsibility. The refugee flood began, and was only stopped when the British Embassy in Peking made strong representations to the central authorities.

The fact that the border was then closed is far less important than the other fact that stands out of this story—the fact that as great a big wig as T'ao Chu suffered an obvious though temporary loss of nerve. That is a very unhealthy sign indeed, especially in South China where Chinese trouble traditionally starts.

The Sino-Soviet frontier and South China are in fact the two tangible danger areas for the Peking regime. There is also an intangible danger area, however. Here the danger is that the Communist leaders will at length respond to being frustrated and boxed-in by losing their patience and committing another great act of folly like those already committed.

As already suggested, the Soviet threats to the Chinese frontiers are probably designed to deter another Chinese Communist venture against India. But even if this deterrence works, there are other external adventures which may end by tempting Peking.

It is more likely, however, that the folly will be internal, taking the form, perhaps of abolishing the peasants' private plots or renewing the former squeeze on the countryside in order to pay for resumed industrial effort. Every kind of temptation to unwisdom surrounds the Chinese Communist leadership, in short.

In addition, Mao-Tse-tung is 70, and the inheritance of power will hardly be trouble-free in China's present plight. For all these reasons, though predictions are always hazardous, it is a fair prediction that we have seen only the beginning of the trouble in China. The next 12 months, even the next 24, may be relatively tranquil. The further troubles, when and if they come, may yet be mastered. But it will be very remarkable if bad trouble does not come in the end.

TAX CUT ROADBLOCK — That $11 billion tax cut bill has now safely sailed through the perilous waters of the House and is before the Senate Finance Committee. And there, things are somewhat different than in the House Ways and Means Committee, where Chairman Wilbur Mills was sympathetic to the Kennedy administration proposal.

The chairman of the Senate Committee is that redoubtable old warhorse, Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, the upper chamber's most persistent advocate of economy in government. There's little doubt that the administration has the votes to force a bill onto the Senate floor, but Byrd has his prerogatives and they include holding thorough hearings with many witnesses being asked many questions.

Byrd has made know that he will not attempt to block Senate consideration of the measure. However, he has also made it known that he wants to hear about tax cuts exhaustively, from many people representing all segments of American economic and business life.

At present, Byrd and a small coterie of economy advocates are the principal roadblock to enactment of the measure during this session. President Kennedy and his financial leaders are trying to put pressure on to obtain a final bill by Christmas—a sort of Happy Noel for the U. S. economy.

The administration bill went to the Senate in the wake of a resounding victory in the House which refused to revise it to bar a tax cut if the President exceeded specified government spending limits. Enactment of the proviso would have seriously hampered final passage when the House and Senate versions are compared to reconcile expected differencs.

Even should final enactment not take place until next year, the present plan in Congress is to make the cuts effective retroactively as of Jan. 1, 1964.

The Family Doctor Can Treat Alcoholism

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many alcoholics would take the pledge if they understood fully the reasons why they must stop drinking. Achieving abstinence is not easy but this is what the physician tries to encourage, provided he has the time and patience. Success will not follow threats and exaggerations and nothing is gained by trying to scare an old boozer by telling him that his liver is getting hard (cirrhosis).

Treating an alcoholic is a difficult chore and many physicians throw up their hands in disgust, especially when the goal is in sight and the patient suddenly goes on a bender for no apparent reason. This is to be expected, according to Dr. Robert A. Moore, because alcohol is the only thing of importance left to the drinker.

The possibility of being cured means the loss of his best pal — old John Barleycorn. In addition, many alcoholics are irresponsible and immature emotionally. They are dedicated to their own pleasure and heedless of the pain inflicted on others.

The alcoholic requires the utmost kindness, sympathetic indulgence, and understanding. Many physicians do not have the temperament or inclination to spend the hours required talking and counseling these men and women. These patients are unhappy and feel isolated and depressed.

The home situation must be fully understood because the alcoholic is the family's major problem. All too often its members promote continued drinking by taking an unrealistic attitude or refusing to recognize that the drinker is sick.

Who should take care of the alcoholic? Alcoholics Anonymous is a help but not all drinkers benefit from this spiritual approach. The family physician can do the job, and, in many communities, work with a publicly supported clinic or with a psychiatrist to bring the illness under control. Psychiatric care is needed when the alcoholic becomes psychotic or when severe emotional upsets bring on binges.

TOMORROW: Lung cancers vary.

INFECTED PANCREAS

R. M. writes: Can anything besides alcoholic beverages cause pancreatitis?

REPLY

Yes. Many victims are alcoholics but many more have gall bladder disease, which plays a more logical role. The pancreatic fluid and bile drain into the intestine through a common duct. This connection allows bacteria from the infected gall bladder to travel into the pancreas and induce infection.

SKIN CANCER

L. L. writes: What causes skin cancer on the face, other than too much sun?

REPLY

Other possible causes include irritation from tars, chemicals, and friction. The chimney sweeps of old London, for example, developed malignancies traced to this sort of irritation. But in most instances the cause of skin cancer is not known.

FINGER BITING

C. G. writes: Could you get cancer from biting the skin around the nails?

REPLY

Probably not, but human bites may be followed by infections that can be serious.

SULFUR AND SULFONAMIDES

Mrs. K. writes: What is the difference between sulfa and sulfur?

REPLY

The sulfa drugs are synthetic compounds containing at least one sulfur radical. Sulfur in itself is a yellow element.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

An intellectual young lady, intent upon getting a secretarial job with a famous corporation, secured an interview with one of its vice-presidents, but spoiled it all rattling on about her credentials without giving him an opportunity to open his month. She ended finally by declaring, "Incidentally, I can do 150 words a minute." The V.P. told her, "You underestimate yourself young lady. I clocked you at 300."

A candidate for a high state office was accused by his opponent of merely posing as a "son of very poor parents." "As a matter of fact," thundered the opponent, "my adversary comes from the richest family in his county." The candidate answered calmly, "It's quite true I wasn't born in a log cabin. But we moved to one as soon as we could afford it."

OVERHEARD:

Fight manager to his new heavyweight: "Don't be so terrified. Remember: if he was any good, he wouldn't be fighting you."

Extravagant wife to husband: "Thank goodness, they seem to be giving up on this bill. It's marked, 'Final notice.'"

Was Mrs. Roosevelt Right In Her Criticism Of President Kennedy?

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Two inside administration debeates are now taking place which punctuate Eleanor Roosevelt's one-time statement: "I wish Mr. Kennedy had less profile and more courage."

Mrs. Roosevelt's remark refer-ministration debates are now Courage" and his failure to speak out on Joe McCarthy, but it is echoed by some of his own friends today regarding two important decisions today:

1. Courageous action to prevent the march of Latin American dictators.

2. The sale of wheat to Communist nations.

In regard to both the President has hesitated, delayed and looked so much to Congress for leadership that the Soviet is already picking up flour elsewhere while the march of dictators has pretty well nullified Kennedy's own much-publicized Alliance for Progress.

Here is the inside story of what has happened:

The march of dictators probably dates back to Kennedy's extension of a $100,000,000 credit to the Argentine military after they had kicked out the civilian President. The U. S. ambassador had warned that the credit would be withdrawn if civilian rule was toppled, but Kennedy went ahead with the credit anyway.

If this did not start the march of dictators, certainly JFK's sly wink at the Peruvian military a short time later did. For after U. S. Ambassador James Loeb had argued himself blue in the face warning the Peruvian military they must respect the Peruvian elections, and after the military had battered down President Prado's gates with Sherman tanks anyway, Kennedy proceeded to cut the ground right out from under his ambassador.

He removed Loeb because the Peruvian military didn't like him, and kept him dangling without a job for one year.

Two Foreign Policies

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Rusk and Assistant Secretary Ed Martin had advised no recognition of the new Peruvian regime. While they were advising this policy, however, the wise Peruvian ambassador in Washington, Fernando Berckemeyer, advised his government to the contrary. He got his information from JFK's close friend Charley Bartlett.

What this meant was that there are two sets of foreign policy in the Kennedy administration. There is that recommended by the State Department, and that put into effect regardless of the State Department, by Central Intelligence and the U. S. military.

Up until last week, when the President recalled CIA Chief John H. Richardson from Saigon because he had been undercutting Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge; and when he instructed Major Gen. Theodore Bogart to back up the American ambassador, Charles R. Burrows, in Honduras, JFK appeared to be listening more to the military and the CIA than to his diplomats.

As a result, what the U. S. ambassador says has meant almost nothing and the march of dictators has continued.

President Eisenhower, usually considered a cautious Executive, did not hesitate to land 6,000 Marines and order the entire Sixth Fleet to Lebanon to keep a civilian President of Lebanon in power. But JFK has done nothing in waters much closer to home and more vital to the United States, the Caribbean, even when officially requested to intervene by the government of the Dominican Republic.

Vacillation On Wheat

Regarding the sale of wheat to Communist-bloc countries, the President also had definite advice from the State Department. Secretary Rusk and his East European experts all advised that the sale of wheat and flour to Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Hungary—which officially ordered $60,000,000 worth; and to the Soviet which indicated it wanted $200,000,000 worth, should be OK'd.

It would help the drain on the dollar and start profitable trade with these countries, the State Department recommended.

This was seconded by three Cabinet officers chiefly concerned, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman and Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges and Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon.

Only one Cabinet member was doubtful — Secretary of HEW Anthony Celebrezze, who warned that big city populations would be opposed. He had in mind Hungarians, Polish-Americans and Italo-Americans. Celebrezze was one-time mayor of Cleveland, biggest Hungarian city in the United States.

This gave JFK, who always worries about votes, some pause. He also worries about Republican leaders in Congress. So he instructed his Cabinet members to hold a series of hearings with Congress to try to win its approval. This was done. Congress did not oppose; however, GOP leaders indicated they would not pass a resolution of approval. They were neutral.

So JFK continued to hesitate. If Harry Truman had waited for Congress to OK his aid to Greece and Turkey before going ahead with it, those two countries would be Communist today.

Meanwhile, Russian buyers have been busy picking up odd lots of wheat all over the world and buying American flour, milled by European middlemen. This delay means that the original expected purchase of American wheat will probably be cut in half.

LONDON

The sky lowered. The wind blew cold and raw out of the north. We drove through dark green countryside for what seemed days on our way to Newmarket to watch the Cesarewitch Stakes, one of the better English races.

Newmarket is the flattest country outside Holland I ever saw. The green pastureland stretches to the leaden horizon on all sides. The wind, unhampered by so much as a tree, almost blew us back into the car.

"Coldest spot on earth," said my companion, an Englishman. "Don't know why I come here."

We beat our way into the clubhouse, the wind tearing at the women's hair-do's and piercing the men's overcoats. The dining room was perhaps 10 degrees warmer than outside or about 20 degrees colder than I like it. No wind, anyway.

"My hands have turned black with cold," announced an English lady. We sat there, inspecting the menu and shivering. "Steak and kidney pie," said the English lady. "Good-O." (English expression. Means "good," but only fairishly so.) We waited for the waiter for a long, long time.

"Service is abominable here," said the Englishman. "Never come again."

"You said that last year." said the English lady.

The waiter arrived and hovered. "Steak and kidney pie for five," we said. "The steak and kidney pie is off, announced the waiter jovially. ("Off" — English for "there isn't any more.")

"Off!" said the English lady, speaking pure exclamation points. "At 20 past one! I shall report it to the Jockey Club!"

"Never come again," said the Englishman. "What's left?"

"Fish and chips, sir."

"Outrageous!" said the Englishman.

Outside the wind howled. It was still half-an-hour before the first race, but the stands were filling with imperturable English gentlemen and ladies (that's the order of importance in England) breasting the gale, studying their forms, and looking impassive. The pale ones grew ruddy. The ruddy ones got purple.

We looked out the window at the race course, which stretches practically to the horizon. "The race starts over there," the Englishman said gloomily, pointing to the farthest reaches of nowhere. "Then the horses disappear into those trees for about a half-an-hour. You get a glimpse of them at the finish. About three seconds. Worse race course in the world!"

"I get furious every time I come here," said the English lady.

"Never come again," said the Englishman. "Come, I'll introduce you to my bookie."

We stepped outside into the whistling wind, and proceeded to a row of stands. One bookie was shouting: "Six to one on Astronomer." Next to him was another bookie shouting: "Five to one on Astronomer." Don't know how the second guy could except any business. But he did. In fact, he got ours. "This is Mr. Crosby," introduced the Englishman diffidently.

Well, naturally, one couldn't place one's custom elsewhere after that. I bet five pounds on Astronomer to win and pulled out my wallet. "No, no," said the Englishman, horrified. "He'll send you a bill in due time." Gambling on credit. What a ghastly idea! In America, if you go broke by the fourth race, you go home. There's a loser's train at Belmont for the early losers. Here you could mortgage the children.

"Suppose you don't pay?" I asked.

"After six months they get quite annoyed."

"Then what? Do they sue?"

"Much, much worse. You are asked to resign from all your clubs."

The race began. The horses disappeared behind the trees. The crowd stirred and muttered and grew purpler. Over the loudspeaker the caller reported: "Princess Sobranie is in front. Then comes Sea Leopard, Kanthral, and Horse Radish." He named 12 other horses in a 25-horse race, none of them mine. To this day I don't know what happened to Astronomer, I think he headed for Scotland.

"Never come again," I said.

Later that evening I heard the English lady tell a friend she'd been to the races that day and had had a marvelous time.

An Appeal To Vigilance

The public needs periodically to be reminded of the necessity of fire prevention, so—despite the redundance of special weeks of dubious significance—Fire Prevention Week commends itself to serious consideration by everyone interested in conservation of life and property and avoidance of human distress.

Fire Prevention Week serves to direct popular attention to the devastation caused by fire and to promote cooperation in reducing it. To those who have been through such an ordeal, the experience is unforgettable.

Those who may have yet to face it because of their own failure of responsible precaution appear strangely indifferent to demands of self-interest.

Householders and others in charge of establishments and institutions wherein human life is much at stake should be imbued with timely awareness of the danger of fire and intensive determination to cope with it.

Special attention should be given to individual smoking habits, the reliability of electrical installations, the use and placement of inflammables, and a prearranged pattern of action to deal with the exigency of fire.

Otherwise fire insurance coverage and the summoning of fire apparatus may prove inadequate to limit resultant loss. Everyone should consider what provision has been made to safeguard himself and others around him from fire, and how they might be enabled to cope with such a possible emergency.

These Days

Do We Really Have 'Overkill'?

It would be nice if the experts on nuclear strategy would only tie up the loose ends in their arguments. I say this after having spent a good deal of effort trying to get to the bottom of the theory that insists that we have enough "overkill" to put the Russians out of business many times over.

Here we have Senator Randolph of West Virginia insisting that we have enough atomic warheads in stock and enough delivery strength to obliterate the 140 largest cities in the Soviet Union some 1,250 times, and this assuming that thirty per cent of our rockets and bombing plane power fails to arrive on target. If this is true, it must seem that the U. S. taxpayer is being played for a sucker every time another penny is taken from him to add to the atomic stockpile.

The Senator apparently obtained his figures from Seymour Melman of Columbia University, who breaks down our delivery strength into impressive details. We have, so Dr. Melman tells us, 1,300 strategic bombers, 1,150 navy bombers, and 940 strategic missiles ready to drop 22,000 megatons of explosives on the enemy—or enough to knock out all the cities in the world of 100,000 population 125 times. We could, so the Melman argument runs, take on everybody from the Russians to the Chinese and back to the Cubans and win. Of course, we might have considerable of our own dead to count, and the atomic dust blowing about the world might make the survivors mighty sick, but at least we would not have to truckle to a rapacious victor.

The Senator Randolph-Melman figures, and the others that are comparable to them, have always impressed me. But now comes Dr. Stefan Possony, who has worked with Naval Intelligence and the National War College, to cast the whole theory of "overkill" in doubt. In a report written for the American Security Council, Dr. Possony argues that our 3,350 "delivery vehicles" (planes and missiles added together) would not be utilized primarily to the end of pulverizing Soviet cities. They would have to be turned loose in the first instance against the launching sites and the airfields of the enemy in order to knock out the primary dangers.

Since the Soviets have their own "overkill," it would be a question of one nation's "overkill" being used to hunt down and destroy the "overkill" of the other. This means that big cities on both sides would be ignored for the simple reason that they are not military objectives. The question becomes one of having enough bombs and vehicles around to take care of the enemy's "hardened delivery sites," which are spotted all over, presumably often far away from cities.

According to Dr. Possony's calculations, the Soviet Union has 200 long-range and 1,400 medium-range bombers, eighty-five intercontinental ballistic missiles, 700 medium-range ballistic missiles, and 100 to 200 missiles available for launching from submarines. Dr. Possony doesn't think the Russians would go to war with the U. S. with fewer than 300 intercontinental missiles ready to fire at us.

But when the Russians do reach the point of possessing 300 long-distance atomic killers, the U. S. might be hard put to it to assemble enough delivery strength of its own to negate the enemy's power.

Instead of "overkilling" civilians in cities, our bombers and rocket delivery men would have to turn their attention to such details as suppressing the enemy's anti-craft defenses in order to get our own bombs in. Just suppose, says Dr. Possony, that the Soviet Union has 750 ground-to-air and anti-missile rocket sites. Add to these his 100 airbases, his launching sites for 300 intercontinental missiles and 700 medium-range missiles, and figure out the number of targets our own atomic force would have to pulverize before it could even turn its attention to cities. There would be 1,850 targets before a single city or munitions plant could be touched —and with two warheads allowed per target, the figure needed for almost certain "kill," a total of 3,700 "delivery vehicles" would be engaged merely to keep the enemy from continuing to retaliate.

Well, what does this sort of analysis do to the Senator Randolph-Seymour Melman theory that our 3,350 existing "delivery vehicles," many of which are becoming obsolescent, are enough to "overkill" the enemy 1,250 times? I'm sure that Dr. Possony hasn't disposed of the theory of "overkill," for people will be uselessly poisoned in any kind of atomic war, but he will require some answering.

Was Mrs. Roosevelt Right In Her Criticism Of President Kennedy?

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Two inside administration debeates are now taking place which punctuate Eleanor Roosevelt's one-time statement: "I wish Mr. Kennedy had less profile and more courage."

Mrs. Roosevelt's remark refer-ministration debates are now Courage" and his failure to speak out on Joe McCarthy, but it is echoed by some of his own friends today regarding two important decisions today:

1. Courageous action to prevent the march of Latin American dictators.

2. The sale of wheat to Communist nations.

In regard to both the President has hesitated, delayed and looked so much to Congress for leadership that the Soviet is already picking up flour elsewhere while the march of dictators has pretty well nullified Kennedy's own much-publicized Alliance for Progress.

Here is the inside story of what has happened:

The march of dictators probably dates back to Kennedy's extension of a $100,000,000 credit to the Argentine military after they had kicked out the civilian President. The U. S. ambassador had warned that the credit would be withdrawn if civilian rule was toppled, but Kennedy went ahead with the credit anyway.

If this did not start the march of dictators, certainly JFK's sly wink at the Peruvian military a short time later did. For after U. S. Ambassador James Loeb had argued himself blue in the face warning the Peruvian military they must respect the Peruvian elections, and after the military had battered down President Prado's gates with Sherman tanks anyway, Kennedy proceeded to cut the ground right out from under his ambassador.

He removed Loeb because the Peruvian military didn't like him, and kept him dangling without a job for one year.

Two Foreign Policies

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Rusk and Assistant Secretary Ed Martin had advised no recognition of the new Peruvian regime. While they were advising this policy, however, the wise Peruvian ambassador in Washington, Fernando Berckemeyer, advised his government to the contrary. He got his information from JFK's close friend Charley Bartlett.

What this meant was that there are two sets of foreign policy in the Kennedy administration. There is that recommended by the State Department, and that put into effect regardless of the State Department, by Central Intelligence and the U. S. military.

Up until last week, when the President recalled CIA Chief John H. Richardson from Saigon because he had been undercutting Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge; and when he instructed Major Gen. Theodore Bogart to back up the American ambassador, Charles R. Burrows, in Honduras, JFK appeared to be listening more to the military and the CIA than to his diplomats.

As a result, what the U. S. ambassador says has meant almost nothing and the march of dictators has continued.

President Eisenhower, usually considered a cautious Executive, did not hesitate to land 6,000 Marines and order the entire Sixth Fleet to Lebanon to keep a civilian President of Lebanon in power. But JFK has done nothing in waters much closer to home and more vital to the United States, the Caribbean, even when officially requested to intervene by the government of the Dominican Republic.

Vacillation On Wheat

Regarding the sale of wheat to Communist-bloc countries, the President also had definite advice from the State Department. Secretary Rusk and his East European experts all advised that the sale of wheat and flour to Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Hungary —which officially ordered $60,000,000 worth; and to the Soviet which indicated it wanted $200,000,000 worth, should be OK'd.

It would help the drain on the dollar and start profitable trade with these countries, the State Department recommended.

This was seconded by three Cabinet officers chiefly concerned, Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman and Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges and Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon.

Only one Cabinet member was doubtful — Secretary of HEW Anthony Celebrezze, who warned that big city populations would be opposed. He had in mind Hungarians, Polish-Americans and Italo-Americans. Celebrezze was one-time mayor of Cleveland, biggest Hungarian city in the United States.

This gave JFK, who always worries about votes, some pause. He also worries about Republican leaders in Congress. So he instructed his Cabinet members to hold a series of hearings with Congress to try to win its approval. This was done. Congress did not oppose; however, GOP leaders indicated they would not pass a resolution of approval. They were neutral.

So JFK continued to hesitate. If Harry Truman had waited for Congress to OK his aid to Greece and Turkey before going ahead with it, those two countries would be Communist today.

Meanwhile, Russian buyers have been busy picking up odd lots of wheat all over the world and buying American flour, milled by European middlemen. This delay means that the original expected purchase of American wheat will probably be cut in half.

Red China's Troubles: Much More To Come

By Joseph Alsop

HONG KONG

The first question to ask about any government which is frustrated and boxed-in is how the particular men who lead this particular government are likely to respond to their predicament. The possible responses range from morose resignation to hysterical rebellion.

The Chinese Communist leaders have been passing the word that their response will verge on morose resignation. They have now faced the fact, they tell all and sundry, that another quarter-century will be needed to realize their ambitions for China. But the paranoiac record of the last five years hardly suggests that Mao Tse-tung and his aging, angry colleagues will find it easy to be as patient as they swear they are going to be.

Paranoiac is a hard word to use of any great nation's government. But consider the phases of the bitter Sino-Soviet quarrel. The symptoms of something very close to paranoia in Peking all but leap to the eye.

In the first phase, the quarrel centered on Chinese internal policy. The Chinese decided on their "great leap forward." The Soviets warned that it would be disastrous, and even sought to secure a policy reversal through Marshal Peng Teh-huai. The intervention failed. The disaster ensued, as forecast.

Whereupon the Chinese leaders reacted to this disaster of their own making by beginning to press the Soviet leaders to take the kind of risks that would have led to a thermonuclear war. If one can trust the Moscow documents, the Chinese all but argued that it should not matter much if the whole world were reduced to heaps of rubble since the Chinese heap would then be as high as any other, if not higher; and so China would find her rightful place again. This led on to the present rupture.

Both in the "great leap" program itself and in the second-phase response to its dreadful failure, there was obviously something not quite sane or normal. And now these same men who tried one hideously drastic remedy, and then pressed for another remedy even more hideous and drastic, are not merely frustrated and boxed-in. They are in some danger.

They are in danger abroad because the Soviets have it in their power to exercise an almost uncontainable pressure on China's northwestern frontiers. This pressure on Sinkiang province already seems to have begun. Troop movements on both sides are reported. Yet, if worse comes to worse, China in her present plight can hardly sustain a serious effort in the remote Sinkiang border — where the Soviets will hardly offer Indian-style opposition.

At home, meanwhile, the quarrel with the Soviets is a plus, since it appeals to the deep Chinese dislike of foreigners. But at home, the Peking leaders have also had their warning, from the strange episode which caused a temporary flood of refugees to pour over this city's border last year.

The course of this episode has at last been reliably traced. It began when the Canton provincial authorities announced a slight relaxation of the rules governing exit permits to Hong Kong, apparently to get rid of potential trouble-makers. It swelled into major trouble when the rigid bureaucracy could not cope with the resulting applications for permits.

There was a riot. The mayor of Canton was attacked in his car; and troops were called out. This alarmed the provincial party secretary, T'ao Chu, so greatly that he ordered the border thrown open, evidently on his own responsibility. The refugee flood began, and was only stopped when the British Embassy in Peking made strong representations to the central authorities.

The fact that the border was then closed is far less important than the other fact that stands out of this story—the fact that as great a big wig as T'ao Chu suffered an obvious though temporary loss of nerve. That is a very unhealthy sign indeed, especially in South China where Chinese trouble traditionally starts.

The Sino-Soviet frontier and South China are in fact the two tangible danger areas for the Peking regime. There is also an intangible danger area, however. Here the danger is that the Communist leaders will at length respond to being frustrated and boxed-in by losing their patience and committing another great act of folly like those already committed.

As already suggested, the Soviet threats to the Chinese frontiers are probably designed to deter another Chinese Communist venture against India. But even if this deterrence works, there are other external adventures which may end by tempting Peking.

It is more likely, however, that the folly will be internal, taking the form, perhaps of abolishing the peasants' private plots or renewing the former squeeze on the countryside in order to pay for resumed industrial effort. Every kind of temptation to unwisdom surrounds the Chinese Communist leadership, in short.

In addition, Mao-Tse-tung is 70, and the inheritance of power will hardly be trouble-free in China's present plight. For all these reasons, though predictions are always hazardous, it is a fair prediction that we have seen only the beginning of the trouble in China. The next 12 months, even the next 24, may be relatively tranquil. The further troubles, when and if they come, may yet be mastered. But it will be very remarkable if bad trouble does not come in the end.

TAX CUT ROADBLOCK — That $11 billion tax cut bill has now safely sailed through the perilous waters of the House and is before the Senate Finance Committee. And there, things are somewhat different than in the House Ways and Means Committee, where Chairman Wilbur Mills was sympathetic to the Kennedy administration proposal.

The chairman of the Senate Committee is that redoubtable old warhorse, Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, the upper chamber's most persistent advocate of economy in government. There's little doubt that the administration has the votes to force a bill onto the Senate floor, but Byrd has his prerogatives and they include holding thorough hearings with many witnesses being asked many questions.

Byrd has made know that he will not attempt to block Senate consideration of the measure. However, he has also made it known that he wants to hear about tax cuts exhaustively, from many people representing all segments of American economic and business life.

At present, Byrd and a small coterie of economy advocates are the principal roadblock to enactment of the measure during this session. President Kennedy and his financial leaders are trying to put pressure on to obtain a final bill by Christmas—a sort of Happy Noel for the U. S. economy.

The administration bill went to the Senate in the wake of a resounding victory in the House which refused to revise it to bar a tax cut if the President exceeded specified government spending limits. Enactment of the proviso would have seriously hampered final passage when the House and Senate versions are compared to reconcile expected differences.

Even should final enactment not take place until next year, the present plan in Congress is to make the cuts effective retroactively as of Jan. 1, 1964.

The Family Doctor Can Treat Alcoholism

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many alcoholics would take the pledge if they understood fully the reasons why they must stop drinking. Achieving abstinence is not easy but this is what the physician tries to encourage, provided he has the time and patience. Success will not follow threats and exaggerations and nothing is gained by trying to scare an old boozer by telling him that his liver is getting hard (cirrhosis).

Treating an alcoholic is a difficult chore and many physicians throw up their hands in disgust, especially when the goal is in sight and the patient suddenly goes on a bender for no apparent reason. This is to be expected, according to Dr. Robert A. Moore, because alcohol is the only thing of importance left to the drinker.

The possibility of being cured means the loss of his best pal — old John Barleycorn. In addition, many alcoholics are irresponsible and immature emotionally. They are dedicated to their own pleasure and heedless of the pain inflicted on others.

The alcoholic requires the utmost kindness, sympathetic indulgence, and understanding. Many physicians do not have the temperament or inclination to spend the hours required talking and counseling these men and women. These patients are unhappy and feel isolated and depressed.

The home situation must be fully understood because the alcoholic is the family's major problem. All too often its members promote continued drinking by taking an unrealistic attitude or refusing to recognize that the drinker is sick.

Who should take care of the alcoholic? Alcoholics Anonymous is a help but not all drinkers benefit from this spiritual approach. The family physician can do the job, and, in many communities, work with a publicly supported clinic or with a psychiatrist to bring the illness under control. Psychiatric care is needed when the alcoholic becomes psychotic or when severe emotional upsets bring on binges.

TOMORROW: Lung cancers vary.

INFECTED PANCREAS

R. M. writes: Can anything besides alcoholic beverages cause pancreatitis?

REPLY

Yes. Many victims are alcoholics but many more have gall bladder disease, which plays a more logical role. The pancreatic fluid and bile drain into the intestine through a common duct. This connection allows bacteria from the infected gall bladder to travel into the pancreas and induce infection.

SKIN CANCER

L. L. writes: What causes skin cancer on the face, other than too much sun?

REPLY

Other possible causes include irritation from tars, chemicals, and friction. The chimney sweeps of old London, for example, developed malignancies traced to this sort of irritation. But in most instances the cause of skin cancer is not known.

FINGER BITING

C. G. writes: Could you get cancer from biting the skin around the nails?

REPLY

Probably not, but human bites may be followed by infections that can be serious.

SULFUR AND SULFONAMIDES

Mrs. K. writes: What is the difference between sulfa and sulfur?

REPLY

The sulfa drugs are synthetic compounds containing at least one sulfur radical. Sulfur in itself is a yellow element.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

An intellectual young lady, intent upon getting a secretarial job with a famous corporation, secured an interview with one of its vice-presidents, but spoiled it all rattling on about her credentials without giving him an opportunity to open his month. She ended finally by declaring, "Incidentally, I can do 150 words a minute." The V.P. told her, "You underestimate yourself young lady. I clocked you at 300."

A candidate for a high state office was accused by his opponent of merely posing as a "son of very poor parents." "As a matter of fact," thundered the opponent, "my adversary comes from the richest family in his county." The candidate answered calmly, "It's quite true I wasn't born in a log cabin. But we moved to one as soon as we could afford it."

OVERHEARD:

Fight manager to his new heavyweight: "Don't be so terrified. Remember: if he was any good, he wouldn't be fighting you."

Extravagant wife to husband: "Thank goodness, they seem to be giving up on this bill. It's marked, 'Final notice.'"

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a boy, 16, who is going with a great girl. There is only one thing wrong with Jill and I would like your advice on what to do about it. In all the time we've been going together she has never once offered to pay my way to anything. I'd even settle for a Dutch treat once in a while.

I don't want to sound cheap, but when you go out these days it can get pretty expensive. Last week when we were leaving Jill's house her mother said, half joking, "Here's $5—why don't you treat Wally for a change?" Jill looked shocked and answered, "ME pay a boy's way? I wouldn't think of it!"

What I want to know is why wouldn't she think of it? What's wrong with helping out once in a while?

Please print this letter for me and for thousands of other guys who don't have money bushes growing in the front yard.—THIN WALLET WALLY

DEAR THIN WALLY: To you, and to those thousands of other guys who are suffering from shell-out falter, I would like to say this: In our society it is customary for the male to pay for himself and his lady.

It is perfectly acceptable for the girl to crash through with tickets now and then, particularly if the boy has taken her out a lot. But no self-respecting male would want to be handed a $5 bill by his girl, nor would he want her to dig into her purse at the box office window.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our lovely daughter was married to a no-good bum for almost two years. She tried every which way to get him straightened around but it was useless. Finally our own minister advised her to get a divorce. So she did.

After she filed suit for a divorce she discovered she was pregnant. The baby is due any time now. Of course her ex-husband is the father of the child but she doesn't know how to word the baby announcements. Should she say "Mr. and Mrs. ..... announce the birth of ....." or should it just be "Mrs. ..... announces ....." since she is no longer married to him?

Please set us straight. She is deeply concerned. — NEEDING INFORMATION

DEAR NEEDING: Under the circumstances your daughter should skip the announcements. Friends and family will not need to be informed by mail.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are in our middle 60s. We've both worked hard all our lives and now that we are at the stage where we could take things easier our kids won't let us.

Every time we turn around somebody needs a loan. Last week our oldest son and his wife came over—depressed. They are "dead tired and need a vacation," but can't afford it. Will we loan them $400 so they can go to Puerto Rico for two weeks?

They owe bills all over town yet they talk about taking a vacation on borrowed money. They still owe us $300 which they borrowed to get their furniture out of storage.

My husband says we should let them have the money or they will think we are stingy and mean. If they needed it for an emergency I would say "yes," but I don't feel that we should lend them money for a vacation. What do you say? — STINGY AND MEAN????

DEAR MOTHER: I say let them repay the $300 they owe you and when they can look the rest of their creditors in the eye they should save toward that vacation in Puerto Rico. It's a heavenly spot—and they ought to go—but not on your money.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hunters Fly Into Country At Dam 5

Two West Virginia hunters traveling in a seaplane entered the United States via Dam No.5 in Washington County at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday, State Police reported.

The pilot, Richard Harold Benson, Pickens, W. Va., and his passenger, David Thomas Judy, Elkins, W. Va., had been moose hunting in Canada. When they attempted a landing at Albany, N. Y., high winds forced them to seek another spot. They landed in the Potomac River.

Nothing unusual was found in the routine customs inspection by State Police — except one dead moose.

Finnigan's Hollywood

BY JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Edward Everett Horton has found the fountain of youth in Hollywood, the last place anybody would think to look.

Edward Everett is truly filmland's Ponce de Leon.

Mr. Horton is celebrating his 53rd year as an actor. Very few stars can make that claim. And if they could, most of them wouldn't admit it.

The venerable Mr. Horton doesn't feel it's anybody's business but his own.

"I'm not 90," he says when asked his age. Coming from him such a remark is not offensive.

"I've been acting ever since I got out of college in 1910," Edward says, lifting the veil of secrecy a bit. "I was in the chorus with Wallace Beery, right next to him. It was a musical comedy called 'The Newlyweds and Their Baby.' "

Both Horton and Beery went on to better things.

Horton is a master of farce comedy, a form of drama in which he often appears in theaters around the country.

"A comedy is a play written for the stage around a situation that could happen," he says. "A farce is a play written around a situation that couldn't possibly happen, but played with such realism and good acting that you are convinced it's happening at the moment."

Horton, currently appearing in the Hollywood stage production of "Miss Pell is Missing," was on tour this summer.

"I'm on the fifth of my ten farewell tours," he says. "I did three plays this summer. You know, I've done 'Springtime for Henry' over 200 times since 1933. Any play I enjoy doing, I do. I enjoy doing a play in which I'm the brother in law, uncle or distant relative. The uncle is usually a little cracked."

Horton lives in a large home in the San Fernando Valley near Hollywood. He purchased he land in 1924 before the freeways took over that onetime rural area. In fact, the freeway is built on land where once stood Horton's tennis court.

"I still play tennis," says Edward who has since found another court. "Of course it's not tennis in the accepted sense. The ball is hit wherever I am. None of that running around nonsense."

Horton has plenty of opportunity to work, and gives no thought to retiring.

"The only time an actor retires is when nobody asks him to work," Edward said.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	4 ♡
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ◇

When confronted with a choice of finesses and the opportunity to attempt only one of these, declarer may find himself subjected to considerable mental coin tossing. South in today's hand confined his anguish to the bare minimum by selecting a line of play that involved the least amount of guesswork.

East opened the bidding in third position with one club, and South leaped directly to four hearts. He held the values to attempt a game contract and resolved not to dally along the way. West's double was, in part, an expression of frustration at having been shut out of the auction.

West led the king of diamonds and South found himself in dummy for the first and last time with finessing positions available in two suits. He could lead a spade and play the queen from his hand in the hope that East had the king. Or, he could take a deep finesse of the ten, playing West for the king and East for the jack. Finally, he could lead a heart and finesse against the queen.

On the basis of the bidding it was rather difficult to place the adversely held honors in the major suits. But one thing was clear to South. Even if he were lucky enough to guess the location of the spade honors, he would still have to lose two spade tricks unless that suit divided three-three which is somewhat against the odds.

On the other hand, if the heart finesse succeeded, he could afford to give up two spade tricks. The nine of hearts was accordingly led, and South played the jack from his hand. When this held, he proceeded to draw two more trumps. After a couple of extra rounds of hearts on which the opponents discarded only diamonds and clubs, declarer turned his attention to the spade suit. He led the ace and a small spade. When West's king appeared, South's queen became established for his 10th trick.

Observe that, inasmuch as the spade honors were split, South could hold his losses in the suit to two tricks even tho he was obliged to lead from his hand. Had he tried a spade finesse from dummy, he would have lost two spades even if he plays West for the king. This along with losers in hearts and clubs would have sent him down to defeat.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a boy, 16, who is going with a great girl. There is only one thing wrong with Jill and I would like your advice on what to do about it. In all the time we've been going together she has never once offered to pay my way to anything. I'd even settle for a Dutch treat once in a while.

I don't want to sound cheap, but when you go out these days it can get pretty expensive. Last week when we were leaving Jill's house her mother said, half joking, "Here's $5—why don't you treat Wally for a change?" Jill looked shocked and answered, "ME pay a boy's way? I wouldn't think of it!"

What I want to know is why wouldn't she think of it? What's wrong with helping out once in a while?

Please print this letter for me and for thousands of other guys who don't have money bushes growing in the front yard.—THIN WALLET WALLY

DEAR THIN WALLY: To you, and to those thousands of other guys who are suffering from shell-out falter, I would like to say this: In our society it is customary for the male to pay for himself and his lady.

It is perfectly acceptable for the girl to crash through with tickets now and then, particularly if the boy has taken her out a lot. But no self-respecting male would want to be handed a $5 bill by his girl, nor would he want her to dig into her purse at the box office window.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our lovely daughter was married to a no-good bum for almost two years. She tried every which way to get him straightened around but it was useless. Finally our own minister advised her to get a divorce. So she did.

After she filed suit for a divorce she discovered she was pregnant. The baby is due any time now. Of course her ex-husband is the father of the child but she doesn't know how to word the baby announcements. Should she say "Mr. and Mrs. ..... announce the birth of ....." or should it just be "Mrs. ..... announces ....." since she is no longer married to him?

Please set us straight. She is deeply concerned. — NEEDING INFORMATION

DEAR NEEDING: Under the circumstances your daughter should skip the announcements. Friends and family will not need to be informed by mail.

On the basis of the bidding it was rather difficult to place the adversely held honors in the major suits. But one thing was clear to South. Even if he were lucky enough to guess the location of the spade honors, he would still have to lose two spade tricks unless that suit divided three-three which is somewhat against the odds.

On the other hand, if the heart finesse succeeded, he could afford to give up two spade tricks. The nine of hearts was accordingly led, and South played the jack from his hand. When this held, he proceeded to draw two more trumps. After a couple of extra rounds of hearts on which the opponents discarded only diamonds and clubs, declarer turned his attention to the spade suit. He led the ace and a small spade. When West's king appeared, South's queen became established for his 10th trick.

Observe that, inasmuch as the spade honors were split, South could hold his losses in the suit to two tricks even tho he was obliged to lead from his hand. Had he tried a spade finesse from dummy, he would have lost two spades even if he plays West for the king. This along with losers in hearts and clubs would have sent him down to defeat.

County Library Circulates More Books In September

Circulation of the Allegany County Library in September totaled 20,291, some six per cent more than the figure for September 1962, according to figures released by Rollin P. Marquis, who assumed duties here August 1 as the new county librarian.

Although the circulation was 1,150 more than the total for September 1962, it was 61 fewer than the 20,352 of the previous month.

Largest September circulation was at the Frostburg branch which distributed 4519 books compared with 3345 in September a year ago. The main library opposite the Court House in Cumberland dropped from September 1962's 5141 to 4345.

A drop in circulation also was recorded for the bookmobile but Mr. Marquis explained that it was out of circulation for a week last month while it was being repainted. The bookmobile circulation still was 4120 compared with 4838 in September 1962.

Another increase was noted by the Pennsylvania Avenue School branch which had a circulation last month of 4015 compared with 2704 in September a year ago. Also higher than in September 1962 was the circulation of the LaVale branch, up from 1714 to 1975 books.

The third unit with a lower circulation last month was the Westernport branch, down from 1400 in September 1962 to 1317.

Mr. Marquis' report also showed 449 new library registrants last month. Of this total 157 were added at the main library, 117 at Frostburg, 113 by the bookmobile, 45 at LaVale and 17 at Westernport.

September circulation also included 465 periodicals, 182 distributed from the main library and 283 from Penn Avenue. Three films were circulated from the main library.

Library circulation in September was higher in three of the four categories. It was up in adult fiction, from 4123 to 4280, in adult non-fiction from 2117 to 3721 and in juvenile non-fiction from 3480 to 3655. Only in juvenile fiction was the circulation lower. Here it fell from 9422 to 8635.

Bob Hope stars Friday nights on NBC-TV

Bob Hope (speaking for Uncle Sam) gives our newspaperboys an "Oscar"

If it were up to me to decide the Oscars (am I kidding?), I'd give one to America's newspaperboys for their performance.

I mean their day-after-day performance, fair weather or foul, delivering papers and good cheer to their customers. Learning how to be good neighbors and good businessmen, too.

But what I'm really here for is to tell you what a job newspaperboys have done for the Treasury Department — helping to promote U.S. Savings Bonds and Stamps, and buying plenty themselves out of their earnings.

They've found Bonds a great way to save for a college education — and as you and I know, they're a great way to keep our country strong, too.

So this is Bob (Uncle Sam) Hope saying thanks for all of us to all you newspaperboys — our Hope (if you'll pardon the expression) of the future.

Quick facts about U.S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity
- You can get your money anytime
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed, or stolen
- You can save automatically on Payroll Savings where you work

COOK'S TOUR

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI) — Poor eating habits plus too little exercise add up to trouble for school children, says The Nutrition Foundation.

Both factors lead to overweight, a problem facing an estimated one in five American children, or obesity, which afflicts one in six.

The foundation, a research organization, defines overweight as 10 to 20 per cent excess weight, and obesity, as 20 per cent or more excess weight.

Studies show that pupils who either skip breakfast or eat an inadequate one do less work or poorer work in school, said the foundation. Their efficiency in late morning may drop as much as 25 per cent. A child who then eats a candy bar to make up for the missed meal is caught in a vicious circle that also spoils his appetite for a proper lunch.

Snack Doesn't Hurt

The foundation added that an occasional candy bar or other sweet snack is not harmful if the snacks are counted as part of the daily nutritional pattern.

But they should not be substituted for growth and development foods, which fall into these four categories — meat, poultry, fish and eggs; bread and cereal; fruits and vegetables; and milk, cheese and other dairy foods.

Poor schoolwork and classroom difficulties may be only a warning of later problems, said the foundation. Research scientists now theorize that food patterns established between the ages of one and 12 may be responsible partly for degenerative diseases in middle age and later.

Parental guidance is a must in these developing years, said the experts. Some children can judge how much food their bodies need, but they are not capable of estimating the amounts of sweets required or of selecting a well-balanced diet.

Weight Watchers

Surveys show that overweight children respond best to a sympathetic approach, since most are keenly aware that their weight puts them at a disadvantage in social events, games and sports.

The foundation suggested that appeals to girls be based on improved appearance and grooming; to boys, on increased skill in games and sports. The latter serve a double purpose — they burn up calories and make the players feel they no longer are isolated because of their overweight.

Some nutrition experts believe that increased physical activity is more important than restricted food intake in many cases of childhood obesity. Today's children tend to ride both to and from school, but their parents or grandparents walked.

Television also encourages overweight, said the foundation, because children tend to eat while watching.

Heritage and environment also enter the problem. Studies indicate that a child's chances of being obese are 40 per cent greater than normal if one parent is obese, 80 per cent, if both parents are.

Russian Beet Borsch Good Hot Or Cold

The best part, we think, of getting to know another country is getting to know their foods and eating customs. As part of this exchange program, Russians can savor a cone of our irresistible ice cream while we sip a bowl of Beet Borsch. Steamy hot or chilly cold, this creamy good and thick soup satisfies the most hearty of appetites.

Now with our conveniently packaged foods, we can enjoy in minutes, recipes that took a Russian grandmother hours of preparation and cooking time. The beets had to be washed and pared, or cooked in jackets which were later removed. Then, after slowly simmering, the beet broth was sweetened and soured in just right proportions for a tangy blend. Naturally, the borsch had to be made in large quantity, for by the time each member of the family decided if more sweet or sour should be added, there would hardly be enough left for the dinner meal.

Fond of appetizers, the Russian homemaker might begin the meal with herring, sauced with sour cream or pickled and served with nippy onion rings. Dark and chewy rye bread slathered with creamy butter and crisp, fresh cucumber slices would be choice accompaniments.

On a wintry day, the Beet Borsch would be best served piping hot topped with a spoonful of sour cream. But in warm weather, there's nothing quite as refreshing as a bowl of chilled vegetable soup delightfully flavored and decorated by a dollop of sour cream. Pancakes occupy a special place in Russian cuisine. Stuffed and rolled with flavorsome cottage cheese and the fresh ripe berries of the season, then garnished with sour cream, these blini make a satisfying finale for a spring or summer meal.

For fun with foreign fare, try our easy, family-size recipe for Beet Borsch that calls for staples from your grocery shelf: one can cream of vegetable soup and one can sliced beets. Put them together with ourishing milk, vinegar and sugar for sparkling taste and you have as wholesome and tempting a soup as you could hope to find.

BEET BORSCH

6-8 servings

1 can cream of vegtable soup plus enough milk to make 2 cups
2 cups (1-lb. can) sliced beets
2 tablespoons white vinegar
2 tablespoons sugar
2 cups milk, scalding
Dairy sour cream

Place soup, milk, beets, vinegar and sugar in a heavy-duty saucepan and simmer about 10 minutes. Stirring constantly, gradually adds scalding milk. Serve in earthenware-type soup plates. Top each serving with a large dollop of sour cream. Beet Borsch may also be served chilled.

Cheese-Shrimp Rarebit

(Makes eight ⅔-cup servings)

¼ cup butter
1 (pound) loaf Chateau Process Cheese Spread, shredded
1½ cups Homogenized Milk
½ cup cooking sherry*
2 teaspoons dill weed
½ teaspoon dry mustard
2 pounds medium size fresh shrimp, cooked, shelled and cleaned
OR
3 (4-½ounce) cans jumbo shrimp, heated and drained
OR
4 (7-ounce) packages frozen shrimp, cooked according to package directions
8 slices bread, toasted and cut in half diagonally

Place butter and one-third of the shredded cheese in top of double boiler. Cover and cook over boiling water until cheese is melted. Stir in one-half of remaining cheese. Cover and cook until melted. Add remainder of cheese and cook until melted. Remove from heat. Gradually add one-third of the milk at a time while beating with a wire whip. Continue to beat after each addition until mixture is smooth. Add sherry, dill weed and dry mustard. Whip until smooth. Place over boiling water again. Heat mixture about 10 minutes, or until hot; stir occasionally. Stand toast points around sides of serving dish. Alternately add cheese and shrimp, reserving enough shrimp for garnish. Serve hot. Makes 5 cups sauce.

*If desired, omit sherry and increase milk to 2 cups.

Keep prepared shrimp hot by placing in colander over hot water. Yield of prepared shrimp is approximately 3 cups.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

COOK'S TOUR

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI) — Poor eating habits plus too little exercise add up to trouble for school children, says The Nutrition Foundation.

Both factors lead to overweight, a problem facing an estimated one in five American children, or obesity, which afflicts one in six.

The foundation, a research organization, defines overweight as 10 to 20 per cent excess weight, and obesity, as 20 per cent or more excess weight.

Studies show that pupils who either skip breakfast or eat an inadequate one do less work or poorer work in school, said the foundation. Their efficiency in late morning may drop as much as 25 per cent. A child who then eats a candy bar to make up for the missed meal is caught in a vicious circle that also spoils his appetite for a proper lunch.

Snack Doesn't Hurt

The foundation added that an occasional candy bar or other sweet snack is not harmful if the snacks are counted as part of the daily nutritional pattern.

But they should not be substituted for growth and development foods, which fall into these four categories — meat, poultry, fish and eggs; bread and cereal; fruits and vegetables; and milk, cheese and other dairy foods.

Poor schoolwork and classroom difficulties may be only a warning of later problems, said the foundation. Research scientists now theorize that food patterns established between the ages of one and 12 may be responsible partly for degenerative diseases in middle age and later.

Parental guidance is a must in these developing years, said the experts. Some children can judge how much food their bodies need, but they are not capable of estimating the amounts of sweets required or of selecting a well-balanced diet.

Weight Watchers

Surveys show that overweight children respond best to a sympathetic approach, since most are keenly aware that their weight puts them at a disadvantage in social events, games and sports.

The foundation suggested that appeals to girls be based on improved appearance and grooming; to boys, on increased skill in games and sports. The latter serve a double purpose — they burn up calories and make the players feel they no longer are isolated because of their overweight.

Some nutrition experts believe that increased physical activity is more important than restricted food intake in many cases of childhood obesity. Today's children tend to ride both to and from school, but their parents or grandparents walked.

Television also encourages overweight, said the foundation, because children tend to eat while watching.

Heritage and environment also enter the problem. Studies indicate that a child's chances of being obese are 40 per cent greater than normal if one parent is obese, 80 per cent, if both parents are.

Russian Beet Borsch Good Hot Or Cold

The best part, we think, of getting to know another country is getting to know their foods and eating customs. As part of this exchange program, Russians can savor a cone of our irresistible ice cream while we sip a bowl of Beet Borsch. Steamy hot or chilly cold, this creamy good and thick soup satisfies the most hearty of appetites.

Now with our conveniently packaged foods, we can enjoy in minutes, recipes that took a Russian grandmother hours of preparation and cooking time. The beets had to be washed and pared, or cooked in jackets which were later removed. Then, after slowly simmering, the beet broth was sweetened and soured in just right proportions for a tangy blend. Naturally, the borsch had to be made in large quantity, for by the time each member of the family decided if more sweet or sour should be added, there would hardly be enough left for the dinner meal.

Fond of appetizers, the Russian homemaker might begin the meal with herring, sauced with sour cream or pickled and served with nippy onion rings. Dark and chewy rye bread slathered with creamy butter and crisp, fresh cucumber slices would be choice accompaniments.

On a wintry day, the Beet Borsch would be best served piping hot topped with a spoonful of sour cream. But in warm weather, there's nothing quite as refreshing as a bowl of chilled vegetable soup delightfully flavored and decorated by a dollop of sour cream. Pancakes occupy a special place in Russian cuisine. Stuffed and rolled with flavorsome cottage cheese and the fresh ripe berries of the season, then garnished with sour cream, these blini make a satisfying finale for a spring or summer meal.

For fun with foreign fare, try our easy, family-size recipe for Beet Borsch that calls for staples from your grocery shelf: one can cream of vegetable soup and one can sliced beets. Put them together with ourishing milk, vinegar and sugar for sparkling taste and you have as wholesome and tempting a soup as you could hope to find.

BEET BORSCH
6-8 servings

1 can cream of vegtable soup plus enough milk to make 2 cups
2 cups (1-lb. can) sliced beets
2 tablespoons white vinegar
2 tablespoons sugar
2 cups milk, scalding
Dairy sour cream

Place soup, milk, beets, vinegar and sugar in a heavy-duty saucepan and simmer about 10 minutes. Stirring constantly, gradually adds scalding milk. Serve in earthenware-type soup plates. Top each serving with a large dollop of sour cream. Beet Borsch may also be served chilled.

Cheese-Shrimp Rarebit

(Makes eight ⅔-cup servings)

¼ cup butter
1 (pound) loaf Chateau Process Cheese Spread, shredded
1½ cups Homogenized Milk
½ cup cooking sherry*
2 teaspoons dill weed
½ teaspoon dry mustard
2 pounds medium size fresh shrimp, cooked, shelled and cleaned
OR
3 (4-½ounce) cans jumbo shrimp, heated and drained
OR
4 (7-ounce) packages frozen shrimp, cooked according to package directions
8 slices bread, toasted and cut in half diagonally

Place butter and one-third of the shredded cheese in top of double boiler. Cover and cook over boiling water until cheese is melted. Stir in one-half of remaining cheese. Cover and cook until melted. Add remainder of cheese and cook until melted. Remove from heat. Gradually add one-third of the milk at a time while beating with a wire whip. Continue to beat after each addition until mixture is smooth. Add sherry, dill weed and dry mustard. Whip until smooth. Place over boiling water again. Heat mixture about 10 minutes, or until hot; stir occasionally. Stand toast points around sides of serving dish. Alternately add cheese and shrimp, reserving enough shrimp for garnish. Serve hot. Makes 5 cups sauce.

*If desired, omit sherry and increase milk to 2 cups.

Tuna Fondue Savory Blend

The same tuna filling used for sandwiches . . . canned tuna, diced celery, and mayonnaise . . . provides the center layer and topping of a tuna fondue. The tuna blend is spread on slices of bread; the slices are double-decked in a baking pan; and eggs, milk and grated cheese are added. The final dish of golden color and savory flavor has that delicate texture which is called "fondue."

Tuna Fondue

- 2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
- 1 cup finely diced celery
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 8 thin slices bread
- 2 cups milk
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 2 teaspoons worcestershire sauce
- ½ teaspoon tabasco
- ½ cup grated process American cheese

Combine tuna with celery, mayonnaise, mustard and salt. Spread mixture on bread slices. Place 4 of the slices in shallow baking dish; top with 4 remaining tuna-topped slices.

Combine milk with eggs, worcestershire sauce and tabasco; pour over tuna-bread mixture. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees Fahrenheit) 45 minutes.

Surprise Ending

Florida Gold Surprise Dessert calls for packaged vanilla pudding with a "surprise" bottom layer of fruit and an unexpected fillip of orange juice. Prepare 1 package vanilla pudding according to directions. Cool. Sugar lightly 2 cups fresh fruit (berries, seedless grapes, diced peaches) and divide fruit equally in 6 sherbet or parfait glasses. Add 2 tablespoons undiluted frozen Florida orange juice concentrate. Fill glasses with pudding mixture and chill.

To spread thick on split, toasted, buttered buns: Lightly salted canned apple sauce blended with cottage cheese and chopped pimientos.

Tomato Aspic And Cottage Cheese Salad

Fruit compote Beverage

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 2 cups tomato juice
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon celery salt
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 cup (8 ounces) cream-style cottage cheese
- Salad greens

Sprinkle gelatin over 1 cup of the tomato juice is a saucepan. Stir constantly over very low heat until gelatin dissolves and mixture is very hot, do not boil. Remove from heat. At once add the remaining 1 cup cold or room-temperature tomato juice, salt, celery salt and Worcesetershire; stir to blend.

Turn into individual molds and chill until set. Turn out of molds and serve with cottage cheese and salad greens. Makes four servings.

Give a lift to ordinary rice pudding by spooning over it a hot prune syrup made by cooking prune juice with a little cornstarch. One teaspoon cornstarch to a cup of prune juice is a good proportion.

Norway Salad For One

This versatile salad is equally appropriate as an appetizer course with dinner or as a late evening or party snack. To make this easy to prepare snack, simply place about 10 whole Norway sardines on a bed of crisp lettuce leaves. Circle the sardines with quarter sections of hard-boiled eggs and tomatoes. Decorate the sardines with quarter sections of hard-boiled eggs and tomatoes. Decorate with 2 or 3 radish rosettes.

Prune juice blended into whipped cream makes a new and flavory topping for tapioca pudding, gingerbread or baked custard. Dust with nutmeg as a final flourish.

Try Chutney Bananas

Baked bananas are ideal to serve with roast chicken or turkey. Try Chutneyed Bananas: Mix together 3 tablespoons chutney, 2 tablespoons light corn syrup, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 2 tablespoons water. Place 4 medium bananas, green-tipped, in baking dish.

Pour chutney sauce over bananas; dot with 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Bake in 375 degree Fahrenheit oven for 15 minutes or until tender. Baste once or twice. Makes four servings.

Nuts and spice give these baked bananas an interesting new flavor. This recipe for Cashew Bananas makes four servings. Mix together 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and ⅛ teaspoon allspice. Brush 4 medium bananas, green-tipped, with some of this mixture. Roll bananas in ¼ cup chopped salted cashew nuts; arrange in baking dish. Sprinkle with remaining butter mixture. Bake in 370 degree Fahrenheit oven for 15 minutes or until bananas are tender.

What does everyone enjoy either hot or cold? Apple juice, of course! Served icy-chill, it's a perker-upper and refresher. Served bubble hot with maybe a cinnamon stick stirrer, it warms and heartens right down to your toes.

Delicious Delmonicos A Real Treat

These juicy, tender Delmonico steaks are masterpieces for your dinner table. Delmonicos are steaks cut from the beef rib eye. They're perfect for individual servings, the same as club or rib steaks. To be cooked to just the right degree of doneness, broiling is closely timed.

How do you like your steak — rare, medium or well done? Or better yet, how does the man of the household like his?

Can't you just imagine that pleased smile of anticipation when the carving platter with broiled-to-perfection steaks is set before dad?

"Fit for a king!" describes a perfectly broiled steak. The story goes that one day England's King Charles II was served tender pink slices of beef which so pleased him he exclaimed that meat so excellent should be knighted. Unsheathing his sword he laid it on the brown-crusted tenderloin and solemnly declared, "I hereby name thee Sir Loin."

Steaks for broiling include the ever popular sirloin, Porterhouse and T-bone. They provide several servings depending on their cut surface sizbe and their thickness.

The names T-bone and Porterhouse are some times used interchangeably. Actually, a T-bone steak with a large tenderloin is called Porterhouse.

Perfect for individual servings are handsome Delmonico steaks. These are rib eye steaks. Also, there are club and rib steaks and boneless strip steaks. Remember, that all steaks for broiling should be at least 1 inch thick.

Today backyard cookery has become truly an American tradition. According to reports there are more than 15 million families with some type of outdoor cookery equipment.

Dad is usually the one who man's the grill. For this reason it may be that mother need a bit of reviewing on the art of broiling in her range.

Our recipe below gives you the step by step procedure. Broiling is one of the easiest cookery methods. Simply keep in mind that the thicker the steak, the farther it should be from the heat.

You can follow the same broiling time-table for club and rib steaks as for the delmonico steaks.

Porterhouse and sirloin steaks, however, require longer cooking time. For a 1 inch steak allow 20 minutes for rare, 25 for medium; 2 inch steak 40 minutes for rare, 45 for medium.

Broiled Delmonico (Rib Eye) Steaks

Beef Delmonico steaks, cut 1 to 2 inches thick
Salt
Pepper

Set regulator for broiling. Place steak on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so the top of 1-inch steak is 2 to 3 inches from the heat and 2-inch steak is 3 to 5 inches from the heat. When one side is browned, season, turn and finish cooking on the second side. Season.

Steaks cut 1 inch thick require 12 to 15 minutes for rare; 18 to 20 minutes for medium. Steaks cut 2 inches thick require 30 to 35 minutes for rare and 40 to 45 minutes for medium.

Herb Sauce Adds Zest To Patties

Popular all year long, ground beef steps to the front in planning hot-day meals. When the kitchen is warm, easily prepared meat dishes are all the more in demand.

The quickest way to prepare ground beef is the old standby . . . plain hamburger patties. But the creative homemaker likes to add an unusual flair to their presentation.

This idea for Broiled Patties with Herb Sauce takes just an extra minute or two, yet what delectable flavor results! The sauce is simply melted butter or margarine, chopped green onions and thyme. Use the onion tops, if you wish.

Either ground beef or ground lamb may be chosen.

Broiled Patties with Herb Sauce

- 1 pound ground beef or lamb
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 green onions, chopped
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ⅛ teaspoon thyme

Combine ground meat, salt and pepper. Shape into 4 patties about ¾ inch thick. Place on broiler rack so that the top surface of the patties is about 3 inches from the heat. Avocado Tips

Low-Calorie Parfait Salad High In Appetite Appeal

Be fashionable, be smart at your next kaffeeklatsch. Serve a parfait salad, low in calories but high in appetite appeal. Hearty and hefty snacks are just bound to sneak up on you. But tasty low-calorie snacks offer the added pleasure that comes with knowing you won't get caught.

We know that a parfait is a frozen dessert of whipped cream and eggs cooked with syrup and flavoring. But we couldn't resist calling this creamy-good cottage cheese confection a parfait salad. In French, parfait means perfect and we know of no better word to describe this perfectly satisfying and perfectly summery salad.

Protein-rich cottage cheese is layered in a parfait glass with partially thawed frozen raspberries, blueberries and melon balls. Should you prefer fresh fruit, substitute luscious, ripe strawberries, raspberries, cantaloupe or honeydew melon for the frozen fruit. The berries should be lightly sugared, allowed to stand, then drained and the reserved juice used in making the saucy dressing a perfectly delectable blend of tangy sour cream and fruit juice heightened by a touch of grated lemon rind. When using frosted berries, save the plump, slightly frosted ones for attractive top garnish.

In keeping with our low-calorie theme, we suggest sesame wafers, a unique variation of melba toast, for a tasty accompaniment. Honey colored sesame seeds sprinkled atop buttered toasts are oven heated, adding a crunchy coating and nutlike flavor. These wafers may be made in advance, wrapped in aluminum foil or transparent film and stored like crackers.

PARFAIT SALAD
6 Servings

Parfait glasses, 6

- 1 1-pound package frozen raspberries
- 1 12-ounce package frozen melon balls
- 1 cup fresh or frozen blueberries
- 2 pints small curd cottage cheese

SAUCY DRESSING

- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 6 tablespoons drained raspberry juice
- ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind

Partially thaw each fruit separately, reserving raspberry juice. Allowing ⅔ cup cottage cheese for each parfait, layer alternately with raspberries, melon balls and blueberries, beginning and ending with cottage cheese. Garnish with a frozen raspberry, if desired. Pass pitcher of Saucy Dressing* made by blending sour cream with raspberry juice and lemon rind. Serve with Toasted Sesame Wafers.

SESAME WAFERS:

- 12 half-slices melba toast
- Butter, softened
- Preheated 250° oven
- 3 tablespoons sesame seeds

Spread melba toast with butter and sprinkle each half with ¼ teaspoon sesame seeds. Toast in oven 1 hour.

Treat For Dinner: Spaghetti Ravioli

Take a dinner table trip to Italy with Spaghetti Ravioli Skillet. Cook a clove minced garlic in butter a few minutes. Add basil to taste. 2 cans spaghetti with meat balls and 1 can ravioli; mix gently. Cover and heat. Serve sprinkled with thinly sliced green onion tops.

Rosy Snack For A Refrigerator Raid

Next time, "What have we got to eat?" is asked in your house, be ready with a zesty sandwich filling like Blushing Cheese-Beef Spread. Named for its rosy hue, this tangy concoction of stewed tomatoes and Cheddar cheese, sharp or mild, is heated with shredded beef. A slightly beaten raw egg is stirred into the mixture to add extra flavor and to hold the blend together.

Blushing Cheese-Beef Spread may be refrigerator-stored in a covered crock or jar for several weeks . . . keeping its good taste as the day it was prepared. You'll find this spread makes a hearty sandwich for eating any time of the day or night.

If snacking is for your family—what family doesn't like to snack — build a do-it-yourself snack shop. Stock the bread box with assorted breads. There's such a variety to include that no two sandwiches need ever taste alike. Stock up with chewy rye, crunchy whole wheat, crusty French, hard rolls, long buns, onion topped loaves or rolls or whatever kinds best suit your fancy. Crackers of every flavor variety are a must in a snack shop, along with mustard, pickles, catsup and other trimmings.

Open shop near the refrigerator, so it will be only a hand's reach to Blushing Cheese-Beef Spread and the many fine delicatessen cheeses and meats convenient for sandwich fixings.

To make a good sandwich better, spread softened, flavorsome butter to very edge of the bread. This will prevent a sandwich with moist filling from becoming soggy. Milk is a sandwich's best friend. Serve chocolate milk, white or a fruit flavored milk shake for a taste-delight on a hot summer's night.

Blushing Cheese-Beef Spread
Yield: 3½ cups

- 2 cups (1-lb. can) stewed tomatoes
- 2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese
- 1 package (3½ to 4-oz.) dried beef, shredded
- ¼ cup (½ stick) butter
- 1 egg slightly beaten

Heat tomatoes to simmering point; add Cheddar cheese, beef and butter, stirring until melted. Remove from heat and stir in egg. Pour into crock or jar, cover and store in refrigerator. Use as a spread for sandwiches and/or crackers.

NOTE: This spread may be kept in refrigerator several weeks.

Delicious Delmonicos A Real Treat

These juicy, tender Delmonico steaks are masterpieces for your dinner table. Delmonicos are steaks cut from the beef rib eye. They're perfect for individual servings, the same as club or rib steaks. To be cooked to just the right degree of doneness, broiling is closely timed.

How do you like your steak — rare, medium or well done? Or better yet, how does the man of the household like his?

Can't you just imagine that pleased smile of anticipation when the carving platter with broiled-to-perfection steaks is set before dad?

"Fit for a king!" describes a perfectly broiled steak. The story goes that one day England's King Charles II was served tender pink slices of beef which so pleased him he exclaimed that meat so excellent should be knighted. Unsheathing his sword he laid it on the brown-crusted tenderloin and solemnly declared, "I hereby name thee Sir Loin."

Steaks for broiling include the ever popular sirloin, Porterhouse and T-bone. They provide several servings depending on their cut surface sizbe and their thickness.

The names T-bone and Porterhouse are some times used interchangeably. Actually, a T-bone steak with a large tenderloin is called Porterhouse.

Perfect for individual servings are handsome Delmonico steaks. These are rib eye steaks. Also, there are club and rib steaks and boneless strip steaks. Remember, that all steaks for broiling should be at least 1 inch thick.

Today backyard cookery has become truly an American tradition. According to reports there are more than 15 million families with some type of outdoor cookery equipment.

Dad is usually the one who man's the grill. For this reason it may be that mother need a bit of reviewing on the art of broiling in her range.

Our recipe below gives you the step by step procedure. Broiling is one of the easiest cookery methods. Simply keep in mind that the thicker the steak, the farther it should be from the heat.

You can follow the same broiling time-table for club and rib steaks as for the delmonico steaks.

Porterhouse and sirloin steaks, however, require longer cooking time. For a 1 inch steak allow 20 minutes for rare, 25 for medium; 2 inch steak 40 minutes for rare, 45 for medium.

Broiled Delmonico (Rib Eye) Steaks

Beef Delmonico steaks, cut 1 to 2 inches thick
Salt
Pepper

Set regulator for broiling. Place steak on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so the top of 1-inch steak is 2 to 3 inches from the heat and 2-inch steak is 3 to 5 inches from the heat. When one side is browned, season, turn and finish cooking on the second side. Season.

Steaks cut 1 inch thick require 12 to 15 minutes for rare; 18 to 20 minutes for medium. Steaks cut 2 inches thick require 30 to 35 minutes for rare and 40 to 45 minutes for medium.

Herb Sauce Adds Zest To Patties

Popular all year long, ground beef steps to the front in planning hot-day meals. When the kitchen is warm, easily prepared meat dishes are all the more in demand.

The quickest way to prepare ground beef is the old standby . . . plain hamburger patties. But the creative homemaker likes to add an unusual flair to their presentation.

This idea for Broiled Patties with Herb Sauce takes just an extra minute or two, yet what delectable flavor results! The sauce is simply melted butter or margarine, chopped green onions and thyme. Use the onion tops, if you wish.

Either ground beef or ground lamb may be chosen.

Broiled Patties with Herb Sauce

1 pound ground beef or lamb
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 green onions, chopped
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
⅛ teaspoon thyme

Combine ground meat, salt and pepper. Shape into 4 patties about ¾ inch thick. Place on broiler rack so that the top surface of the patties is about 3 inches from the heat. Broil on one side until browned, about 8 minutes. Turn and broil second side until browned, about 5 minutes. Brown green onion lightly in butter or margarine and add thyme. Serve over broiled patties. 4 servings.

Chapel Housing Famed Frescoes By Giotto Almost Collapses At Padua, Italy

PADUA, Italy (UPI) — Some of the world's greatest frescoes were endangered recently when the centuries-old Scrovegni Chapel almost collapsed.

The chapel houses the earliest, most extensive and best preserved works of the great frescoist Giotto.

It stands in a public garden in the center of Padua, not far from the town's main thoroughfare, along which rumbles a constant flow of heavy buses and trucks.

Their reverbration, carried through the soil, had been shaking the walls of the Scrivegni so hard that iron sustaining rods were anchored from wall to wall to keep them from caving in.

On a recent morning inspection, the chapel's custodian found the rods had snapped from the pressure and the building was in danger of collapse.

The entire chapel was then encompassed in a frame of tubular steel scaffolding, to which the roof was attached to keep its weight off the walls. The immediate danger thus relieved, an architectural commission was appointed to decide what to do next to assure the safety of Giotto's works.

The Scrovegni Chapel, also known as the Chapel of the Madonna Dell'Arena, was built in 1303-05 next to a palace that was pulled down in 1820.

It was here that Giotto, painted his revolutionary and enduring frescoes of scenes from the life of the Virgin and of Christ.

Giotto's pictorial inventiveness, volume and composition in these frescoes is matched only in the Upper Basilica Church of Assisi where he painted his cycle of frescoes on the life of St. Francis.

The chapel has stood through thick and thin.

In World War I, small Austrian bombs carried by light planes fell on the city. They missed the chapel.

On a night in March, 1944, a cluster of block busters fell 300 hundred feet from the Scrovegni chapel.

They destroyed the 13th century Augustinian Church of the Ermitani and with it the Ovetari Chapel with its famous frescoes by Mantegna.

But the Scrovegni Chapel was intact. Paduans began to think that the frescoes of Giotto had a charmed life.

That hope is now held up by steel tube scaffolding. But that's only an emergency measure.

Rerouting traffic has been mentioned to remove the cause of the vibration which has weakened the chapel. But Padua is the fastest-growing city in the industrializing north of Italy.

Now, ask the city authorities, can we close our principal artery even to save Giottos? The question must be answered soon. Cities like Padua can grow today, change and build tomorrow. But there is no one any more to paint Giottos.

Chapel Housing Famed Frescoes By Giotto Almost Collapses At Padua, Italy

PADUA, Italy (UPI) — Some of the world's greatest frescoes were endangered recently when the centuries-old Scrovegni Chapel almost collapsed.

The chapel houses the earliest, most extensive and best preserved works of the great frescoist Giotto.

It stands in a public garden in the center of Padua, not far from the town's main thoroughfare, along which rumbles a constant flow of heavy buses and trucks.

Their reverbration, carried through the soil, had been shaking the walls of the Scrivegni so hard that iron sustaining rods were anchored from wall to wall to keep them from caving in.

On a recent morning inspection, the chapel's custodian found the rods had snapped from the pressure and the building was in danger of collapse.

The entire chapel was then encompassed in a frame of tubular steel scaffolding, to which the roof was attached to keep its weight off the walls. The immediate danger thus relieved, an architectural commission was appointed to decide what to do next to assure the safety of Giotto's works.

The Scrovegni Chapel, also known as the Chapel of the Madonna Dell'Arena, was built in 1303-05 next to a palace that was pulled down in 1820.

It was here that Giotto, painted his revolutionary and enduring frescoes of scenes from the life of the Virgin and of Christ.

Giotto's pictorial inventiveness, volume and composition in these frescoes is matched only in the Upper Basilica Church of Assisi where he painted his cycle of frescoes on the life of St. Francis.

The chapel has stood through thick and thin.

In World War I, small Austrian bombs carried by light planes fell on the city. They missed the chapel.

On a night in March, 1944, a cluster of block busters fell 300 hundred feet from the Scrovegni chapel.

They destroyed the 13th century Augustinian Church of the Ermitani and with it the Ovetari Chapel with its famous frescoes by Mantegna.

But the Scrovegni Chapel was intact. Paduans began to think that the frescoes of Giotto had a charmed life.

That dream is now held up by steel tube scaffolding. But that's only an emergency measure.

Rerouting traffic has been mentioned to remove the cause of the vibration which has weakened the chapel. But Padua is the fastest-growing city in the industrializing north of Italy.

Now, ask the city authorities, can we close our principal artery even to save Giottos? The question must be answered soon. Cities like Padua can grow today, change and build tomorrow. But there is no one any more to paint Giottos.

Mets And Colts To Choose Players In Special NL Draft Today

Each Of Other Clubs Has Four Men Available

Last Place Teams To Make Picks Over Telephone

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Hoping for any help that will boost them out of ninth and 10th places, the Houston Colts and New York Mets will draft players from the other National League teams Thursday in a telephone session at 2:30 p.m. EST.

Each of the other eight NL teams has designated four players who may be drafted by the Mets or Colts for $30,000 each.

This special draft was set up by the league at a meeting in Los Angeles last Friday as a means of improving the league's two tail-end teams. Since they were born from the expansion of the league to 10 teams two seasons ago, the Colts have finished ninth twice and the Mets have been 10th twice.

The draft will be held by a round - robin telephone session among the Colts office in Houston, the Mets office in New York, and the league headquarters of league President Warren C. Giles here.

Mets Win Flip

The Mets get first choice, a right they won by a flip of the coin last Friday. Then it's the Colts' turn.

Under the rules, only one player may be drafted from each of the other eight teams unless the team agrees.

Under the rules set up for this special draft, all of the players designed had to be on the teams' major league roster as of Aug. 31. Even so, and although the official list was not announced, it was certain that there were few, if any, big-name players on the list.

The Mets, with first choice, were not tipping their hand. But George Weiss indicated he doesn't expect much help at all from this draft.

"We'll be satisfied if we can get two players who can help us," said Weiss.

Possible Players Listed

Although the official list has not been disclosed, the following players were reported to be on the draft list:

Philadelphia —Third baseman Don Hoak, first baseman Frank Torre, catcher Bob Oldis, pitcher Ryne Duren.

Milwaukee—Pitcher Ron Piche, infielder Lou Klimchock, and outfielders Bob Taylor and Don Dillard.

San Francisco —Pitchers Billy Hoeft, Jack Fisher, and Billy Pierce or Don Larsen, and first baseman Norm Larker.

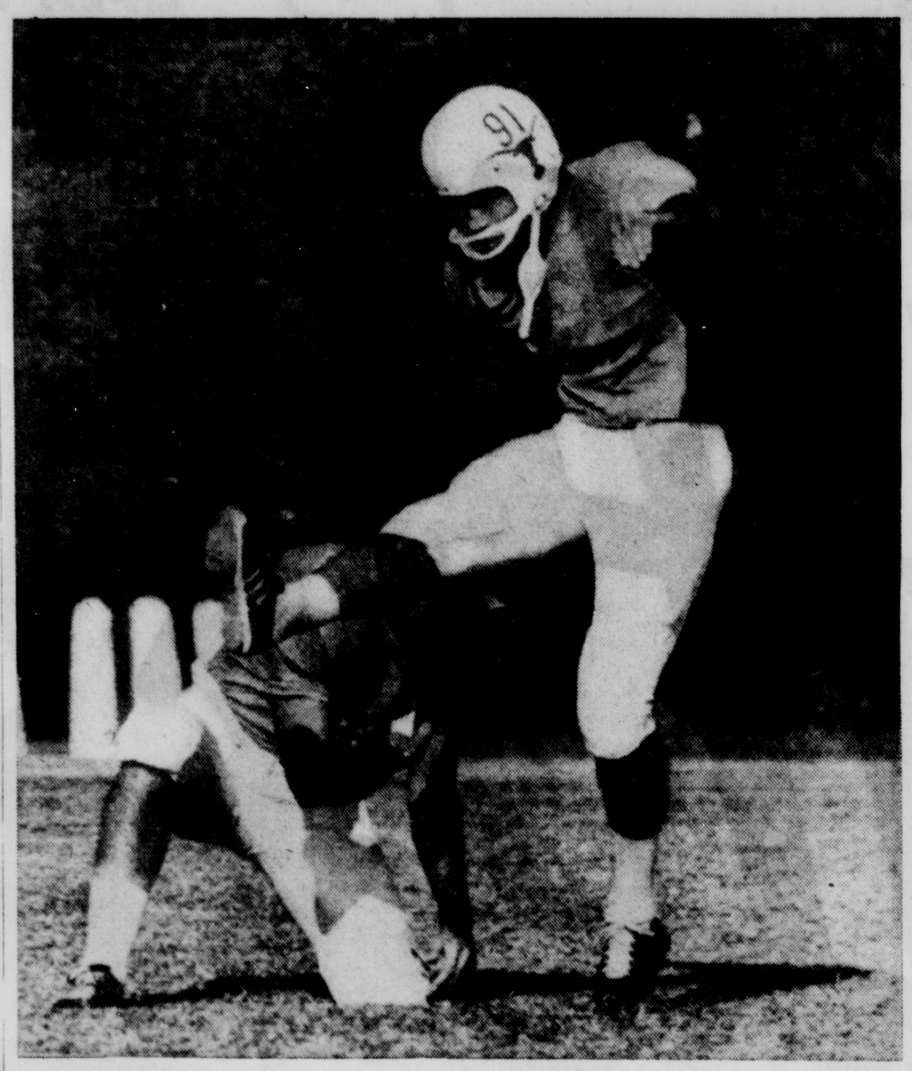
Los Angeles —Outfielder-infielder Lee Walls, pitchers Larry Sherry and Ken Rowe, and infielder Marv Breeding.

Pittsburgh—Outfielder Ted Savage, pitchers Harvey Haddix and Elroy Face, and shortstop Johnny Logan.

St. Louis — Pitchers Bobby Shantz and Sam Jones, catcher Carl Sawatski, and outfielder Mike Shannon.

Cincinnati — Infielder Charlie Neal, outfielders Gene Green and Ken Walters, and pitchers Jim Coates or Dom Zanni.

Chicago—Infielders Steve Boros and Leo Burke, pitcher Jim Brewer, and outfielder Don Landrum.



BAREFOOT BOY WITH SHOE ON — Texas' Tony Crosby, the place-kicking specialist who guides 'em through the uprights with a bare right foot, wears a soft-soled canvas shoe during kicking practice. The number-two rated Longhorns will meet top-rated Oklahoma in Dallas' Cotton Bowl on Saturday, and Crosby's educated toe could make the difference. He has 12 conversions and four field goals without a miss this season and last year his 26-yard field goal gave the Longhorns a 9-6 win over Oklahoma. (AP Photofax)

Stars And Stripes Put Ahead Of Money In Ryder Matches

Lema Says U.S. Players Geared High For Britain

ATLANTA (UPI) —Ex-Marine Tony Lema Wednesday put the Stars and Stripes ahead of the mint in asserting that the money-eyed U.S. Ryder Cup players would gear higher for this week's matches against Britain than they would for the year's richest tournament.

"We all will be playing harder and with more inspiration," he said, "because we're not playing for money but for the glory of the United States. It's an honor we can't treat lightly."

The 10 U.S. players, including Arnold Palmer and Julius Boros, have earned a total of $459,386 on the lucrative pro golf tournaments this year and Lema has banked $64,675 himself.

"Money's nice," grinned Lema, "but while maybe some folks might think I'm waving the flag, this is a tremendous honor to all of us and we intend to play harder than ever in our lives."

There was another incentive, a growing spirit of friendship among the Yanks.

"You can't quite put your finger on it," Lema asserted, "but it's a wonderful feeling to have fellows like Palmer and Boros on your side backing you up, instead of running at you like they do the rest of the year."

Palmer, playing captain of the U.S. team, toured the tight East Lake Country Club course Wednesday in company with Lema, Billy Casper and Johnny Pott.

"Lema and Casper are playing real good," said Palmer. "But we aren't trying to tear the course apart now. We're hitting deliberately into trouble so that we'll know distances and conditions under stress when the matches start."

Boros practiced with Billy Maxwell and Dave Ragan while the three other members of the team, Dow Finsterwald, Gene Littler, and Bob Goalby, played together.

"It's a good group," Palmer said, "and we're all trying to help each other."

Palmer, who has had the driving jitters for several months, said he was hitting his tee shots better and was in a jocular mood.

"We've got a secret weapon," he kidded. "I'll explode the bomb on Friday morning."

Friday is when he tees off with a team which he has already labeled "unbeatable" as the Yanks shoot for their 12th victory in 15 Ryder Cup contests with Great Britain.

The event opens Friday with eight Scotch foursome matches in which the two-man teams take alternate shots as well as alternate drives. They will be followed by eight four-ball matches on Saturday in which each man plays his own ball and low man wins the hole for his side.

It winds up Sunday with a 16-match-play singles. Every match throughout is worth one point, with a half point to each side in event of a draw, meaning that a total of 32 points is at stake.

Closed Circuit TV To Be Installed At Shenandoah

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (Special) — Closed circuit television will be installed for the first time at Shenandoah Downs when the night track opens its 42-program fall meeting Monday, General Manager Robert G. Leavitt said today.

Ten viewers will be placed under the grandstand, in the clubhouse, and in other enclosed areas not having a view of the racing strip to let fans see everything that takes place on the track, Leavitt said. The TV hookup will carry running of the races, a view of the odds board and official results.

Shenandoah will race through November 30 in its third Fall Festival of Racing, offering nine races nightly on its usual schedule. Post time will be at 7:15.

Righting itself following two straight reversals, Keyser High rolled to a 25-0 victory over Moorefield yesterday afternoon in a PVC contest at Stayman Field.

The Tornado gridders, whose 13-game winning streak was snapped by Allegany two weeks ago, posted their fourth 1963 win in six starts and second in three PVC outings. They lost to LaSalle, 18-6, last Friday.

Keyser drove 85 yards for its first score in the opening period, with Ron Hardeman crossing the goal line from five yards out. A 10-yard scoring pass from Tom Condron to Gary Alt gave the Tornado a 12-0 halftime edge.

John Staggers grabbed a blocked punt and carried it 12 yards into paydirt, and Melvin Green bucked over from the one for Keyser's final TDs in the third period. Freshman John Fox kicked an extra point.

Yesterday's game was originally scheduled for tomorrow, but was moved up because of a state teachers' meeting.

Moorefield suffered its fifth loss in six starts, all against PVC foes. The Yellowjackets have been shut out four times.

Crosby's Shoeless Foot Big Asset To Longhorns

Barefoot Kicker Has Perfect PAT, Field Goal Marks

By KYLE THOMPSON
United Press International

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The shoeless right foot of Tony Crosby is well on its way to becoming the most valuable piece of property possessed by the nation's No. 2 football power, the Texas Longhorns.

Crosby and the undefeated Texas team head into Saturday's showdown clash in Dallas against No. 1 ranked Oklahoma with perfect conversion and field goal records after three games.

It was Crosby's 26-yard field goal last year that won the Oklahoma game 9-6 for Texas. And, with both teams boasting impressive defensive records, a good kick could again mean the difference Saturday.

But, while working up his impressive record, Crosby says his toes "stay pretty sore all the time."

He turns up his toes and kicks the ball with the bottom of the big toe and the two next to it.

"I can't get as much power kicking with a shoe on," Crosby claims, "because I can't turn up my toes unless I take off the shoe."

Last year, coach Darrell Royal played Crosby at end some, in addition to his kicking. But, this year Crosby does nothing but kickoffs, extra point tries and field goals.

Crosby credited his improvement over last year to more confidence, and the fact that "I'm averaging around 150 kicks every day in practice."

Crosby's field goals against Tulane carried 27 and 31 yards and last week he booted a pair from 32 and 35 yards out against Oklhoma State.

As far as official playing time is concerned, Crosby hardly ever logs any time on the field. He never plays a down except the one on kickoffs and during field goal attempts. And, those normally last only seconds.

Crosby would rather be kicking extra points than field goals against Oklahoma.

"That would mean we're getting touchdowns and putting it on the Big Red pretty good," he grins.

Friday is when he tees off with a team which he has already labeled "unbeatable" as the Yanks shoot for their 12th victory in 15 Ryder Cup contests with Great Britain.

The event opens Friday with eight Scotch foursome matches in which the two-man teams take alternate shots as well as alternate drives. They will be followed by eight four-ball matches on Saturday in which each man plays his own ball and low man wins the hole for his side.

It winds up Sunday with a 16-match-play singles. Every match throughout is worth one point, with a half point to each side in event of a draw, meaning that a total of 32 points is at stake.

Closed Circuit TV To Be Installed At Shenandoah

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (Special) — Closed circuit television will be installed for the first time at Shenandoah Downs when the night track opens its 42-program fall meeting Monday, General Manager Robert G. Leavitt said today.

Ten viewers will be placed under the grandstand, in the clubhouse, and in other enclosed areas not having a view of the racing strip to let fans see everything that takes place on the track, Leavitt said. The TV hookup will carry running of the races, a view of the odds board and official results.

Shenandoah will race through November 30 in its third Fall Festival of Racing, offering nine races nightly on its usual schedule. Post time will be at 7:15.

Keyser drove 85 yards for its first score in the opening period, with Ron Hardeman crossing the goal line from five yards out. A 10-yard scoring pass from Tom Condron to Gary Alt gave the Tornado a 12-0 halftime edge.

John Staggers grabbed a blocked punt and carried it 12 yards into paydirt, and Melvin Green bucked over from the one for Keyser's final TDs in the third period. Freshman John Fox kicked an extra point.

Yesterday's game was originally scheduled for tomorrow, but was moved up because of a state teachers' meeting.

Moorefield suffered its fifth loss in six starts, all against PVC foes. The Yellowjackets have been shut out four times.

Crosby's Shoeless Foot Big Asset To Longhorns

Barefoot Kicker Has Perfect PAT, Field Goal Marks

By KYLE THOMPSON
United Press International

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — The shoeless right foot of Tony Crosby is well on its way to becoming the most valuable piece of property possessed by the nation's No. 2 football power, the Texas Longhorns.

Crosby and the undefeated Texas team head into Saturday's showdown clash in Dallas against No. 1 ranked Oklahoma with perfect conversion and field goal records after three games.

It was Crosby's 26-yard field goal last year that won the Oklahoma game 9-6 for Texas. And, with both teams boasting impressive defensive records, a good kick could again mean the difference Saturday.

The 21-year-old Crosby, who started his stocking - foot kicking act while a sophomore at Kountze, Tex., High School, has 12 of 12 extra points and four of four field goal attempts to his credit this fall.

But, while working up his impressive record, Crosby says his toes "stay pretty sore all the time."

He turns up his toes and kicks the ball with the bottom of the big toe and the two next to it.

"I can't get as much power kicking with a shoe on," Crosby claims, "because I can't turn up my toes unless I take off the shoe."

Last year, coach Darrell Royal played Crosby at end some, in addition to his kicking. But, this year Crosby does nothing but kickoffs, extra point tries and field goals.

Crosby credited his improvement over last year to more confidence, and the fact that "I'm averaging around 150 kicks every day in practice."

Crosby's field goals against Tulane carried 27 and 31 yards and last week he booted a pair from 32 and 35 yards out against Oklhoma State.

As far as official playing time is concerned, Crosby hardly ever logs any time on the field. He never plays a down except the one on kickoffs and during field goal attempts. And, those normally last only seconds.

Crosby would rather be kicking extra points than field goals against Oklahoma.

"That would mean we're getting touchdowns and putting it on the Big Red pretty good," he grins.

Sport Talk with Troxell by Ted

"RUNNING IS THE PERFECT exercise." This hardly disputable opinion comes from Bob Pence, Allegany County's supervisor of physical education who is most happy with the progress made by the varsity cross country since its introduction here four years ago.

Although cross country is one of the oldest and most international of all sports, it didn't become an organized activity in this county until 1959 when three high schools took up hill-and-dale running on a competitive basis.

Fort Hill beat out Beall and Allegany for the championship in the fall of 1959. Four years later, eight area schools are represented by cross country teams.

Three West Virginia schools (Romney, Elk Garden and Paw Paw) are competing against the Allegany Countians, whose ranks have been joined by Valley and Oldtown.

Pence, a fine physical specimen himself and a fervent backer of President Kennedy's fitness program, would like to see an increase in individual cross country participation.

He points out there is scientific evidence of its extreme value to cardio-vascular efficiency and to the respiratory system. In addition, cross country preparation and the actual running builds muscle tone.

THE ENERGETIC SUPERVISOR wants as many boys as possible to engage in at least one varsity sport, and cross country is the answer for many who lack the ability or size required for football, basketball and the like.

Endurance and timing, rather than speed, are the most important factors in cross country. A boy can develop both by devoting time and effort to a good physical conditioning program.

Toward this end, Pence has introduced cross country into the junior high school physical education courses at all county schools.

The average sports fan knows little about cross country because it is not, basically, a spectator sport. However, some of the finishes staged by the distance runners are as thrilling as a run to the wire in the 100-yard dash.

A cross country course can measure anywhere from one and one-half to three miles. Area meets are conducted at the Fort Cumberland Golf Course, where a two-mile run has been laid out, and at Maplehurst Country Club in Frostburg. The latter course measures more than two miles but less than three.

A cross country team in competition ordinarily consists of seven members. Team scoring is a simple matter, with low score winning the meet.

ALL COMPETITORS FINISHING the race are ranked and tallied, and the team score is determined by totaling the points scored by the first five finishers of each team. A minimum of 15 points is possible.

A team can have the first four finishers but still lose. Last week at Maplehurst, a pair of Beall harriers finished in one-two order but the Mountaineers placed far back of Elk Garden in the final tabulation.

While the sixth and seventh finishers of a team do not score points toward their team's total, their places, if better than any of the first five of an opposing team result in an increased score for that team.

Each year has produced several outstanding individual runners in the area. The best has been Allen Hott, now a senior at Romney High who set the Fort Cumberland course record last season and breaks his own mark at just about every opportunity. Last week, Hott covered the distance in one second under 11 minutes.

Incidentally, there is a coach in the local setup who is a cross country man in more respects than one. Victor McKay, who succeeded Harry Lennox at Allegany this fall, is the director of West Coast bus tours for students in the summer.

YOU MIGHT BE WONDERING where cross country team members practice. It is advised that a safe, challenging, scenic two-mile course be selected. It may wind through woods, farms, cemeteries and parks, and over dirt, grass, macadam and other surfaces.

So if you see a youngster in sweat clothes jogging through your back yard, don't yell, shoot or call the police. He's merely engaging in a wholesome sport, to the delight of Bob Pence, JFK and his coach.

Franks Resigns As Bees' GM

Woman Replaces Franchise-Saver

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Herman Franks, active in organized baseball as a player, coach and executive, resigned Wednesday as general manager of the Salt Lake Bees and was replaced by Mrs. Walter E. Cosgriff.

Mrs. Cosgriff, wife of the late Walter Cosgriff, prominent Rocky Mountain area banker, had already been president of the Bees. She will continue in a dual role of general manager and president.

It is believed she is the first woman in the history of Triple-A baseball to hold such a position.

The announcement was made by the board of directors of the Salt Lake City Baseball Corporation. In asking to be released, Franks, a one-time player and coach for the New York and San Francisco Giants, said it was necessary that he devote full time to his other business interests.

Franks joined the Bee organization in 1961 and was credited with saving the Bee franchise in the Pacific Coast League. He will stay on the board of directors and serve Mrs. Cosgriff in an advisory capacity.

Rumors Have Wilkinson Quitting Coaching Job To Run For Senate

Sooner Mentor Refuses To Deny Or Confirm Story

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Charles "Bud" Wilkinson refused to confirm or deny a copyright newspaper story Wednesday that he will resign Jan. 1 as Oklahoma Football Coach and seek the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate.

The 47-year-old silver - haired coach, whose top - rated Sooners meet No. 2 Texas at Dallas Saturday, appeared irritated by the story, which appeared in the Tulsa, Okla., Tribune.

"I think it is foolish to waste time in this manner," he said, "especially when we are getting ready to play Texas. It is unfortunate this keeps coming up."

"If I did reply it would be the same thing I have said all long," he said. "All I can say is no comment. It is ridiculous to reply. I don't know who keeps putting these things out. It's disturbing to the football team."

A newsman asked: "Why don't you just say you will not be a candidate and squelch all these rumors?"

"That," Wilkinson replied, "is like saying, 'are you going to leave Oklahoma, or have you stopped beating your wife?' I've been answering rumors like this for 10 years."

The Tribune stated it had learned from "unimpeachable sources" that Wilkinson, a Democrat, would resign Jan. 1, switch party affiliation and file for U.S. Senate as a Republican in February.

Next year's election is to select a successor to serve the remaining two years of the late Robert S. Kerr's term. J. Howard Edmondson, Democrat, who had himself appointed from governor to the Senate after Kerr died last January, will seek to retain the post.

Bo Belinsky Signs Angels Pact For '64

Playboy Has Long Talk With Haney

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Bo Belinsky, the playboy pitcher exiled to Hawaii in 1963 and a dog-house regular during most of his brief major league career, Wednesday was the first Los Angeles Angel to sign a contract for next season.

The talented but erratic lefty came to terms Wednesday with Gen. Mgr. Fred Haney, after a "long talk" between the two. No terms were announced.

The move was somewhat of a surprise, since there has been open speculation Haney was considering a move to trade Belinsky.

In 1962, a deal to send Belinsky to Kansas City fell through when the American League objected to a "gentleman's agreement" to turn him over to the Athletics at the end of that season.

The Angels' need for left-handed pitching was believed a principal reason Belinsky is being given another opportunity.

Dazzling opponents in the spring this season, and continuing to perplex Angel brass with his taste for after hours activities. Belinsky slipped to a 1-7 record by May 25, when he was assigned to Hawaii.

Belinsky, 26, was a success in Hawaii, both on the mound and as the biggest PCL attraction in the final month of the season.

He won four and lost one, and was reassigned to the parent Angels on Sept. 9. He had a 1-2 record in the last two weeks, finishing 2-9 for the season. But he turned back Baltimore on five hits in his impressive final pitching turn of the year.

Haney has insisted he believes Belinsky has the ability to make the grade in the majors, if he settles down to work and develops the necessary control. Wildness has been Belinsky's biggest problem as a pitcher.

Turley Named Red Sox Coach

Hurler Succeeds Harry Dorish

BOSTON (UPI)—Bob Turley, fireballing right-hander who spent most of his major league career with the New York Yankees, has signed as a pitching coach with the Boston Red Sox, it was announced Wednesday.

Turley, 33, finished his active major league career with the Red Sox this season. He replaces Harry Dorish who served as pitching coach this year.

Turley is best remembered for his years with the Yanks, especially 1958 when he won the Cy Young award as the outstanding pitcher in baseball. He wound up his career with 101 victories against 85 defeats.

In his best year, 1958, he won 21 games while losing 7. His lifetime earned run average was 3.64.

Red Sox Vice President Mike Higgins said Turley has long been regarded as one of the keenest students of baseball and an expert in "reading" opposition pitchers. He will work closely with Manager Johnny Pesky in the dugout during the 1964 season, Higgins said.

His selection completes the Boston coaching staff for next season. Billy Herman will be returning for his fifth year while Harry Malmberg and Al Lakeman are entering their second seasons with the club.

Fracas Involving Maryland Gridders Under Investigation

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The State Law Enforcement Division says it is still investigating a fracas at the South Carolina-Maryland football game Sept. 28 in which one of its agents was injured.

Two Columbia brothers, Ronnie Crolley, 24, a former Clemson College football player, and Ted Crolley, 19, are free under bonds on charges of disorderly conduct and simple assault.

Assistant Chief Dan Beckman said the scuffle started when Ronne threw "some sort of liquid" on two Maryland football players as they were leaving the field. Beckman said one of the Maryland players hit Crolley on the head with his football helmet.

Agents broke up that scuffle and were steering Crolley toward an exit when the brothers began fighting again, Beckman said.

Agent Jim Little received a cut over one eye which required 27 stitches.

Houston Catcher Goes To Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—The Cincinnati Reds have purchased the contract of catcher Jim Campbell from the Houston Colt 45's, Reds President William O. DeWitt announced Wednesday.

Campbell, 26, appeared in 32 games for Oklahoma City of the Pacific Coast League in 1963 with a .265 average and played in 55 games for Houston where he hit .222.

A righthanded hitter, Campbell broke into pro baseball in 1955 with Salinas. He later played with Idaho Falls in the Pioneer League and the Pittsburgh Pirates' Louisville farm club before being purchased by Houston in 1961.

Terps' Top Unit Works Overtime

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—University of Maryland's No. 1 football unit worked overtime Wednesday as the Terrapins went through their last contact drill before Saturday's game with North Carolina here.

For the first part of the two-hour workout, Maryland's regulars ran against a probable Tar Heel defense. Later, the Terps' line went on defense against a simulated Carolina offense.

Maryland know that it must guard against the Junior Edge-to-Bob Lacy passing combination as well as the power running of fullback Ken Willard.

Mike Funk continued to quarterback Maryland's first team as the injured Dick Shiner watched from the sidelines. Bob Sullivan, a sophomore, was the signal caller for Maryland's second unit.

North Carolina is 2-0 for Atlantic Coast Conference play and 2-1 over-all. All three Maryland losses have been to ACC opponents.

World Series Ticket Refunds To Top Million

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees Tuesday asked fans seeking refunds on tickets for the sixth and seventh games of the World Series not to send their tickets to the Yankee offices.

In accordance with refund instructions printed on the tickets, fans are asked to mail the tickets to the Bankers Trust Co., P. O. Box 703, Church Street Station, New York, N.Y.

Money will have to be refunded on approximately 120,000 tickets sold for these games, which were wiped out when the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Yankees in four straight games. The amount refunded to fans here is expected to top $1 million.

Sport Talk with Troxell by Ted

"RUNNING IS THE PERFECT exercise." This hardly disputable opinion comes from Bob Pence, Allegany County's supervisor of physical education who is most happy with the progress made by the varsity cross country since its introduction here four years ago.

Although cross country is one of the oldest and most international of all sports, it didn't become an organized activity in this county until 1959 when three high schools took up hill-and-dale running on a competitive basis.

Fort Hill beat out Beall and Allegany for the championship in the fall of 1959. Four years later, eight area schools are represented by cross country teams.

Three West Virginia schools (Romney, Elk Garden and Paw Paw) are competing against the Allegany Countians, whose ranks have been joined by Valley and Oldtown.

Pence, a fine physical specimen himself and a fervent backer of President Kennedy's fitness program, would like to see an increase in individual cross country participation.

He points out there is scientific evidence of its extreme value to cardio-vascular efficiency and to the respiratory system. In addition, cross country preparation and the actual running builds muscle tone.

THE ENERGETIC SUPERVISOR wants as many boys as possible to engage in at least one varsity sport, and cross country is the answer for many who lack the ability or size required for football, basketball and the like.

Endurance and timing, rather than speed, are the most important factors in cross country. A boy can develop both by devoting time and effort to a good physical conditioning program.

Toward this end, Pence has introduced cross country into the junior high school physical education courses at all county schools.

The average sports fan knows little about cross country because it is not, basically, a spectator sport. However, some of the finishes staged by the distance runners are as thrilling as a run to the wire in the 100-yard dash.

A cross country course can measure anywhere from one and one-half to three miles. Area meets are conducted at the Fort Cumberland Golf Course, where a two-mile run has been laid out, and at Maplehurst Country Club in Frostburg. The latter course measures more than two miles but less than three.

A cross country team in competition ordinarily consists of seven members. Team scoring is a simple matter, with low score winning the meet.

ALL COMPETITORS FINISHING the race are ranked and tallied, and the team score is determined by totaling the points scored by the first five finishers of each team. A minimum of 15 points is possible.

A team can have the first four finishers but still lose. Last week at Maplehurst, a pair of Beall harriers finished in one-two order but the Mountaineers placed far back of Elk Garden in the final tabulation.

While the sixth and seventh finishers of a team do not score points toward their team's total, their places, if better than any of the first five of an opposing team result in an increased score for that team.

Each year has produced several outstanding individual runners in the area. The best has been Allen Hott, now a senior at Romney High who set the Fort Cumberland course record last season and breaks his own mark at just about every opportunity. Last week, Hott covered the distance in one second under 11 minutes.

Incidentally, there is a coach in the local setup who is a cross country man in more respects than one. Victor McKay, who succeeded Harry Lennox at Allegany this fall, is the director of West Coast bus tours for students in the summer.

YOU MIGHT BE WONDERING where cross country team members practice. It is advised that a safe, challenging, scenic two-mile course be selected. It may wind through woods, farms, cemeteries and parks, and over dirt, grass, macadam and other surfaces.

So if you see a youngster in sweat clothes jogging through your back yard, don't yell, shoot or call the police. He's merely engaging in a wholesome sport, to the delight of Bob Pence, JFK and his coach.

Franks Resigns As Bees' GM

Woman Replaces Franchise-Saver

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Herman Franks, active in organized baseball as a player, coach and executive, resigned Wednesday as general manager of the Salt Lake Bees and was replaced by Mrs. Walter E. Cosgriff.

Mrs. Cosgriff, wife of the late Walter Cosgriff, prominent Rocky Mountain area banker, had already been president of the Bees. She will continue in a dual role of general manager and president.

It is believed she is the first woman in the history of Triple-A baseball to hold such a position.

The announcement was made by the board of directors of the Salt Lake City Baseball Corporation. In asking to be released, Franks, a one-time player and coach for the New York and San Francisco Giants, said it was necessary that he devote full time to his other business interests.

Franks joined the Bee organization in 1961 and was credited with saving the Bee franchise in the Pacific Coast League. He will stay on the board of directors and serve Mrs. Cosgriff in an advisory capacity.

Rumors Have Wilkinson Quitting Coaching Job To Run For Senate

Sooner Mentor Refuses To Deny Or Confirm Story

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Charles "Bud" Wilkinson refused to confirm or deny a copyright newspaper story Wednesday that he will resign Jan. 1 as Oklahoma Football Coach and seek the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate.

The 47-year-old silver - haired coach, whose top - rated Sooners meet No. 2 Texas at Dallas Saturday, appeared irritated by the story, which appeared in the Tulsa, Okla., Tribune.

"I think it is foolish to waste time in this manner," he said, "especially when we are getting ready to play Texas. It is unfortunate this keeps coming up."

"If I did reply it would be the same thing I have said all long," he said. "All I can say is no comment. It is ridiculous to reply. I don't know who keeps putting these things out. It's disturbing to the football team."

A newsman asked: "Why don't you just say you will not be a candidate and squelch all these rumors?"

"That," Wilkinson replied, "is like saying, 'are you going to leave Oklahoma, or have you stopped beating your wife?' I've been answering rumors like this for 10 years."

The Tribune stated it had learned from "unimpeachable sources" that Wilkinson, a Democrat, would resign Jan. 1, switch party affiliation and file for U.S. Senate as a Republican in February.

Next year's election is to select a successor to serve the remaining two years of the late Robert S. Kerr's term. J. Howard Edmondson, Democrat, who had himself appointed from governor to the Senate after Kerr died last January, will seek to retain the post.

Bo Belinsky Signs Angels Pact For '64

Playboy Has Long Talk With Haney

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Bo Belinsky, the playboy pitcher exiled to Hawaii in 1963 and a dog-house regular during most of his brief major league career, Wednesday was the first Los Angeles Angel to sign a contract for next season.

The talented but erratic lefty came to terms Wednesday with Gen. Mgr. Fred Haney, after a "long talk" between the two. No terms were announced.

The move was somewhat of a surprise, since there has been open speculation Haney was considering a move to trade Belinsky.

In 1962, a deal to send Belinsky to Kansas City fell through when the American League objected to a "gentleman's agreement" to turn him over to the Athletics at the end of that season.

The Angels' need for left-handed pitching was believed a principal reason Belinsky is being given another opportunity.

Dazzling opponents in the spring this season, and continuing to perplex Angel brass with his taste for after hours activities. Belinsky slipped to a 1-7 record by May 25, when he was assigned to Hawaii.

Belinsky, 26, was a success in Hawaii, both on the mound and as the biggest PCL attraction in the final month of the season.

He won four and lost one, and was reassigned to the parent Angels on Sept. 9. He had a 1-2 record in the last two weeks, finishing 2-9 for the season. But he turned back Baltimore on five hits in his impressive final pitching turn of the year.

Haney has insisted he believes Belinsky has the ability to make the grade in the majors, if he settles down to work and develops the necessary control. Wildness has been Belinsky's biggest problem as a pitcher.

Turley Named Red Sox Coach

Hurler Succeeds Harry Dorish

BOSTON (UPI)—Bob Turley, fireballing right-hander who spent most of his major league career with the New York Yankees, has signed as a pitching coach with the Boston Red Sox, it was announced Wednesday.

Turley, 33, finished his active major league career with the Red Sox this season. He replaces Harry Dorish who served as pitching coach this year.

Turley is best remembered for his years with the Yanks, especially 1958 when he won the Cy Young award as the outstanding pitcher in baseball. He wound up his career with 101 victories against 85 defeats.

In his best year, 1958, he won 21 games while losing 7. His lifetime earned run average was 3.64.

Red Sox Vice President Mike Higgins said Turley has long been regarded as one of the keenest students of baseball and an expert in "reading" opposition pitchers. He will work closely with Manager Johnny Pesky in the dugout during the 1964 season, Higgins said.

His selection completes the Boston coaching staff for next season. Billy Herman will be returning for his fifth year while Harry Malmberg and Al Lakeman are entering their second seasons with the club.

Fracas Involving Maryland Gridders Under Investigation

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The State Law Enforcement Division says it is still investigating a fracas at the South Carolina-Maryland football game Sept. 28 in which one of its agents was injured.

Two Columbia brothers, Ronnie Crolley, 24, a former Clemson College football player, and Ted Crolley, 19, are free under bonds on charges of disorderly conduct and simple assault.

Assistant Chief Dan Beckman said the scuffle started when Ronne threw "some sort of liquid" on two Maryland football players as they were leaving the field. Beckman said one of the Maryland players hit Crolley on the head with his football helmet.

Agents broke up that scuffle and were steering Crolley toward an exit when the brothers began fighting again, Beckman said.

Agent Jim Little received a cut over one eye which required 27 stitches.

Houston Catcher Goes To Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—The Cincinnati Reds have purchased the contract of catcher Jim Campbell from the Houston Colt 45's, Reds President William O. DeWitt announced Wednesday.

Campbell, 26, appeared in 32 games for Oklahoma City of the Pacific Coast League in 1963 with a .265 average and played in 55 games for Houston where he hit .222.

A righthanded hitter, Campbell broke into pro baseball in 1955 with Salinas. He later played with Idaho Falls in the Pioneer League and the Pittsburgh Pirates' Louisville farm club before being purchased by Houston in 1961.

Terps' Top Unit Works Overtime

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—University of Maryland's No. 1 football unit worked overtime Wednesday as the Terrapins went through their last contact drill before Saturday's game with North Carolina here.

For the first part of the two-hour workout, Maryland's regulars ran against a probable Tar Heel defense. Later, the Terps' line went on defense against a simulated Carolina offense.

Maryland know that it must guard against the Junior Edge-to-Bob Lacy passing combination as well as the power running of fullback Ken Willard.

Mike Funk continued to quarterback Maryland's first team as the injured Dick Shiner watched from the sidelines. Bob Sullivan, a sophomore, was the signal caller for Maryland's second unit.

North Carolina is 2-0 for Atlantic Coast Conference play and 2-1 over-all. All three Maryland losses have been to ACC opponents.

World Series Ticket Refunds To Top Million

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees Tuesday asked fans seeking refunds on tickets for the sixth and seventh games of the World Series not to send their tickets to the Yankee offices.

In accordance with refund instructions printed on the tickets, fans are asked to mail the tickets to the Bankers Trust Co., P. O. Box 703, Church Street Station, New York, N.Y.

Money will have to be refunded on approximately 120,000 tickets sold for these games, which were wiped out when the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Yankees in four straight games. The amount refunded to fans here is expected to top $1 million.

Crashing Ends, Humidity In Dallas Worry Hardin

Middies' Coach Hopes Team Can Overcome Factors

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Coach Wayne Hardin of Navy fretted Wednesday about Southern Methodist's crashing ends, its team speed and the humidity in Dallas. But he expressed hope Roger Staubach and the Navy football team would be able to overcome all three factors Friday night.

"They're the same type of team we are," Hardin said. "They have good talent and excellent speed. They have linemen that can run with their backs. It's the type of team that can give us trouble. They're just as fast as we are."

The coach of the nation's fourth-ranked team also furrowed his brow when Coach Hayden Fry of SMU said in a telephone interview with sports writers at Navy that temperatures should be in the 80's with high humidity, which might be to three-deep Navy's advantage.

"The heat in Dallas won't help us," Hardin said. "Air Force just wilted against SMU last week and the same thing could happen to us."

But if the heat, humidity or SMU's crashing ends stop Staubach, it will be the first time the daring Middie quarterback has been stopped. He has rolled up 789 yards passing and running in Navy victories over West Virginia, William and Mary and Michigan.

"Staubach has to prove himself every place he plays," Hardin said. "Nobody can believe he is quite as good as he is. He showed the Big Ten last week that he lives up to his adjectives, and I just hope he can keep up that pace."

In the SMU game Staubach, the Associated Press Back of the Week, will be pitting his skills against the defensive ability of linebacker John Hughes, who was named Lineman of the Week for his play against Air Force.

Golf Goes To Pen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — One day after winning the 1963 World Series of golf, Jack Nicklaus was in Ohio Penitentiary.

The young Columbus golfer entered the century-old prison to dedicate its nine-hole golf course. The course was built by inmates from salvage materials and items furnished by Columbus men who also provided clubs and balls.

Closed Circuit TV Gets 500-Mile Race

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The Indianapolis 500-mile auto race, one of the few major sports events never seen on live television, will be shown on closed circuit television in theaters and sports arenas next Memorial Day, it was announced Tuesday.

The television branch of the Music Corp. of America (MCA-TV) said it has acquired long-term exclusive rights from the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Corp. to produce and distribute live coverage of the 53-year-old classic.

Dave Jones Excels At Blocking Kicks

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Green Bay Packer guard and place-kicker Jerry Kramer said Monday he doesn't care if he never sees Los Angeles Rams' tackle Dave Jones again.

Last year Kramer successfully converted 38 of 39 points after touchdowns. The one he missed was blocked by Jones.

This year Kramer hadn't missed one in three games but had two blocked Sunday. Both were by Jones.

Marichal, Ramos Are Latin-American Game Mound Foes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Juan Marichal, a 25-game winner for the San Francisco Giants, and Pedro Ramos of the Cleveland Indians will be the opposing pitchers in the first Latin-American major league players' game on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 12.

The game, which features 30 major league players, probably will be the last baseball game ever to be contested in the historic Polo Grounds. Part of the proceeds will go to the Hispanic-American Baseball Federation, which provides equipment and baseball facilities for Spanish-American youngsters in the United States.

The starting lineup for the National League, to be managed by Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates, includes Orlando Cepeda, Julian Javier, Chico Cardenas and Tony Taylor in the infield and Clemente, Felipe Alou and Tony Gonzalez in the outfield. Catching will be Cuno Barragan.

Hector Lopez of the New York Yankees, manager of the American League squad, has announced an infield of Vic Power, Zoilo Versalles, Luis Aparacio and Mike De La Hoz. The outfield will consist of Vic Davalillo, Roman Mejias and Lopez or Felix Mantilla and the catcher will be Jose Azcue.

Rookie Makes Packer Fans Forget Trade

Aldridge Fills Quinlan's Shoes

By GENE W. HINTZ

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) —A short announcement from the Green Bay Packers this spring caused quite a stir among fans of the defending National Football League champions.

"How could they do it? Break up one of the best combinations in professional football?" was asked over and over again by persons wondering why defensive end Bill Quinlan, one of the best in the business, was traded away.

Today that trade is forgotten. A giant 6-foot-4 rookie from Utah State University, Lionel Aldridge, has made them forget.

"How does it look? Do you think they'll keep many?" the neatly dressed Aldridge asked a newsman shortly after his arrival in the Packers training camp this summer.

He had come in as a "possible" to take Quinlan's place and when told the spot was open he quickly answered, "Well, I'd rather play inside the line, but if that's the place that's open, that's the place I'll try for."

And try he did. He tried so hard he became the first rookie to crash a starting Green Bay lineup at the beginning of the season since Vince Lombardi took over as coach five years ago.

But it wasn't easy. There were three men ahead of the Packers' No. 4 draft choice. Rookies Dave Robinson of Penn State and Tony Liscio of Tulsa were in the All-Star camp, however, and it looked like a veteran from the Los Angeles Rams, Urban Henry, would take over at defensive end. Tackle Henry Jordan then entered the race, but Aldridge progressed fast.

Soon Jordan was back at tackle and Henry was along with him as a reserve. Liscio was cut and Robinson, the team's No. 1 draft choice, was shifted to linebacker. The job was all Aldridge's.

"It wasn't easy at first

Crashing Ends, Humidity In Dallas Worry Hardin

Middies' Coach Hopes Team Can Overcome Factors

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Coach Wayne Hardin of Navy fretted Wednesday about Southern Methodist's crashing ends, its team speed and the humidity in Dallas. But he expressed hope Roger Staubach and the Navy football team would be able to overcome all three factors Friday night.

"They're the same type of team we are," Hardin said. "They have good talent and excellent speed. They have linemen that can run with their backs. It's the type of team that can give us trouble. They're just as fast as we are."

The coach of the nation's fourth-ranked team also furrowed his brow when Coach Hayden Fry of SMU said in a telephone interview with sports writers at Navy that temperatures should be in the 80's with high humidity, which might be to three-deep Navy's advantage.

"The heat in Dallas won't help us," Hardin said. "Air Force just wilted against SMU last week and the same thing could happen to us."

But if the heat, humidity or SMU's crashing ends stop Staubach, it will be the first time the daring Middie quarterback has been stopped. He has rolled up 789 yards passing and running in Navy victories over West Virginia, William and Mary and Michigan.

"Staubach has to prove himself every place he plays," Hardin said. "Nobody can believe he is quite as good as he is. He showed the Big Ten last week that he lives up to his adjectives, and I just hope he can keep up that pace."

In the SMU game Staubach, the Associated Press Back of the Week, will be pitting his skills against the defensive ability of linebacker John Hughes, who was named Lineman of the Week for his play against Air Force.

Golf Goes To Pen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — One day after winning the 1963 World Series of golf, Jack Nicklaus was in Ohio Penitentiary.

The young Columbus golfer entered the century-old prison to dedicate its nine-hole golf course. The course was built by inmates from salvage materials and items furnished by Columbus men who also provided clubs and balls.

Closed Circuit TV Gets 500-Mile Race

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The Indianapolis 500-mile auto race, one of the few major sports events never seen on live television, will be shown on closed circuit television in theaters and sports arenas next Memorial Day, it was announced Tuesday.

The television branch of the Music Corp. of America (MCA-TV) said it has acquired long-term exclusive rights from the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Corp. to produce and distribute live coverage of the 53-year-old classic.

Dave Jones Excels At Blocking Kicks

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Green Bay Packer guard and place-kicker Jerry Kramer said Monday he doesn't care if he never sees Los Angeles Rams' tackle Dave Jones again.

Last year Kramer successfully converted 38 of 39 points after touchdowns. The one he missed was blocked by Jones.

This year Kramer hadn't missed one in three games but had two blocked Sunday. Both were by Jones.

Marichal, Ramos Are Latin-American Game Mound Foes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Juan Marichal, a 25-game winner for the San Francisco Giants, and Pedro Ramos of the Cleveland Indians will be the opposing pitchers in the first Latin-American major league players' game on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 12.

The game, which features 30 major league players, probably will be the last baseball game ever to be contested in the historic Polo Grounds. Part of the proceeds will go to the Hispanic-American Baseball Federation, which provides equipment and baseball facilities for Spanish-American youngsters in the United States.

The starting lineup for the National League, to be managed by Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates, includes Orlando Cepeda, Julian Javier, Chico Cardenas and Tony Taylor in the infield and Clemente, Felipe Alou and Tony Gonzalez in the outfield. Catching will be Cuno Barragan.

Hector Lopez of the New York Yankees, manager of the American League squad, has announced an infield of Vic Power, Zoilo Versalles, Luis Aparacio and Mike De La Hoz. The outfield will consist of Vic Davalillo, Roman Mejias and Lopez or Felix Mantilla and the catcher will be Jose Azcue.

Rookie Makes Packer Fans Forget Trade

Aldridge Fills Quinlan's Shoes

By GENE W. HINTZ

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) —A short announcement from the Green Bay Packers this spring caused quite a stir among fans of the defending National Football League champions.

"How could they do it? Break up one of the best combinations in professional football?" was asked over and over again by persons wondering why defensive end Bill Quinlan, one of the best in the business, was traded away.

Today that trade is forgotten. A giant 6-foot-4 rookie from Utah State University, Lionel Aldridge, has made them forget.

"How does it look? Do you think they'll keep many?" the neatly dressed Aldridge asked a newsman shortly after his arrival in the Packers training camp this summer.

He had come in as a "possible" to take Quinlan's place and when told the spot was open he quickly answered, "Well, I'd rather play inside the line, but if that's the place that's open, that's the place I'll try for."

And try he did. He tried so hard he became the first rookie to crash a starting Green Bay lineup at the beginning of the season since Vince Lombardi took over as coach five years ago.

But it wasn't easy. There were three men ahead of the Packers' No. 4 draft choice. Rookies Dave Robinson of Penn State and Tony Liscio of Tulsa were in the All-Star camp, however, and it looked like a veteran from the Los Angeles Rams, Urban Henry, would take over at defensive end. Tackle Henry Jordan then entered the race, but Aldridge progressed fast.

Soon Jordan was back at tackle and Henry was along with him as a reserve. Liscio was cut and Robinson, the team's No. 1 draft choice, was shifted to linebacker. The job was all Aldridge's.

"It wasn't easy at first, for either him or us," Jordan said. "But he learned really fast. We tried to talk him through the games at first, but I think it was just to give us confidence in him, rather than the other way around. He knew what he was doing."

"He's big, man he's big," said another defensive teammate, Dave Hanner. "And he's quick and strong. He's going to be a good one."

The statistics show Aldridge hasn't hurt the team's defense against rushing. The Packers share the league lead in that department with Cleveland, giving up just 3.1 yards a play to opponents.

Probably the biggest praise comes from Lombardi. When asked about his latest find, the Packers coach just smiles and says:

"He could be a great one. He's improving every game. The opponents have been aiming every play at him. They think he's our weakness. That feeling won't last long."

Palmer's Earnings Soar To $127,555

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer, who already has broken all records for earnings in golf this year, is making a runaway for the PGA money championship.

Palmer enjoyed his biggest pay day of the year when he collected $26,000 for winning the Whitemarsh Open in Philadelphia last weekend and he now has official 1963 earnings of $127,555.

The power-hitting veteran, who will captain the United States Ryder Cup team against Britain later this week, is the only golfer ever to exceed $100,000 in official earnings in one year.

Jack Nicklaus earned only $1,600 in the Whitemarsh but retained his No. 2 position with a total of $85,990, and Julius Boros is third with $77,356.67 following his seventh-place finish.

Card Of Thanks

We take this means to thank our friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness extended to us during our recent bereavement at the death of William P. Sperry. We also wish to thank Rev. Regis F. Larkin, those who sent flowers, loaned cars for the funeral, the pallbearers, those who donated food and all those who aided us in any way.

Fire Sweeps Theater, Lodge Hall In Oakland

3-Story Building Is Destroyed

Fire threatened a part of Oakland's business district last night as flames destroyed the Maryland Theatre building on Third Street and endangered other properties.

The theatre building, a three-story structure, housed a movie house operated by Harvey Spiker, who also operates a local drive-in theatre. The second floor had been used as offices and was being remodeled. The third floor was the home of the Oakland Knights of Pythias lodge and the Pythian Sisters lodge. The structure, valued at more than $75,000, has been owned for years by the Knights of Pythias.

Firemen were called to the scene about dusk. There were no patrons in the building as it had not opened for the evening show.

Was Being Remodeled

Workmen had been repainting the interior of the theatre and remodeling the second floor for occupancy of Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney who planned to move his Court there next week.

The building, originally a three-story frame structure, had been faced and covered with brick and had a built-up tar and composition roof. It was owned and operated as a movie house for many wears by B. I. Gonder.

One report said the fire seemed to start in the lobby. The cause was undetermined.

Firemen from Oakland and Deer Park volunteer fire companies poured water on the flames for several hours. Because of the type of construction, firemen said it was difficult to combat the blaze, but the fact that there was no wind was in their favor.

Brought Under Control

As the flames broke through the roof and shot skyward, reports went about the area that the business section was threatened and that Roylan's Furniture Store was afire. It was later reported, however that fire did not break through into the Roylan building, a two-story brick structure. Some damage from smoke and water was indicated.

On the opposite side of the theatre building, a dwelling house and the A&P market were also protected by the work of the firemen, and at a late hour all surrounding structures were still intact. Firemen said the theatre building was a total loss, but they believed they had the situation under control.

The Roylan building is owned by the A. D. Naylor family who operate the furniture business it houses.

Judge Hamill Files Opinion In Store Dispute

Decree Requires Contract Fulfillment

Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill has filed an opinion and decree in Allegany County Circuit Court requiring specific performance of a 1956 contract whereby LaVale Drug Store Inc. must purchase the 52 shares of stock belonging to the estate of Lester R. Martin, who died January 2.

Judge Hamill indicated from the bench at the close of the hearing September 30 that he would file such an order.

Testimony disclosed that in March 1953 Robert P. Stotler, Robert J. Martin and Lester R. Martin formed a corporation for the operation of the drug store in LaVale. Mr. Stotler managed the business until he was discharged in April 1962.

Contract Cited

The pleadings in this case include a contract which was entered into between the corporation and its three stockholders on July 25, 1956. Under this contract it was agreed that upon the death of any of the parties to the contract, the corporation would purchase from the estate of the deceased all of his stock at book value as determined by the auditors of the corporation at the end of the month following the stockholder's death.

Lester R. Martin died January 2 and subsequently Mr. Stotler requested that an audit be made and that the provisions of the contract be fulfilled. There has been no effort by the corporation to fulfill terms of the contract by purchasing the 52 shares of stock belonging to Mr. Martin's estate, the opinion said.

Judge Hamill wrote in his opinion that the corporation is a highly solvent and well-managed organization. He said it was "very competently" managed by Mr. Stotler up to the time of his dismissal and has been competently managed by Robert J. Martin since then.

The judge from Oakland writes that he concurs with the argument of the respondents that the corporation is solvent and properly managed and should not have a receiver appointed.

Receiver Not Needed

"They (the respondents) further argue that by specific enforcement of the aforementioned contract, a deadlock will be created by the court; however, I cannot see my way clear to ignore the contract for the benefit or detriment of one or the other parties, and I feel that in equity and good conscience, this contract must be specifically enforced. If this is done, and the parties are unable to reconcile their differences and the corporation becomes deadlocked, then they can proceed under the provisions of Article 23, Section 52e, Annotated Code of Maryland, pertaining to deadlocked corporations," he concluded.

Judge Hamill adds that unless the provisions of this decree are complied with forthwith, a receiver will be appointed, with the power and authority to execute the provisions of the decree.

Since his discharge, Mr. Stotler has opened a competitive drug store bearing his name in LaVale.

Attorneys for Mr. Stotler were John M. Robb, this city; Claire O. Ducker, Washington, and Franklin L. Carroll, Falls Church, Va. Attorneys for the respondents were C. William Gilchrist and Gorman E. Getty, both of this city.

Lawrence J. Sines of Swallow Falls, who has been driving a school bus at Southern High School, was accused of beating his two sons, Joseph, 13, and Cecil, 15, with the handle of a pitchfork and puncturing them in the thighs with the tines last Monday.

Magistrate Maroney had earlier fixed bond for Sines at $5,000 after he was arrested at the high school by Sheriff James E. Frantz and he was held under bond until the trial.

County Taxes Yield $66,238 In September

Four-Month Total Hits $3,641,289

Another $66,238.78 in 1963 Allegany County real estate, personal property and corporation taxes was collected during September at the office of County Tax Collector Francis G. Philpot, bringing the four-month yield since June 1 to $3,641,289.60.

September was the month for payment of the gross amount due as there was neither a discount as prevailed in the summer months of June, July and August or interest as will be charged at the rate of one-half per cent per month from now on. October is the first month when interest is charged on county and state real estate, personal property and corporation taxes.

Last month's total in 1963 county taxes was $3,422.03 less than the $69,660.81 collected in September 1962.

$525,475 Ahead

However, the four-month total since June 1, when the bills were received by county taxpayers, is $3,641,289.60, a healthy $525,475.95 more than the $3,115,813.65 received in the same four months of 1962.

It was the second successive month that the yield was lower than last year despite the fact that the tax rate this year is $2.05 on each $100 of assessed valuation compared with $1.85 a year ago. Presumably the vast majority of county taxpayers hurried to make their payments this year in June and July when the discounts were five and four per cent, respectively.

The breakdown on September collections shows $64,830.48 from real estate and personal property and $1,408.30 from corporations. State real estate, personal property and corporation taxes collected last month in Mr. Philpot's office added up to $30,751.75.

The $3,641,289.60 collected at the Court House in four months amounts to 94.05 per cent of the $3,873,500 the county commissioners anticipated in the entire fiscal year when they set the tax rate at $2.05 early in April.

LaVale Over Need

Taxes also were received at Mr. Philpot's office last month for the four special taxing areas of the county. Some $431.84 was received for LaVale, bringing its four-month total since June 1 to $15,333.59 or $1,333.59 more than the $14,000 that was anticipated in the entire fiscal year to pay interest and principal on bonds for that community's water needs.

Cresaptown's collections in September were $120.16 bringing the four-month total to $3,860.69 or $399.31 less than the $4,260 anticipated in the entire fiscal year for water maintenance. Potomac Park received $33.67, leaving it at $989.12 or $10.88 less than the $1,000 needed in the entire fiscal year for street lights and fire protection.

Collections for Mt. Savage were $32.80, bringing the four-month total to $1,113.90 or $446.10 less than the $1,560 anticipated in the entire fiscal year for street lights.

A sizeable amount of 1962 county and state tax collections was received last month at the Court House. County taxes for 1962 added up to $6,169.22 including $5,974.90 from real estate and personal property and $194.32 from corporations. State taxes for 1962 collected by Mr. Philpot's staff added up to $550.95, $535.19 from real estate and personal property and $15.76 from corporations.

Monthly totals since June when the tax bills were received, with the 1962 total listed first in each case:

June—$2,803,842.42 and $3,322,755.22; July—$118,915.56 and $137,057.84; August — $123,394.86 and $115,237.76, and September—$69,660.81 and $66,238.78.

Judge Hamill Files Opinion In Store Dispute

Decree Requires Contract Fulfillment

Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill has filed an opinion and decree in Allegany County Circuit Court requiring specific performance of a 1956 contract whereby LaVale Drug Store Inc. must purchase the 52 shares of stock belonging to the estate of Lester R. Martin, who died January 2.

Judge Hamill indicated from the bench at the close of the hearing September 30 that he would file such an order.

Testimony disclosed that in March 1953 Robert P. Stotler, Robert J. Martin and Lester R. Martin formed a corporation for the operation of the drug store in LaVale. Mr. Stotler managed the business until he was discharged in April 1962.

Contract Cited

The pleadings in this case include a contract which was entered into between the corporation and its three stockholders on July 25, 1956. Under this contract it was agreed that upon the death of any of the parties to the contract, the corporation would purchase from the estate of the deceased all of his stock at book value as determined by the auditors of the corporation at the end of the month following the stockholder's death.

Lester R. Martin died January 2 and subsequently Mr. Stotler requested that an audit be made and that the provisions of the contract be fulfilled. There has been no effort by the corporation to fulfill terms of the contract by purchasing the 52 shares of stock belonging to Mr. Martin's estate, the opinion said.

Judge Hamill wrote in his opinion that the corporation is a highly solvent and well-managed organization. He said it was "very competently" managed by Mr. Stotler up to the time of his dismissal and has been competently managed by Robert J. Martin since then.

The judge from Oakland writes that he concurs with the argument of the respondents that the corporation is solvent and properly managed and should not have a receiver appointed.

Receiver Not Needed

"They (the respondents) further argue that by specific enforcement of the aforementioned contract, a deadlock will be created by the court; however, I cannot see my way clear to ignore the contract for the benefit or detriment of one or the other parties, and I feel that in equity and good conscience, this contract must be specifically enforced. If this is done, and the parties are unable to reconcile their differences and the corporation becomes deadlocked, then they can proceed under the provisions of Article 23, Section 52e, Annotated Code of Maryland, pertaining to deadlocked corporations," he concluded.

Judge Hamill adds that unless the provisions of this decree are complied with forthwith, a receiver will be appointed, with the power and authority to execute the provisions of the decree.

Since his discharge, Mr. Stotler has opened a competitive drug store bearing his name in LaVale.

Attorneys for Mr. Stotler were John M. Robb, this city; Claire O. Ducker, Washington, and Franklin L. Carroll, Falls Church, Va. Attorneys for the respondents were C. William Gilchrist and Gorman E. Getty, both of this city.

School Bus Driver Fined For Assault

A school bus driver and dairy farmer in Garrett County was arraigned before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney in Oakland, fined a total of $300 and given suspended jail sentences, on charges of assaulting his three children.

Lawrence J. Sines of Swallow Falls, who has been driving a school bus at Southern High School, was accused of beating his two sons, Joseph, 13, and Cecil, 15, with the handle of a pitchfork and puncturing them in the thighs with the tines last Monday.

On the following day, it was testified, he beat his daughter, Barbara Sines, 17, because she informed officials of the condition of the two boys. Barbara suffered a glancing blow on the head from a chair and was kicked on the ankle.

State's Attorney Fred A. Thayer prosecuted the case before Magistrate Maroney on Friday.

Magistrate Maroney had earlier fixed bond for Sines at $5,000 after he was arrested at the high school by Sheriff James E. Frantz and he was held under bond until the trial.

The magistrate said the assault was a vicious one, but the children asked the magistrate not to send their father away and break up the family. The magistrate agreed.

County Taxes Yield $66,238 In September

Four-Month Total Hits $3,641,289

Another $66,238.78 in 1963 Allegany County real estate, personal property and corporation taxes was collected during September at the office of County Tax Collector Francis G. Philpot, bringing the four-month yield since June 1 to $3,641,289.60.

September was the month for payment of the gross amount due as there was neither a discount as prevailed in the summer months of June, July and August or interest as will be charged at the rate of one-half per cent per month from now on. October is the first month when interest is charged on county and state real estate, personal property and corporation taxes.

Last month's total in 1963 county taxes was $3,422.03 less than the $69,660.81 collected in September 1962.

However, the four-month total since June 1, when the bills were received by county taxpayers, is $3,641,289.60, a healthy $525,475.95 more than the $3,115,813.65 received in the same four months of 1962.

It was the second successive month that the yield was lower than last year despite the fact that the tax rate this year is $2.05 on each $100 of assessed valuation compared with $1.85 a year ago. Presumably the vast majority of county taxpayers hurried to make their payments this year in June and July when the discounts were five and four per cent, respectively.

The breakdown on September collections shows $64,830.48 from real estate and personal property and $1,408.30 from corporations. State real estate, personal property and corporation taxes collected last month in Mr. Philpot's office added up to $30,751.75.

The $3,641,289.60 collected at the Court House in four months amounts to 94.05 per cent of the $3,873,500 the county commissioners anticipated in the entire fiscal year when they set the tax rate at $2.05 early in April.

LaVale Over Need

Taxes also were received at Mr. Philpot's office last month for the four special taxing areas of the county. Some $431.84 was received for LaVale, bringing its four-month total since June 1 to $15,333.59 or $1,333.59 more than the $14,000 that was anticipated in the entire fiscal year to pay interest and principal on bonds for that community's water needs.

Cresaptown's collections in September were $120.16 bringing the four-month total to $3,860.69 or $399.31 less than the $4,260 anticipated in the entire fiscal year for water maintenance. Potomac Park received $33.67, leaving it at $989.12 or $10.88 less than the $1,000 needed in the entire fiscal year for street lights and fire protection.

Collections for Mt. Savage were $32.80, bringing the four-month total to $1,113.90 or $446.10 less than the $1,560 anticipated in the entire fiscal year for street lights.

A sizeable amount of 1962 county and state tax collections was received last month at the Court House. County taxes for 1962 added up to $6,169.22 including $5,974.90 from real estate and personal property and $194.32 from corporations. State taxes for 1962 collected by Mr. Philpot's staff added up to $550.95, $535.19 from real estate and personal property and $15.76 from corporations.

Monthly totals since June when the tax bills were received, with the 1962 total listed first in each case:

June—$2,803,842.42 and $3,322,755.22; July—$118,915.56 and $137,057.84; August — $123,394.86 and $115,237.76, and September—$69,660.81 and $66,238.78.
